The St. Joe store has improved the appearance and convenience of the grocery department by re-arranging the counters and some of the fixtures.

Three carloads of leaf cattle went out over the W. & C. R. road Thursday evening, bound for Seattle. They were purchased of the Stanfield Brothers by Carston Brothers, local butchers of Seattle.

For the first time in two weeks the city jail is uninhabited. For two weeks the jail has had from six to a dozen prisoners, who were serving time for being drunk or for vagrancy, but all their terms of confinement were up Thursday evening, and they were allowed to go their way rejoicing.

The East Oregonian invites those having friends visiting them, or who are otherwise interested in having mention in the paper, to call the paper up by telephone, or to send the item desired inserted to the office by messenger or mail. This paper is desirous of overlooking no person or event and it will appreciate any assistance rendered by those concerned. It is impossible for the regular reporters of the paper to learn of the doings of everybody, although it is the paper's intent for them to do so. Send in items. They are always welcome and will receive prompt attention.

TOOK UP THE FIGHT.

The Battle Was for Eastern Oregon and Credit is Due for It.

The Council Advance, of Council, Idaho, says:

The East Oregonian, published in Pendleton, took up the fight for recognition of Eastern Oregon for representation on the state ticket last July. Although a democratic paper, it advocated the nomination of an Eastern Oregon republican for governor. It was willing to sacrifice its political predilections to smash the Multnomah machine and thereby warn the web-footers that there was a large population this side of the Cascades engaged in all kinds of business save politics who had been ignored by the solons who occasionally meet in Salem to carry out their instructions. When the fight was inaugurated the editor of this paper was writing for the East Oregonian and battled for dissolving the ties that held Eastern Oregon in bondage to Multnomah. The independent press is a power for correcting evils in all parties. Brother Jackson deserves the congratulations of all citizens of Eastern Oregon, irrespective of politics, for landing the gubernatorial nomination in the hands of a Pendletonian.

Kissinger vs. Kissinger.

Hattie E. Kissinger has sued William T. Kissinger for a divorce. Plaintiff alleges that they were married in Umatilla county in 18. . . and that in 1900 defendant deserted her and has since failed to provide for her and her only child, a boy of 10 years. She asks that the court give her a divorce from the defendant and the custody of the boy, besides such other relief as the court sees just. Charles M. Kissinger is plaintiff's attorney.

BLUE VS. BLUE.

Mrs. Juliette Downs Blue Granted a Divorce From Dr. Rupert Blue.

Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon of the United States marine service, was last Monday divorced from his wife, Mrs. Juliette Downs Blue, at Milwaukee, Wis., on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment. In her complaint Mrs. Blue stated that they were married in Chicago, March 4, 1895, and that since then defendant had, in addition to applying objectionable epithets, at divers times, beating her in an inhuman manner until she was sick, sore and disabled, causing her great mental and physical pain. Dr. and Mrs. Blue had a superior social standing in Milwaukee, the doctor being in the regular service of the navy with a salary of $3500. Miss Blue was formerly Miss Juliette Downs, of Spokane. She intends to return to Washington after a trip abroad this summer. Mrs. Blue is the daughter of the late Superintendent Downs, of the Great Northern, who was killed by a runaway train on that road some months ago. Dr. and Mrs. Blue are well known in Portland, where Dr. Blue was stationed for several months. The divorce is surprising news to friends of both.

Smallpox in School.

Walla Walla, April 18.—That pupils of the eighth grade of the Paine school were exposed to smallpox was proven yesterday when Orpha De Long, a student in Principal Ryan's room, was removed by the health officer and placed in quarantine at the home of her father, W. F. De Long, in Chestnut street. Every possible step will at once be taken to prevent the spread of the disease, the room will be fumigated and the clothing of the children disinfected.

Deputy Sheriff John Waldin is sick at Union with typhoid fever.

DUPUIS WILL PITCH

PENDLETON YOUNG MAN WILL OCCUPY THE BOX.

About 100 People Accompanied Pendleton Ball Nine to Athena for Game There This Afternoon.

The Pendleton baseball team boarded the belated train, which left here at 1:05 for Athena, to cross bats with the Yellow Kids this afternoon. The team was accompanied by between 75 and 100 rooters, who went up to help the Indians carry their colors to victory.

The Athena line-up could not be obtained, but the line-up and batting order of the Pendleton players is as follows:

Brown, catcher; Ziegler, third base; Knox, short stop; Cornell, right field; Clemens, center field; Hartman, first base; Demoling, left field; Ulrich, second base; Dupuis, pitcher.

It will be seen that the above line-up is a little different from the way the boys have been playing. Clemens rightfully belongs where Knox is to play and Knox belongs where Clemens plays today. This change was made for the reason that Clemens has a lame arm and thinks he can play safer for the team in the middle field. Dupuis, as pitcher, is a new man and his ability has not been tried in any contests with the local team, although, it is said, that he puts up a good game and is hard to beat in the box. He will pitch today to save Wilner for the game here Sunday with the Walla Walla team.

New Kind of Brick.

F. J. Parker is trying to introduce among Walla Walla contractors a new kind of building brick that he claims much for. The brick is composed of lime and sand, the proportion being four to six per cent lime and the remainder building sand. The brick is being turned out by a San Francisco firm and where used for building purposes is giving much better satisfaction than ordinary brick. It is claimed that they will stand more pressure, and absorb much less water. The bricks are made in a peculiar manner, the ingredients of which they are composed being placed in moulds and buried in the ground, where they are subjected to a steaming process.
