DIED IN WESTON JAIL U. S. LAND LAWS

MAN GAVE HIS NAME AS E. P. JACKSON, PENDLETON.

Proved to be E. G. Alban, Son of Dr. W. G. Alban, of Walla Walla—Complained of Pain in Stomach, and Asked to Be Put in Calaboose, When Found Asleep on the Street by Two of Weston's Citizens.

Weston, April 9.—A man who gave his name as Jackson, was found dead in the city jail this morning. He came to Weston last night on the evening train and registered at the Marshall House at 8:30, as E. P. Jackson, of Pendleton. Later in the evening he went out on the street, saying that he would be back shortly. He went to McGraw's drug store and got some Jamaica ginger, complaining of a pain in the stomach. No one noticed him any more, until about 11 o'clock when Charles Curtis and Herman Saling found him apparently asleep in the street. When awakened he said that he was sick and asked to be taken to the calaboose, the men, thinking he was a hobo, and knowing that there was a room open at the jail for such cases, took him there. On the way he said he was afraid that he would die and if he did to notify his wife at Walla Walla. The men thought nothing of his words, as they supposed he had been drinking. They left him in the jail apparently all right, but this morning when Marshal Lavender went to the jail he found him dead upon the floor.

He is about 5 feet 4 inches in height, weight about 130 pounds, has dark hair and beard streaked with grey. He wore a brown coat and vest and striped trousers. His hat, which is of the derby style, was sold by Taylor & Merrill, of Walla Walla.

Coroner Cole and Deputy Sheriff Taylor came up this morning from Pendleton and investigated the case.

Jackson, whose real name was Alban, proved to be the son of Dr. W. G. Alban, health officer of Walla Walla, and he was notified. Dr. Alban came over on this afternoon's train and took charge of the body, which was taken to that city for burial.

Coroner Cole and Deputy Taylor returned to Pendleton this afternoon.

STEAD ON RHODES.

The Philosophy of the Dead Man's Life, as He Expressed It.

London, April 9.—An article on Cecil Rhodes, by William T. Stead, will appear in the forthcoming number of the American Review of Reviews. The article consists of an explanation of Rhodes' views on America and Great Britain and for the first time sets forth his own inmost aims. It was written by himself to Stead in 1890. In its three columns of complex sentences the whole philosophy of Rhodes' international and individual life is embraced. Perhaps it can be best summarized as an argument in favor of the organization of a secret society on the lines of the Jesuit order for the promotion of peace and the welfare of the world, and the establishment of an American-British federation, with absolute home rule for its component parts.

Falling From a Great Height.

It will be remembered that Mr. Whympy, who had a severe succession of falls once in the Alps, without losing his consciousness, declares emphatically that as he bounded from one rock to another he felt absolutely no pain. The same thing happens on the battlefield. The entrance of the bullet into the body is not felt, and it is not till he feels the blood flowing or a limb paralyzed that the soldier knows he is wounded.

Persons who have had several limbs broken by a fall do not know which limb is broken till they try to rise. At the moment of a fall the whole intellectual activity is increased to an extraordinary degree. There is not a trace of anxiety. One considers quickly what will happen. This is by no means the consequence of "presence of mind." It is rather the product of absolute necessity. A solemn composure takes possession of the victim. Death by fall is a beautiful one. Great thoughts fill the victim's soul. They fall painlessly into a great blue sky.

Dogstore Humor.

A Philadelphia druggist has made the following collection of amusing misadventures that have been sent to him from time to time:

"I have a cute pain in my baby's stomach. Please give bearer something to cure it."

"My little girl has eat up a lot of buttons. Please send a hemetic by the enclosed boy."

"Dear doctor a dog bit my child on the leg please send some cork plaster and cutter eyes."

"Please send by bearer one postal card. Also kindly give bearer, my son, some floorice root."

"Dear doctor wot is good for tirefoy fever send some quick I got it."

"Let my Johnny have a glass of sody watter. I wud come myself but I am washing. P. S. the 5 cents is for the sody watter."

