GENERAL NEWS

A cablegram from Manila announces the death of Major L. G. Grady, thirty-fifth infantry.

Captain F. L. H. Slocum, United States military attaché, is dead from inflammation of the lungs, at St. Petersburg, Russia.

Major Waller, of the marine corps, tried by court martial on the charge of killing natives in the island of Samar without trial, has been acquitted.

At Blue Springs, near Kansas City, divine healers have kept the death of Mrs. Nancy Ashley secret for three days while they tried to restore the woman to life through prayer.

President Roosevelt on Saturday signed the bill repealing the war revenue taxes. The pen with which the bill was signed was presented to Representative Bartholdt, of Missouri.

Rev. T. DeWit Talmage, the noted Presbyterian divine, died Saturday night in Washington, aged 70 years. He was born in Bound Brook, N. J. The cause of his death was inflammation of the brain.

A number of prominent business men, at a meeting in Manila Saturday, decided to petition the commission to issue proceedings against "Freedom," a local paper, the editor of which is charged with sedition, but the editor objected, saying he would prove every statement he made.

Charles F. W. Neely, Eustad G. Rathbone and W. A. Reeves, have all appealed from the verdict of the audience court at Havana, by which they were found guilty of misappropriation of Cuban postal funds and sentenced to 10 years imprisonment each and to pay fines aggregating $127,541.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS

J. W. Jumper accidentally shot and killed himself at Marshfield, while examining a shotgun. He leaves a large family.

Miss Eliza Cox, aged 81 years, died at the home of her son, J. W. Allen, at Elgin, Union county. She came to Oregon in 1845. She formerly lived in Eugene.

In June, 1901, working as a bartender in Walla Walla; now missing—that is the story of John Elster, whose relatives in Gilman, Ill., are searching for him all over the country.

A. J. Delano, of Portland, filed suit against W. S. Drake, a dentist, in the state circuit to recover $1134 damages on account of suffering alleged to have been endured because of unskillful dental work.

The postoffice receipts at Walla Walla are above $20,000 annually.

"I am a poor black man and ashamed of myself. Everywhere I go people make fun at me and call me 'nigger.' I can't help being black." With tears starting in his eyes, Isaac Willis, a colored man, made these pitiful remarks to Chief Kauffman, at Walla Walla.

One of the most serious conditions that has ever confronted the lumber and shingle manufacturers of the Pacific Northwest, is before them now. It is the prospective withdrawal from business in this region of liability insurance companies which would force the manufacturers to carry their own liability risks. This the mill men cannot do.

Seven-year-old Miss May Tippin was undoubtedly the most interesting passenger who stepped off the Spokane flyer when it rolled into the union depot at Portland Saturday. The little lady, with the glow of an English sunset on her cheeks, was very tired after her journey of nearly 7000 miles from England to her aunt's home, Mrs. John Wendt, in Portland.

FOOL FRIENDS WORK

FIRST GUN OF CAMPAIGN IS OF THE POP GUN ORDER.

Aimed at the Opposition, But Proves a Boomerang and Slaughters Those in Whose Interests it Was Discharged.

"May the fates save me from my fool friends," should be the prayer of every candidate for office. This is as true in the present campaign as in others of the past. Those who have stood for office know the wisdom of the prayer; those who are running for office for the first time will learn from experience.

These reflections are made because of an article which appeared in the Pendleton Tribune in its Sunday morning's issue. After prefacing the writer therein gets "personal," as follows:

"Now, just what sort of a county ticket have these boosters, anyway? Begin with W. M. Pierce, the chief head of the list of candidates. What particular qualifications he may possess for the state senate no one knows. If he enlarges the perquisites as well as he did those of the county clerk's office of this county, he may lay the foundations for another fortune."

J. W. Scriber, of La Grande, will be Mr. Pierce's opponent. Mr. Pierce surely has equal qualifications and equal honesty to Mr. Scriber, and it may be added, equal standing, at least. Further, when and while W. M. Pierce was getting lawfully rich in the clerk's office of Umatilla, W. J. Furnish, republican candidate for governor, was getting as rapidly and as lawfully rich in the sheriff's office. So far, honors are even and the candidates of the democratic ticket have no greater shortcomings than those of the republican.

