GOLCONDA MINE

J. H. ROBBINS BACKED BY GROUP PENDELTONIANS.

About to Buy One of the Great Producing Mines in the Sumpter District, in Which $300,000 to $400,000 is Involved.

Once again is the Golconda mine the star of attraction, with all possibilities that within a day or two the rich mine will have passed into the control of J. H. Robbins, treasurer of the Red Boy Consolidated Mines Company, and president of the Oregon Monarch Gold Mining Company, says the Sumpter American.

From authoritative sources the American can state that on behalf of himself and associates in Pendleton and La Grande, Oregon, who comprised the syndicate, that was so well rewarded through their investment in the Concord group, recently consolidated with the famous Red Boy mine, Mr. Robbins is negotiating the transfer of the Golconda mines for himself and friends.

While the papers have not yet been filed, it is understood that the deal has progressed far enough to consider it an absolute certainty.

It is understood that the transfer is based on a valuation of $400,000, of which amount $50,000 is to be expended in the development of the property and the balance to be paid to the Messrs. English.

In view of the fact that the Messrs. English intend to install a modern deep sinking plant and begin extensive development work very shortly, the securing of this valuable property by Mr. Robbins will, to use an every day expression, "put a feather in his cap" and add another successful consummation of large mining enterprises to his record.

The Golconda group and all appurtenances are incorporated in the Golconda Gold Mining Company, with an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000, par value shares $1, and though the property made a fine record when steadily operated, it has been worked only at intervals during the past year and a half.

Owing to his advanced age, Mr. English, Sr., is willing to sell the mine, and a short time since it was bonded to a Pittsburg syndicate who operated it with fair success, but failed to make the second payment, when it became due, and it reverted to the Messrs. English again.

When the syndicate relinquished possession of the property, it is rumored that they had literally gutted the mine and left it in bad condition. While it is true they milled considerable rich ore during their operations, a recent examination of the mine is said to have disclosed two rich pay shoots on the fourth and fifth levels, and that the mine is in very good condition.

The following brief history shows how it advanced from a prospect to its present prominence, also proving that in the Sumpter district, meritorious prospects with true ledges, will, with depth and systematic development, undoubtedly make dividend paying mines.

The Golconda mine was located in the fall of 1887 by Messrs. Beckwith and Taft, two pioneer prospectors. They performed the usual assessment work for 10 years and in 1897 sold it to the Messrs. English for a reported consideration of $24,000. The latter immediately began a most thorough course of development work, driving a tunnel in on the ledge. As the depth was gained a good body of ore was opened up, the values continually increasing. In the spring of 1898 a bromine chlorine plant, with a daily capacity of 100 tons, was erected and after 60 days' use it was found not to be adapted to the character of ore then blocked out.

The building was remodeled and a 20-stamp mill and vanners was installed. The result was highly satisfactory and the capacity of the plant was increased a short time afterwards by the adoption of a four-foot Bryan mill. In the fall of 1900 the capacity of the mill was again increased by installing an additional 10-stamp. The plant today has a capacity of 40 stamps and is capable of treating about 120 tons of ore per day and is also equipped with 16-foot vanners.

The property has a hoist capable of sinking to a depth of 600 feet and last year a monster station pump was installed at the 400-foot level.

A sensational treasure connected with the Golconda was the uncovering in May, 1899, of a body of ore which ran from $20,000 to $211,000 per ton. A shipment of this ore to the Shelby smelter, San Francisco, netted over $100,000, and it has always been said that the shipment did not exceed four tons.

In addition to the Golconda the group comprises the Wide West, Telephone, Century, Olympia, Oregon and Baltimore quartz claims, two mill sites, water right and about 500 acres of valuable timber lands. All these properties have been acquired by purchase or right of location. The mill site is improved with a water plant, developed to 150-horse power, electrical transmission.

All of the properties of the estate have been but slightly developed with the exception of the Golconda, on which about 3000 feet of work have been done. A tunnel 650 feet in length has been driven in on the vein and a shaft sunk to a depth of between 500 and 600 feet. Levels have been established at each 100 feet and drifts run on the ledge both ways. The Golconda and the Wide West are located on the mother lode, the other properties covering two parallel veins.

