SUGGESTION FOR ROADS.

National Vehicle Tax and a System of Road Maps.

State Senator Earle of Michigan is an enthusiastic advocate of good roads, and he has induced several countles in his state to provide funds for a practical demonstration of roadbuilding as it should be carried on by city, county, state and federal governments, says the Philadelphia North American. He expects to start out next spring as soon as the season will permit with a good roads train drawn by a traction engine, which will make a tour of the central part of the state, traveling about 500 miles. Before the start central points will be selected where the train will stop and build a sample mile of good

Senator Earle urges an appropriation of at least $1,000,000 by congress for the betterment of highways, and be also advocates a national vehicle tax of 50 cents a year for that purpose. One of his schemes is to have the government make road maps of every county in the United States, showing bad roads in red, fairly good ones in blue and improved roads in black. He would have these county maps published in book form and sold at postoffices for 5 cents. Senator Earle says:

"If I wanted to buy a farm in a certain locality, my first step for the purpose of investigation would be to purchase one of these little maps, and I would be very sure that I would purchase my farm along the route of one of these good roads, for I have found out from observation that it costs 17 cents less a mile to transport farm produce over an improved road than over a bad one."

There is nothing more important than good roads to the material welfare of a country, and it is to be hoped that congress may have the wisdom to take the matter up earnestly and make liberal appropriations in aid of the good roads movement even if it is necessary to reduce the sum customarily devoted to the improvement of waterless creeks.

MAKING A GOOD ROAD.

Without Competent Men There Is No Chance of Success.

A good road can be made by putting in a layer of large or medium sized stone, then on that a layer of crushed stone and on that a covering of gravel and rolling the surface down hard and smooth. But that is not all that is needed, says the American Cultivator. A part of the skill is like the old gentleman's rule for making good coffee, "When you make it, put in some,"

We have been watching the work on a bit of road this season. There are about three inches in depth of the round cobblestones, one inch of crushed stone and one inch of gravel and loam mixed, which, by wetting and rolling, has been so pressed down into the stones that it is now less than a half inch. If it were whitewashed after it was rolled, it could not look much better, but it might be more durable. We think before one winter passes the larger stones will be at the surface and the covering will have washed away or settled down below them.

In close proximity to a strip built by the state as an example of how to build a good road, it is likely to furnish an equally good example of how not to make a good road. It is one of those cases, too common, where the town thought to give employment to its own citizens instead of hiring the work done by contract, when it would have been better to have employed a competent man with ablebodied help and supported its cripples from the town's poor fund than to have paid them $1.75 for eight hours' loafing or trying to do that which some of them were unable to do by reason of old age and others were utterly incompetent to do well, while few of them cared for or took any interest in any part of the work excepting drawing their pay.

SIMPLE DUTCH DESIGN.

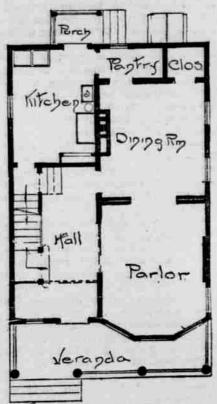

Well Arranged Residence That Will Not Cost More Than $1,500.

[Copyright, 1902, by George Hitchings, 41 Park row, Times building, New York.] This is of simple Dutch design, most conveniently arranged. The lines are sufficiently broken to give it an attractive appearance, and it boasts many excellent features, including the plazza. It has a twenty foot front and a thirty-two foot side.

The underpinning is of hard burnt brick pointed up with portland cement. The superstructure is frame. The exterior framework is sheathed, papered and clapboarded. It is painted colonial yellow, with cream white trimmings. The gables are covered with cedar astringent washes, lotions, salves, medicated tobacco and cigarettes or any external or local application, is just as senseless as would be kindling a fire on top of the pot to make it boil. True, these give temporary relief, but the cavities and passages of the head and the bronchial tubes soon fill up again with mucus.

Taking cold is the first step towards Catarrh, for it checks perspiration, and the poisonous acids and vapors which should pass off through the skin, are thrown back upon the mucous membrane or inner skin, producing inflammation and excessive flow of mucus, much of which is absorbed into the blood, and through the circulation reaches every part of the system, involving the Stomach. Kidneys and other parts of the body. When the disease assumes the dry form, the breath becomes exceedingly foul, blinding headaches are frequent, the eyes red, hearing affected and a constant ringing in the ears. No remedy that does not reach the polluted blood can cure Catarrh. S. S. S. expels from the
