changed hands in San Francisco August 30" 1901. The transfer involved in coin and stock $112,500 and was paid by a party of business men for a specific for Bright's Disease and Disbetes, hitherto incurable diseases.

They commenced the careful investigation of the specific November 15, 1900. They inter viewed scores of the cured and tried it out on Its merits by putting over three dezen cases en the treatment and watching them. They also got physicians to name chronic, incurable mass, and administered it with the physicians for judges. Up to August 27, eighty-seven per sent of the test cases were either well or programing favorably.

There being but thirteen per cent of fallures. the parties were satisfied and closed the transon. The proceedings of the investigating smittee and the clinical reports of the test were published and will be mailed free application. Address John J. SHARLOT M. HALL.

A Western Woman Who Is Winning Fame as a Writer.

Of the new western writers who have come to the front in the last three or Cerived from bringing all one's efforts four years one of the most promising is Sharlot M. Hall, whose verses on the desert and on various phases of the life of the southwest have been widely copied. Miss Hall was the first white calld bore in Lincoln county, Kan., and her mother was the ideal western woman, an expert rifle shot, fearless and

The girl grew up and absorbed that knowledge of the cowbox and his traits which can never be gained at second hand. The spirit of the west seems to have entered into her blood, and the

The Gentle Art of Scoiding.

The woman in authority should study consideration of other people's feelings. The common scold or the continual fault finder is perhaps the most disagreeable person in the world, not only unhappy herself, but making others so. Scolding viewed in one light is really an accomplishment-that is, when used and children. If you feel called upon to deliver a rebuke to a servant, make it clear to the offender that your displeasure is justified. Never lose your temper, but be calm and dignished, for remember that your bearing has much to do with the respect that you are held in by those under your authority. Many wives have spolled the good | work early. nature of their husbands by seizing upon some fault, trivial perhaps, and constantly dwelling upon it.

Where a home is made unhappy by agreat fault of the husband, if he is worthy of loving and saving, he is more effectively appealed to by tenderness than by denunciation or scorn. There are many men today in the wrong path possessed by worthy attributes who might be saved by gentle reproof from the error of their ways, but are only spurred on their downward course by the unrelenting flerceness of a scolding wife. Those who have been saved from evil ways bear witness to the efficacy of the gentle sympathy and loving advice of a true helpmate.-New York Journal.

A Rousekeeping Experiment.

One housekeeper last year tried the experiment of running her household on the co-operative plan. She consulted with her cook, who was the general housework girl as well, and entered iuto an arrangement with her by which any surplus over the stipulated weekly allowance for household expenses was to be equally divided between the two. It was thought that an allowance of $2 a day for a family of five was sufficient, and by careful, systematic watching the weekly expenditures often did not reach the allotted $14. Whatever less they were was scrupulously divided between the two. Often there would be a dollar to the good. though 35 cents to each was the more common allotment. If, through company, sickness or some unusual dedemand the sum was overstepped, the next week was started in debt that needed care to eliminate.

The experiment proved highly satisfactory, though it must be admitted that the girl was one of unusual intelligence and adaptability. Undoubtedly. however, it could be successful in many households, even under somewhat less favorable conditions. It gave the maid a strong incentive to watch all leakages, and it effectually prevented the fault finding on that score which is a large cause for discontent between mistress and maid in almost every family. A stipulation in the contract was that the table should be kept up to its usual standard, and both parties to the agreement felt silmulated to make the food attractive through service and navor rather than by ontlay .- New York Post.

Managing a Husband.

There is a positive exhibitation to be to bear upon a bustund whose business worries have pursued him from the office. There is a genuine delight to fight with the unknown anxieties which his love will not permit him to unburden at home. It brings out all the mer and patience and diplemacy. all the charms and graces of a wom an's character, to transform a cross, tired, wernout husband into a new man-just by a good dinner and a little

But to manage a husband when there are so many kinds of husbands requires, more than any other one thing. a thorough study of your subject. To "most your husband with a smile," which is the old fashioned rule for all ills, is enough to make a nervous, irritable man frantic. Look him over before you even smile. You ought to know how to treat him. Don't sing or bum if he has a headache or begin to tell him the news before you have fed him. If there is one rule to hiy downwhich there is not-or if I were giving automatic advice-which I am not-1 should say that most men come home like hungry animals and require first of all to be fed.-Lillian Bell in Harper's Bazar.