Then the blind and rambling Tribune editorial writer proceeds:

"Dr. C. J. Smith is the next in line. Perhaps some of Oregon's laws need a physician's care, but the doctor has not shown any special skill with this phase of science. For instance, he failed utterly at a financier when mayor of Pendleton, and the neglect and haste and misjudgment which characterized his administration laid a heavy load on his successor, which, by the way, was quickly changed by the new man at the head of municipal affairs."

Dr. Smith does not need any defense. He has proven himself a financier. Dr. Smith is an earnest worker, successful, and was as good a mayor as a half dozen republicans who preceded him, namely, William Martin, Lot Livermore, J. C. Leasure and W. J. Furnish, and proved himself as good a financier in the city's interests as did these gentlemen, as the records will show. Let those who are without guilt cast the first stone. "William Blakley, as representative, is a very good selection by his party, as he has a good sack and will spend it freely."

Is this so? There are others who have sacks, candidates on the republican ticket, too, and they will spend even more freely than William Blakley. The fact of the matter is, the honesty of Mr. Blakley cannot be questioned. He is too well known in Umatilla county and Eastern Oregon to need any defense from the baby vapors of young fellows in political short dresses, who have not as yet ceased to live on a milk diet.

"Taking the nominees for court house offices we find no better men. T. D. Taylor is a good boy, well known at Athens and has a few lodge supporters, but as a sheriff he could hardly cut a swath."

In all honesty and frankness are not any of these "good boys" of the democratic ticket the equal of the republican candidates for the same offices? Be fair and reply. If you are too partisan to be fair, an answer from you is not required.

"But to pass on down the corridor to another important office. If any county office should be well filled it is that of county clerk. Carefulness, accuracy and a fund of information is needed, but not found in the present incumbent. He is very incompetent, as every attorney in town (except democrats) will testify. Before the campaign came on, even the democratic lawyers acknowledged this fact."

Mr. Chamberlain may not be immaculate, but there are hardly a dozen men in the county who will not testify that he is head and shoulders beyond his opponent in ability and experience for the duties of county clerk. Mr. Chamberlain is popular with the people of the county, and that is strong testimony that he is liked as county clerk.

"Mr. Hansford, for treasurer, will pass for a pretty good old man if his managers do not allow him to talk too much. Take him about, boys, and show him, but keep close watch on him. Mr. Hansford has one good qualification. He is a swift solo player and perhaps the county's indebtedness could be paid off by winnings from his favorite game."

W. D. Hansford is an excellent man for county treasurer. He has no business entanglements. He is in comfortable circumstances. He is a business man, one who was successful in business. His opponent, E. J. Summerville, is an excellent man, also, clean and honest, and deprecates the insinuations made by the foolish virgin, the Tribune, at his opponent's expense.

"The democratic nominee for assessor, is of the same strain. He is a country school teacher in middle life, and, of course, is well informed on property values. Country school teachers usually have large property interests. This man has been in the county only two or three years and no one knows who he is."

There is certainly no dishonesty in being a country school teacher. Mr. Strain is an excellent teacher, very popular in the east end of the county, where he lives and labors, and those intimately acquainted with him say he is particularly fitted for the office to which he aspires. Mr. Buzan himself will, doubtless, admit that Mr. Strain is at least as capable for assessor as he, Buzan, was, when he first was a candidate.

The Tribune promises a continuation of its "twaddle" about democratic candidates. The democrats are in favor of it being encouraged in its good work. The republicans are complaining at the antics of their "fool friend" and will endeavor to "choke him off."

Political Drips.

Portland New Age: Hon. James H. Raley, of Pendleton, who has been nominated for attorney-general on the democratic ticket, is a very capable man, and extremely popular throughout the state, and especially in Pendleton and Umatilla county, where he lives.

Athena Press: W. D. Hansford, the democratic nominee for county treasurer, is a man of well known business qualifications. He has been a resident of Pendleton for years. His warmest friends are among those who have known him longest.

Portland New Age: J. E. Lathrop, who made the speech in the democratic convention nominating J. H. Raley for attorney-general, displayed surprising abilities as a speaker of the convention, and was honored with three cheers. He proved that newspaper men can sometimes talk as well as write.

A Nearly Fatal Runaway

Started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill., which defied doctors and all remedies for four years. Then Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured him. Just as good for Bolls, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Corns, Scalds, Skin Eruptions and Piles. 25c at Tallman & Co's drug store.
