HALLS OF CONGRESS

Senator Gallinger Condemns the Pending Chinese Exclusion Bill and Those Who Favor It.

CUBAN RECIPROCITY BONE OF CONTENTION IN HOUSE.

The Beet Sugar Interests Represented by Smith, of Michigan, Who Made a Bitter and Venomous Speech Against the 20 Per Cent Reduction in Tariff on Sugar.

Washington, April 9.—Senator Gallinger was the first speaker on the Chinese exclusion bill in the senate this morning. He declared the pending bill unwise, unjust, unnecessary and the kind of a measure that engenders race prejudice.

Letter From Minister Wu.

Gallinger read a letter written by Minister Wu, protesting against the passage of the pending bill, as a violation of treaty rights.

In defending the Pacific Mail Steamship Company from the charge that it was successfully engaged in bringing into this country coolie laborers under the guise of Chinese merchants, Gallinger brought from Penrose, of Pennsylvania, the report that Robert Swain, of San Francisco, a leading employe of the steamship company, was author of the charge.

Turner, of Washington, delivered an exhaustive argument in favor of the passage of the measure, and among other things, said: "There is a disposition abroad in the land, which is not without its echo in congress, to object to legislation of the character of that embraced in the pending bill on the ground that it is illiberal, uncharitable and un-Christian. This disposition springs from the mistaken sentimentality founded on ignorance of Asiatic characteristics and the failure to consider the duty which every government owes to its people."

Debate Cuban Reciprocity.

Washington, April 9.—The house, in committee of the whole, today resumed the debate on Cuban reciprocity. Smith, of Michigan, one of the bitterest opponents of the measure, said it was the first duty of congress to protect American industries; that the passage of this measure would ruin the beet sugar industry of the country.
