PENDLETON IS A GOOD TOWN.

Several Citizens of Grant so Declare Upon Their Return Home.

Grant Thomburg, J. W. Taber, G. O. Rineason, of Granite, and H. E. Hendryx, of the Lawton Standard, recently visited Pendleton. Upon their return home they are reported as follows:

The Grant county boys were royally entertained in Pendleton and that place will always be remembered by them as the best town of its size in the northwest. Pendleton people are investing more money and doing more toward the development of the resources of this section than any other town in the state. For this reason the people of Grant county would do well to get better acquainted with the business men of Pendleton.

The northern end of Grant county is greatly in need of a railroad, and the time is not so very far in the future when the whistle of the locomotive will be heard as the train approaches Lawton. We think we are safe in predicting that the starting point of the train will be at Pendleton.

Political Notes.

In Portland democrats state positively there will be no "slate" in the make-up of the citizens' city ticket. There are any quantity of candidates for the offices and the fight will be free for all. W. E. Robertson and John Lamont are the leading candidates for mayor.

The initiative and referendum is a great help to public education. Out of the 300 unincorporated towns in Massachusetts that govern themselves by the town meeting system of direct legislation, more than 250 have free public libraries and in most cases paid librarians. No state where the towns are incorporated and governed by a city council can compare with the record of Massachusetts. The system is just as practical when it is operated by the board of selectmen as it is in a New England town meeting or an Oregon school district.

M'COURT'S HARVEST.

Another Crop of Law Breakers Gathered in and Fined.

Six more hoboes were added to Street Commissioner Fee's "chain gang" this morning by Police Judge McCourt. They are: Geo. Lesenger, 2 1/2 days in jail; John Welch, 2 1/2 days; Dave Armstrong, William Easton, Chas. Carson and Wm. Barnhart, 5 days each. They are all whites, except the last one, who is an Indian. Mr. Fee says that he is getting good work out of his "chain gang" and that he is going to have every Weary Willie that strikes Pendleton do his share toward cleaning up and beautifying the town. He had six at work Monday and they made quite an improvement on the streets where they worked. With the half dozen that were added to the gang this morning Mr. Fee will have his hands full, but their mark will be left on the streets. It is the intention of the police to work every hobo that is caught and if this practice is kept up it will only be a short time until Pendleton will be shunned by this class of travelers.

Beautiful New Machinery.

A. Kunkel & Company received today a carload of the celebrated new Moline wagons. In this car is one of the Wilson Moline Buggy Company's latest models bike wagons, full ball-bearing, which was ordered for Lester Swaggart, of Pendleton, and when it appears on the street it will receive its share of attention. Kunkel & Co. will unload on Wednesday a car of Plano harvesting machinery, including the Big Jones mowers, the simplest and greatest cutting machine on the market, and the new Jones steel header, which will be interesting to farmers, and they are specially invited to inspect this wonderful labor saving machine to man and beast.

Big Prices for Horses.

The sole topic of conversation in racing circles last week, says the Oregonian, was the sale of Freddie C and his full brother, Direct C, by C. F. Clancy, of Seattle, to J. E. Sturgis, of New York. The price paid by Sturgis' agent, H. H. Lawrence, was, it is understood, $12,000. Freddie C brought $8,000 and his brother $4,000. This sale is remarkable in that it is the first that has been made in the Northwest in a number of years.

IRON AND STEEL WORKERS

GATHER IN ANNUAL CONVENTION AT WHEELING

President Shaffer Candidate for Re-election, But There is a Strong Opposition Against Him Because of Poor Results From His Management.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 15.—The annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Plate Workers of America was called to order today in the Carroll club auditorium by President Shaffer, with more than 300 delegates present. A considerable number of delegates had not arrived when the meeting came to order, and it is probable the attendance will be largely increased tomorrow. After brief formalities connected with the opening the convention immediately went into executive session. The general sentiment which prevails among delegates is that this convention will be the most important in the history of the organization. It is expected by several delegates that the question of recognizing several non-union mills will be thoroughly discussed at the convention. The reports of the district presidents show that there has been some falling off in membership in the Ohio and Pennsylvania fields as a result of the strike last year, but this has been more than offset by the gains made in Indiana, southern Illinois and other sections. It seems to be the opinion of a large majority of the delegates that the present wage scale should not be disturbed, so that little difficulty is expected in reaching an agreement.

One of the interesting features of the convention is the contest for the presidency. President Shaffer is a candidate for re-election, but there is undeniably an undercurrent of sentiment among the members that the affairs of the organization have not been handled just exactly right during the past year and attribute the trouble to the present head of the association. President Shaffer on the other hand is working strongly for re-election in order that he may be vindicated for ordering the steel workers' strike. There are no active opposition candidates though the names of Secretary M. F. Tighe of Wheeling and Thomas Williams of New Castle are freely mentioned in connection with the presidency.

Editors at Hot Springs.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 15.—Right royal has been the reception accorded by the local newspaper men and citizens generally to the delegates of the National Editorial Association and the visitors who have accompanied them, who in numbers exceed one thousand. This morning the seventeenth annual convention was formally opened in the large club room of the Hotel Eastman. The features of the session, after the customary addresses of greeting had been delivered and responded to was the annual address of the retiring president, Albert Tozier, of Portland, Ore. An early adjournment of the session was taken to permit the delegates to partake of some of the features of entertainment provided in their honor. Other business sessions are to be held during the week, but for the most part the visitors intend to devote themselves to the enjoyment of the occasion.

National Polo Convention.

New York, April 15.—The annual convention of the National Polo Association takes place at the Metropolitan club this evening and keen interest is manifested by devotees of the sport. Western members of the association, it is stated, have come prepared to make an effort to obtain the national championship meeting, which the east has always felt should be played where the largest polo interests are located. A point in the adoption of new rules which is likely to cause some feeling will be the introduction of a measure forbidding the borrowing of players, which was protested last year by several of the teams that were defeated by the Lakewood Polo Club.