A very important feature connected with this property is that surface assays from open cuts across the ledge only averaged $1.60 per ton; at 50 feet depth the value had increased to $8 per ton and after real mining was instituted and depth gained the values became greater, the ledge wider and the uniformity of the ore bodies established. This vein is four to 18 feet wide, with an average value of $15 per ton. In the tunnel driven on the ledge one pay shoot 300 feet in length, varying from six to 10 feet in width, was uncovered. The richest ore extracted from the mine, with the exception of the fabulously rich ore, was in the second level, where a pay shoot 65 feet in length, from 12 to 20 feet wide, returned values of $20 to $50 per ton.

WESTON TO BE TERMINUS.

Washington & Columbia Road to Be Extended to That Place.

Weston is to be made the terminus of the "high line" of the Washington & Columbia River Railway, says the Walla Walla Union. At least that is the rumor current among the business men of that place. At the present time Athena is the end of the extension of the "high line" from Helix, and Athena is three miles from Weston.

For years has Athena supported two roads, and has had an outlet for her products to the Sound and to Portland. Weston had to content herself with the Oregon Railroad & Navigation line to Portland. Now her citizens say there is to be a change.

In case the new line is built, which is looked for within a few months, the proposed route is east from Athena parallel with the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company's track to Weston. The yards and terminus will be situated on the hill at the west end of Main street near the site of All Saint's Episcopal church.

At the present time the town has very poor railway accommodations. The depot of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company is situated in the north part of the little city a mile from the business center. The extension of the "high line" would mean a great deal to the farmers, as practically all the wheat which leaves the Weston country at the present time is shipped over the Harriman line. To reach the Sound as conditions now exist one has to either go to Walla Walla or Pendleton and then transfer. The new road would mean direct communication with Hunt's Junction and all points on the Northern Pacific.

Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses and heals the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and cures Catarrh easily and pleasantly. Cold in the head vanishes quickly. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail.

Catarrh caused difficulty in speaking and to a great extent loss of hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, attorney at law, Monmouth, Ill.

Spokane Families.

A study of the new Spokane city directory shows that the families of Smith, Johnson, Brown and Jones comprise about two per cent of the city's population. The Smiths, of course, lead. There was never a city directory issued in a country where the English language is spoken, that such was not the case. There are 262 Smiths in Spokane. The Johnsons come next. There are 216 of them. Then come the Browns with 125, and the Jones are a close fourth with 109. These four families together number 713.

High Bred Herefords.

R. C. Judson, industrial agent for the Harriman lines in Oregon, is informed by R. C. Thomas, secretary of the National Hereford Breeders' association of America, with headquarters at Kansas City for the present, that arrangements have been made for the shipment of 10 carloads of high-bred Hereford bulls to Oregon, to be sold at public auction at points along the O. R. & N. as the company may designate.

A WORLD'S CONGRESS.

The Cosmopolitan Magazine Behind the Movement.

No attempt has ever been made to get together any congress representing the highest intelligence of the various nations of the world. The nearest approach to this was the peace conference at The Hague. The failure of that body was caused by the fact that it was selected to represent political and personal interests. It will be interesting to note the result which must come from the first world's congress in which all nations shall be represented by men of the highest integrity and intellectual caliber. The difficulties in effecting such a gathering are almost insurmountable, but the Cosmopolitan Magazine is making the effort with a full recognition.

tion of the endless obstacles to be overcome. In the March number the Cosmopolitan plan is briefly outlined. Its agents in Europe and elsewhere are carefully maturing lists of the ablest men of each country considered with reference—First. To their sincerity. Second. Their earnestness. Third. Clear thinking. That is, ability to see the truth. Fourth. Broad experience in affairs.

These names are five times as great in number as the candidates to be eventually selected. Upon these the opinions of leading men of other countries will be secured, so that the final selection will represent a consensus of opinion by the leading men of the world of thought. The Cosmopolitan is also endeavoring to secure by contribution a fund of a quarter of a million dollars to provide for the expense of the first world's congress.

CONSTIPATION

"I have gone 14 days at a time without a movement of the bowels, not being able to move them except by using hot water injections. Chronic constipation for seven years placed me in this terrible condition, during that time I did everything I heard of but never found any relief; such was my case until I began using CASCARETS. I now have from one to three passages a day, and if I was rich I would give $1000 for each movement; it is such a relief."