"If you can fill the enclosed prescription for 25 cents do so. If not return by bearer."

EACH MAN CAN SECURE 480 ACRES UNDER THEM.

Taking Up of Homesteads is the Most Popular Way of Sharing in Uncle Sam's Gifts of Land.

Every homeseeker in the United States who complies with the land laws is entitled to 480 acres, says the Walla Walla Union.

By the homestead act, 160 acres can be acquired. Under the desert land act, if he has never filed on a homestead, he may secure 320 acres. If he has he can acquire title to 160 acres. He can buy 160 acres of timber land.

The taking of a homestead is the more common way of securing land, and the homesteader is given seven years' time in which to prove up. In his final proof he must state that he is familiar with the land and is taking it for his own individual benefit. Continuous residence is essential. He may make commutation proof, that is, to pay so much an acre for the land, after 12 months' residence upon the property if he so desires.

This amount is either $1.25 an acre for lands outside the railroad grant, or $2.50 within. In this state the railroad grant comprises lands situated within 40 miles of the right-of-way of the Northern Pacific railway company. When he has completed a residence of five years upon the land, or at most within seven years of the date of filing, he may apply for the title in the customary way, by presenting the testimony of witnesses as to his continuous residence and by the payment of merely nominal fees.

Improvements Must Follow.

Improvements must be commenced within six months after the first filing. A house must be built and the land improved. Greater leniency is shown towards a single man than towards one who is married. If a man can show that he must go outside to make a living he may secure leave of absence upon making application. Soldiers and sailors are allowed special favors. Many imagine they can comply with the letter of the law and violate the spirit. A great number have found to their sorrow that things are otherwise.

The timber land act allows one to purchase 160 acres of timber bearing land from the government upon the payment of the sum of $2.50 an acre. Publication of the notice is also necessary.

The third act, the desert land means by which title to land may be acquired is as follows: Showing must be made that there is some means of obtaining water. A filing fee of 25 cents an acre is charged. For three years following the date of filing the holder of the claim must expend $1 an acre each year in reclaiming it from aridity, and at the end of that time must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the register and receiver of the land office that he has water on the land sufficient for irrigation purposes.

Two other acts, the timber culture and the pre-emption acts, were repealed a short time ago.

Bear and Lion Growl.

Pekin, April 9.—The Manchurian convention was signed here. The Russians undertake to restore the Neu Chwang & Shan Hai Kwan railroad to the Chinese when the British relinquish control of the railway in Chi Li province. Sir Ernest Satow, the British minister here, is however, negotiating to secure a large preponderance of British administrative control in the latter railway after it is handed over to China.

A Strong Woman

Iowa City, Iowa, Aug. 12, 1900
My wife was sick for three years. We tried everything without relief and spent much money. My wife tried Wine of Cardui and four bottles cured her. She took two more bottles, knowing she would have to work hard during the hay harvest. She attended to all her household duties and loaded and unloaded all the hay. This medicine gave her strength. Formerly she was weak and tired and could hardly get about, but since she has been taking Wine of Cardui she feels better and stronger than when 30 years of age. JOB A. EISENHAFER.

Mrs. Eisenhafer had tried everything during her three years sickness and had spent considerable money. She was weak and could hardly get about for three years before she took

WINE OF CARDUI

Now, after taking the Wine of Cardui, she can work with her husband in the hay field. That is hard work, but it is not as injurious to a woman's health as labor in stores, factories and offices where thousands of girls are closely confined year after year. With the aid of Wine of Cardui a woman can do any reasonable work and enjoy good health.

The health that Wine of Cardui brings makes a woman vigorous in body and mind. Freed from those terrible devastating pains a woman grows well and strong naturally. Wine of Cardui regulates the disordered menstruation and cures leucorrhoea, falling of the womb and periodical pains in the head and back caused by standing or sitting a long time in the same position. Theodore's Black-Draught puts the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys and blood in proper shape. Greatly increased strength and endurance is the natural result. Most cases are cured quickly. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui and 25 cent packages of Theodore's Black-Draught.