> Some Good Remedies For Wrinkles.

One of the best preventives for wrinkles is to learn facial repose. Keep the body so well nourished that the face will share in the general well being, glving evidence to this by its plumpness and lack of angularity. Then it is important to keep the teeth in good condition, so that there will be no sagging in of the cheeks where teeth are missing. Massage for the face is like exercise for the rest of the body, and if used for the purpose of toning up the muscles it is beneficial. The general direction of the strokes on the face should be upward and outward in order to lift up and strengthen the falling muscles.-Ladies' Home Journal.

Benches.

Benches are quite a craze in home furnishing just now. Where a room has no mantel and has a plain, quite good sized wall space to make a feature of a high backed bench is very fashlonable and proves a very effective substitute. Have a shelf fastened on brackets above the high back of the bench for bric-s-brac, throw a rug on the floor in front of it, and, with several consistently covered down cushlons, the result is quite charming and often saves the entire effect of a room.

The Wash Botler.

Many people complain that the boller rusts and iron molds the clothes. This may be entirely prevented by rubbing the boiler well with any good kitchen soap immediately after emptying it and while it is warm. Give it a liberal coating, remembering the soap is not wasted, as it all goes into and heips the first filling of the boiler next washing day.

Mrs. Annie McKay, Chaplain Sons of Temperance, 326 Spadina Ave., Toronto, Cured of Severe Female Troubles by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: - Being a mother of five children I have had experience with the general troubles of my sex. I was lacerated when one of my children was born and from that hour I date all my afflictions. I found that within a few months my health was impaired, I had female weakness and serious inflammation and frequent flooding. I became weak and dizzy but kept on my feet, dragging through my work without life or pleasure. A neighbor who had been helped by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound insisted that I take at least one bottle. I did so and felt so much better that I kept on the treatment. For seven months I used the Compound faithfully and gladly do I say it, health and strength are mine once more. I know how to value it now when it was so nearly lost, and I appreciate how great a debt I owe you. The few dollars I spent for the medicine cannot begin to pay what it was worth to me. Yours very truly, Mrs. Anna McKay, Chaplain Sons of Temperance.

Skirts.

Tiny artificial flowers are much used to trim evering dresses. They are tacked on the sheer material in irregular loopings and patterns and give a very dainty effect.

Ball gowns made of sheer silk shawls are among the novelties. The fringe is so arranged that it forms the trimming of the decolletage and droops in graceful lines on the skirt.

Gowns of black point d'esprit laid in many lines of shirrings are charming for slender blonds. Princess dresses of oriental satin thinly velled in chif-

The waist has a round, square decolletage and full bertha trimmed with irregular appliestions of rosebuds. The belt is a sash of peau de sole ribbon. The skirt has a full flounce headed and outlined with the rosebud and chiffon ruchings.

WHAT WOMEN ARE WEARING Turkish Sieeves-Ribbon Embroidery and Woolen Guipure.

Pretty arms are growing scarce, so fashion authorities tell us. Perhaps this is due to the violent exercise girls are now taking. At any rate, the fact is conducive to the vogue of long sleeves. The Turkish sleeve is one of the novelties now seen on dinner gowns. It is made of some sheer material and is soft and veluminous, its saving grace being the peep of the bare arm between the shoulder strap and the top of the sleeve.

The dainty and charming ribbon embroidery is growing daily in favor. This is frequently intermingled with chiffon and applied on a ground of coarse net, reminding one of fish net, Pearl embroideries are very much in favor and insertions of cluny also. Cluny lace is especially effective where a transparent look is desired.

Woolen guipure is among the trimming novelties. To be fashionable it must be dyed in soft grays, mushroom and biscuit tints to accord with the cloth it adores.

This pretty flower trimmed hat is of satin straw with a tucked underbrim of chiffon, which is bent irregularly, It is trimmed with pink and white roses and their foliage, together with twists of black velvet.
