HAD SMALLPOX.

Walla Walla Sends a Case Away to Prescott.

Walla Walla, March 21.—Last night a man was placed in the pest house here, having been driven from Walla Walla by team to this city, broken out with smallpox. The man applied at a local drug store Wednesday for a bottle of medicine, when it was discovered that he was suffering from smallpox, and the health officer was notified. The fellow begged to be allowed to go to his home, which he said was near Prescott, and he was allowed to go. Yesterday he was at Prescott and the people sent him to Walla Walla. There he was taken charge of by an officer at the instigation of a conductor on the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company's train, who prevented the sick man

Central Illinois Teachers Meet.

Peoria, Ill., March 21.—Peoria is entertaining the largest convention in the history of the Central Illinois Teachers' Association. Nearly two thousand delegates and visitors, including representatives from every city, town and village in the territory embraced by the association, filled the coliseum when the gathering was called to order at 9:30 this morning. The address of welcome was by Dr. N. C. Dougherty, superintendent of the Peoria schools and former president of the association. Papers on educational topics were presented by Livingston C. Lord, president of the eastern Illinois State Normal School, and Alfred Bayliss, state superintendent of public instruction. The appointment of committees occupied the remainder of the morning session. After luncheon the convention divided into separate conferences for the discussion of matters of particular interest to the county superintendents, city superintendents and principals, high school teachers, primary school teachers and teachers of music. This evening the association will listen to an address on "Co-Operation of the Home and the School" by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, the new president of Columbia university.

Heavyweights to Meet.

Philadelphia, March 21.—Those old-time heavyweight rivals, Peter Maher and Gus Ruhlin, are down for a six-round go at Industrial Hall tonight, and notwithstanding the fact that the recent Sharkey-Maher fiasco put a damper on the sport in the Quaker city, there promises to be a good crowd on hand to see the "Irish Champion" and the "Akron Giant" meet. This will be their third meeting, their two previous contests resulting in draws. Their last meeting took place in this city a little over a year ago, and although they fought six rounds, the general opinion was that Ruhlin had outpointed his rival and would have won had the contest continued. Both men have been training hard for tonight's meeting. Ruhlin has trained at Bath Beach with Robert Fitzsimmons, while Maher did his work of preparation at the local gymnasium. Both appear to be in the pink of condition and fit to put up a splendid fight. Billy Rocap, of this city, will referee the contest.

True.

The occasional ad is one of the very best methods by which to squander money. Continuous advertising, on the other hand, will bring ample returns for the money invested.—Suggestions.

Several artesian wells are being drilled in the Horse Heaven country this spring. S. H. Patterson has the contracts. There is at present but one well on the great table-land. It was put down several years ago by the state and county.

THE MEXICAN PECCARY.

It Never Turns Out for Anything, Man or Beast.

"The most vicious and fearless of the brute creation is the peccary, or wild hog of Mexico," said C. W. Bartlett, of Laredo, Tex. "This animal seems utterly devoid of the emotion of fear. I have never seen it turn a hair's breadth out of its path for any living thing. Man is its special bete noire. It displays an intelligence in fighting the human strangerly at variance with its apparently complete lack of any mental attributes, save the very lowest order of instinct. They are rarely found singly, but go in droves of from a hundred to thousands. Their ability to scent men is particularly marked. I have known a drove of them to scent a man a mile off and strike as straight for him as the arrow flies. There is no use to try to frighten them with guns. The cannonading of a full battery would have no more effect on them than the popping of a firecracker. The only thing to do when they get after you is to run away from them as fast as a horse can carry you. And then there is no certainty that they won't catch you. They are nearly as swift as a horse, and their endurance is as great as their viciousness.

"A friend of mine encountered a drove of them in a wild part of Mexico a few years ago, and his escape was miraculous. He very foolishly shot and wounded a number of them. Then he took refuge in a tree. The peccaries kept him in the tree all that day and through the night. They circled around the tree, grunting and squealing their delight at the prospect of a feast. He soon exhausted his ammunition, and brought down a peccary at each fire. But this had no terror for the beasts. Along toward morning the brutes began to eat the ones he had killed, and when they thus satisfied the cravings of their stomachs they formed in line and trotted off. If they had not had some of their own number to devour they would have guarded that tree until my friend, through sheer exhaustion, dropped from his perch and allowed them to make a meal of him. The wildcats and tigers that infest the Mexican wilds flee from the peccaries with instinctive fear, and even rattlesnakes keep out of their path."—St. Louis Republic.
