the animal race was captured this morning by D. J. Shoemaker, who lives on McKay creek, seven miles from town. It was found in the cellar by his little girl and Mr. Shoemaker captured it by turning a box over it, then it was brought to town and placed on exhibition.

Friday night the Jolly Club entertained its friends with their last dance for the season. As was anticipated, this was the greatest success socially of any of their dances. An excellent time was had by those fortunate enough to attend. Besides several onlookers, 75 couples were present and the dancing continued from 9 in the evening until 12 o'clock. Refreshments were served, and Tom Scott presided over the refreshment stand.

THE WESTON NEIGHBORHOOD.

Ben Swaggart's Horses Entered for Salem Races—Boy 8 Years Old Rescues Little Girl From Pine Creek.

The East Oregonian is indebted to the Weston Leader for the following items:
J. M. Downs has been shipping 31 tons of baled timothy hay from Weston to the garrison at Walla Walla. He received a fair price, $14 per ton, delivered.

Ben F. Swaggart, the Heppner horseman, has made four entries for the Illhee stake for 2-year-old runners at the Salem state fair. They are Oregon Kid, Oregon Boy, Oregon George, Oregon Sunshine, all Calphurnus colts.

A Buff Coachin hen of excellent family and unblemished repute, belonging to W. H. Benefiel, has made a bid for fame. Mr. Benefiel found Mrs. B. Cochin "setting" in the barn the other day, and upon exploring the nest, dragged forth from beneath her four small black kittens.

Dr. W. J. Beck, an experienced veterinary surgeon from Gardner, Kan., is at the Marshall house. Dr. Beck came out recently with a party of immigrants, and stopped off at Weston. He will practice at Weston and Athena for several weeks, and may locate permanently.

S. A. Carlile, a brother of W. W. and James Carlile, arrived recently from Osage City, Kan., and will be followed soon by his family. The newcomers immediately began to tackle Oregon soil on the foothills east of town, where he will plant five or six acres of potatoes on land rented by his brother, James Carlile.

HOMESEEEKERS COME.

Took Four Coaches to Accommodate Those Going North.

This morning another batch of homeseekers arrived in Pendleton on their way west, north and east. Train No. 1 came in in two sections to haul the crowds and the last section did not arrive until after 11 o'clock. The Spokane train waited for this last section and it took four coaches to haul the people who changed cars here and are on their way to Washington. Beside those going to Washington, from 100 to 150 went west and will drop off along the line between here and Portland. Among those who changed cars and were going to Washington was one carload of Russians who are going to Yakima valley and the Big Bend country. These people attracted considerable attention among the people at the depot on account of their peculiar dress. All the men and boys had on heavy ducking clothes with a long coat in the Prince Albert style and heavy boots with their trouser legs tucked in the tops. Their hair was long and wavy and as black as a raven. They came from North Dakota.

THE CAMP MEETING.

Tents Are Already Being Erected in Byers' Grove.

Already tents are being put up in the Byers' grove and preparations are under headway for the Seventh Day Adventists camp meeting, that is to begin in the grove the 15th inst. A trainload of material arrived Friday, and among it was 150 tents, and a crew of workers will arrive Monday, and then work will commence on the grounds, cleaning them up, laying off the grounds in regular stret form and stretching the tents. It is the custom of the managers of these annual gatherings to have their little tented city laid off in streets and blocks and each street and tent named and numbered so that any one wishing to find another can go to the directory and locate their place.

All next week will be put in working on the grounds, and by the 12th or 14th the people will begin to arrive by team and train, until in the neighborhood of 200 tents will be stretched by the time the meeting begins. All told, from 1000 to 1200 people will be in attendance and will make Byers' grove and Pendleton their homes for 10 days.

LOST HER PURSE.

A Female Book Agent Makes a Losing of $360.

Mrs. A. Miers, registered at Hotel Pendleton from New York, who was in the city several days last week canvassing for books, lost her purse, containing $360, at the O. R. & N. depot, Friday evening, just as the train was leaving for Walla Walla.

When Mrs. Miers came to Pendleton she gave this money to George Van Dran at the hotel, and he put it in the safe for her and when she got ready to leave Friday evening he returned the money to her. She put it in her purse and went to the depot and purchased a ticket for Walla Walla. She did not discover her loss until after the train had left, but thinks she dropped the purse containing the money just as she was getting on the train. She wired back to see if any trace could be had of it, but a diligent search failed to find it. The purse contained four $20 gold pieces, four or five $5 gold pieces and the rest was in greenbacks. Mrs. Miers has instructed Van Dran Bros. to pay the finder a liberal reward if the money is returned to them at Hotel Pendleton.

TOMORROW BIG EXCURSION.

Great Crowd Going From Pendleton to Walla Walla—Stop for Game at Athena.

There has seldom been in Pendleton any sort of an occasion that caused such widespread interest as the excursion to Walla Walla tomorrow to see the "Redskins" and "Sharpshooters" play ball. Walla Walla turned out a magnificent crowd for the excursion to Pendleton two weeks ago, and if Pendleton is going to sustain her boast of superiority in point of enterprise, she must go Walla Walla one better. Pendleton should go there at least 1000 strong. There are ample coach accommodations for more than that number. The crowd from Pendleton will not only be large, but representative. Officers will be placed on each car to afford protection to any who might need it and to prevent rowdiness of any kind.

The Stop at Athena.

The Dayton and Athena clubs play at Athena Sunday, at 10 a. m. In order to give our excursionists an opportunity to take in both the game at Athena and at Walla Walla, excursion tickets will be good on No. 8, Sunday morning, at 8:15 o'clock, with stop-over privilege at Athena. At 12:45 the special will reach Athena and pick up the excursionists, arriving at Walla Walla at 2 p. m.

The game between the "Redskins" and the "Sharpshooters" will be called at 3 o'clock, and will be one of the most hotly contested and spirited games of the season, both teams being determined to win. The fare for the round trip, O. R. & N. depot, $1. Special leaves at 12 noon; regular train at 8:15 a. m.

The Estate of J. W. Williams.

Mrs. Annie Fields has filed her petition and been appointed by Judge G. A. Hartman as guardian of the persons and estates of Homer G. Williams, George C. Williams and Annie F. Williams, minor children of the petitioner and John W. Williams, deceased. The petition sets forth that each of these minors have real estate in the county of Umatilla to the value of $1000, which was left them by the will of their father. The petitioner is administratrix of the estate of the deceased and has filed her final account as executrix of the estate.
