The funeral of Ben Hagen occurred this afternoon at the Presbyterian church and the remains were followed to the Olney cemetery by a large concourse of friends. The funeral and burial was under the auspices of the Independent Order of Red Men.

Sumpter Miner: At the election in La Grande the other day, J. W. Scriber was chosen mayor. A few weeks since Tom Halley was elected to the same position in Pendleton. Both of these gentlemen are business associates of our own Mayor Robbins. What sort of a municipal merger are they contemplating?

Judge W. R. Ellis has granted the decree annulling the marriage formerly existing between Dora W. Waters and F. A. Waters. The custody of their two minor children was given the plaintiff, Mrs. Waters. The suit was brought on the ground of abandonment and failure to provide for the maintenance of plaintiff and children.

In the circuit court Thursday, Eliza Jane Baldwin was granted a divorce by Judge Ellis, from James Baldwin, and $350 as her share of the property owned by the husband and wife. This suit was commenced in 1898, and has been continued from term to term on account of property rights. Peter West was the attorney for the plaintiff, and J. A. Raley, Esq., for the defendant.

J. E. Platter has sold his billiard and pool tables and business on Court street, to J. M. and C. A. Williams, who will continue the business. J. M. Williams has been running a blacksmith shop in Pendleton for the past two years and his brother is a recent arrival from the east. Mr. Platter expects to remain in Pendleton and will probably enter some other line of business.

Judgments were granted Thursday by Judge W. R. Ellis against the Athena Flouring Mill Company, a corporation, in the sum of $2856.68, $2,635.88 of this amount being in favor of the First National Bank of Athena and $220.80 in favor of W. C. Minnis, of this city. The first claim was for an over drawn bank account and the latter for wood sold defendant by plaintiff.

The team hitched to Hobbach's bakery wagon ran away this morning, tipped the wagon over, breaking the double-trees and some of the glass out of the windows. Ned Howland was driving, and when on the hill west of Main street, in the south part of town, he got out of the wagon to deliver some bread, and when he came out of the house the team was running. When the wagon tipped over the horses were freed from the vehicle by the breaking of the double-trees, and they stopped without any other damage.

Rose Coghlan Coming.
Rose Coghlan appears here Thursday, March 20 as Stephanie Marquise De Mohriart in "Forget Me Not" by Herman Merivale. In her impersonation of this woman whose past is a hideous nightmare and whose future is a baseless wavering dream of reformation, Miss Coghlan is at her best. Her superb costumes, regal stage presence and great vocal power make this impersonation fit to rank with the work of Fanny Davenport, Clara Morris and Modjeska. Prices $1.00 and 50c.

Mrs. Ross, wife of Hon. G. W. Ross, the Canadian premier, died very suddenly Thursday. She had been in good health and only recently returned from Ottawa.

Rooms in the East Oregonian building for rent. Steam heated, hot and cold water and bath room in connection.

MAGNIFICENT REVENGE.

He "Turned the Left Cheek" With Great Effect.

While Robert Stewart was governor of Missouri a steamboat man was brought in from the penitentiary as an applicant for a pardon. He was a large, powerful fellow, and when the governor looked at him he seemed strangely affected. He scrutinized him long and closely. Finally he signed the document that restored the prisoner to liberty. Before he handed it to him he said: "You will commit some other crime and be in the penitentiary again I fear."

The man solemnly promised that he would not. The governor looked doubtful, mused a few minutes and said:

"You will go back on the river and be a mate again, I suppose?"

The man replied that he would.

"Well, I want you to promise me one thing," resumed the governor. "I want you to pledge your word that when you are mate again you will never take a billet of wood in your hand and drive a sick boy out of a bunk to help you load your boat on a stormy night."

The steamboat man said he would not, and inquired what the governor meant by asking him such a question.

The governor replied: "Because some day that boy may become a governor, and you may want him to pardon you for a crime. One dark, stormy night, many years ago, you stopped your boat on the Mississippi river to take on a load of wood. There was a boy on board who was working his passage from New Orleans to St. Louis, but he was very sick with fever and was lying in a bunk. You had plenty of men to do the work, but you went to that boy with a stick of wood in your hand and drove him with blows and curses out into the wretched night and kept him toiling like a slave until the load was completed. I was that boy. Here is your pardon. Never again be guilty of such a brutality."

The man cowering and hiding his face, went out without a word.

What a noble revenge that was and what a lesson to a bully.—Success.
