WHAT IS SOCIALISM

REV. CARL THOMPSON'S SECOND LECTURE.

The First Scientific Principle of Socialism is Taken From the Evolutionary Science and is the Principle of Progressive Change.

Rev. Carl D. Thompson, the social evangelist, spoke again last night at the Congregational church to a large and appreciative audience. The subject was "The Scientific Basis of Socialism." He said in part: "The first scientific principle of socialism is taken from the evolutionary science and is the principle of progressive change. According to this principle which is of universal application the socialist expects to present form of society to give place to another and better form. It is generally assumed that the present wage system and property tenure are permanent, whereas, the scientific fact is that the present form is to give way to a better form.

The second principle is that society is an organism. It is not a mere aggregate of individuals in which each may fight for himself without reference to the other. And since society is an organism each individual and each class is dependent upon every other and the normal society will be a more highly complex, interrelated and centralized organism.

The third principle is that environment determines character. Just as the temperature, soil, moisture, altitude and various other conditions effect plant and animal life, so we discover and acknowledge the tremendous influence of environment upon human character. And the most powerful and determining element in the present environment is the economic conditions.

At this point the socialist makes analysis of the present social system. He inquires for the fundamental facts that go to make up the social system or the economic conditions and environment. And he finds, first, a universal struggle for existence; second, all people unequal; third, and all material things by which people are to earn their living, open to private property. And we can see that the inevitable result of such a struggle under those conditions will be that the means of production, indeed, all wealth, will be gradually possessed by the few; fourth, the socialist observes the rise of invention and steam driven machinery. This very greatly accelerates the concentration of wealth. Before the worker owned his tools. Now the tools become a vast factory which the worker cannot own. Hence the separation of the toiler from the ownership of the tools and the rise of the capitalistic class. Fifth, the inevitable logic of these conditions is a class struggle—those who are laborers struggling to save themselves from long hours and short pay on the one side and those who, owning the instruments of production, seek to make out of the labor the utmost profit. In this struggle the laborers are decidedly worsted. For example, there are a million men on the average out of employment. Wages are not sufficient when they do work. And finally women and little children are put to work in factory and field. Hence poverty and want and stress and strain.

From all these facts, and in accord with these principles, the socialist draws his conclusion. The difficulty is not in the concentration of wealth, not in the inequality of men, not in the struggle, but in the conditions of the struggle. The core of the problem is that the few have been allowed to own and control everything by which all the people are to live. Hence the solution of the difficulty is the collective ownership.

ship of the material means of production.

"Collectiveism, then, is the principle of socialism. And this principle has been tried and found adequate. Every human liberty has been procured through the application of this principle. The courts, army, navy, public schools, roads, postoffice, fire departments, all are examples of the successful operation of the principle of collectiveism. What now the socialist proposes is that this same principle shall be extended until all the greater material means of production, by which all the people are to earn their living, shall be owned and controlled by all the people instead of by a few. To this principle the socialist seeks to rally the people everywhere."

Mr. Thompson left this morning for The Dalles, where he is to speak tonight. He announced that his colleague, the Rev. J. Stitt Wilson, would be in Pendleton about May 27, and will take up the work here again. Mr. Wilson has been conducting very successful meetings in Denver and Los Angeles, with as high as 2000 people in attendance.

THE PORTAGE ROAD.

The Portland Board of Trade Back of a Proposition to Buy It.

Portland, May 2.—The board of trade held a meeting and received the report of the railroad committee on The Dalles Portage railroad project (the Paul Morh road.) The old company has paid out, according to the report a total of $815,721. The committee in its report states that there are liens on the property to the amount of $133,000, which must be met before any transfer can be made. The creditors, however, have expressed a willingness to take $50,000 in bonds. The new corporation will have a capitalization of $750,000 and it will be take up the existing liens, complete the road, purchase one steamer and operate the line with principal offices in Portland. There would be $1,000,000 of first mortgage bonds issued and of this $250,000 would go to the old incorporators and a like amount to the new stockholders and an equal amount of stock. About $150,000 is needed to pay off the debts of the company and complete the line. Articles of incorporation were drawn up and as soon as they have been approved steps will be taken to incorporate and then the work of canvassing for stock will be commenced.

The English Navy.

Although the naval strength of England is equal to that of any three continental powers, it is stated that they are planning several more powerful warships. They are determined to have the best and most efficient navy in the world. In the selection of a family medicine we see the same spirit put forth more and more every day, because the people are determined to have the best remedy that can be obtained. It is impossible to purchase a better or more reliable medicine than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Every member of the family can take it safely, with the assurance that it will positively do them good. It will restore vigor to the system and cure indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and malaria.

MORRISON AS MEPHISTO.

Said to Be the Best Version of Goethe's "Faust" in Existence.

Lewis Morrison's conception of the part of Mephisto in the dramatized version of Goethe's "Faust," has been conceded to be the best exposition of satanic subtlety and satanic power ever presented on the stage. Sir Henry Irving's Shylock is acknowledged as the standard of the subtlest and finest exposition of Hebraism extant. Lewis Morrison's satan holds equal rank at home and abroad for his demonstration of the attributes popularly believed to belong to that malevolent creation of Goethe mephistopheles. The appearance of Lewis Morrison himself, at the Frazer on Tuesday, May 6th, with a splendid array of new scenery, startling electrical effects and a strong supporting company, will be welcomed by many who have previously seen and can testify to the brilliancy of this well known star. The splendor of this season's new production will bear comparison with that of Irving's for scenic beauty and in one respect far surpass that famous production—the electrical effects. Our British cousins are slow to absorb American ideas and as a consequence many of the first-class theaters of Great Britain are not nearly so well equipped electrically as those of Uncle Samuel's theaters in cities of much less population. This being so, much of the effect of the Brocken, garden and apotheosis was unobtainable in Irving's production, owing to the poor quality of the flame, fire, cloud, lightning and general electrical effects which are a prominent and surprising feature of Lewis Morrison's production.

TO YOUNG WOMEN

A Denver, Colorado, Young Woman recently Wrote a Letter to Mrs. Pinkham, which Aptly Pictures the Condition of a Great Many Young Women. Read What She Says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—This is the first opportunity I have found to write and thank you for the good your Vegetable Compound has done me. I feel better than I have for years. It seems a 'seven days' wonder' to my friends. Where I used to be pitted, everything is the opposite now, and there is not a day but some one wants to know what I have done to make myself look so well.

"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had constant headaches, was constipated, bloated, eyes weak and watery, bearing-down pains in the small of my back and right side; took cold very easily, which always caused intense pain in the ovaries, and I did not want to go anywhere or see any one. I was called cross, but I could not help it, feeling as I did. I could not lift anything or do any hard work without suffering for days afterwards. Menstruation lasted for eight or ten days, the first three or four days being almost constant pain day and night."

Nothing in this wide world has relieved so much female suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; no medicine can produce such positive proof of cures and good results; therefore, no other medicine can be "just as good."

Office women are frequently afflicted with sickness brought on by constant work in one position. Perhaps in going to the office, they get their feet wet and sit all day long with damp shoes and stockings.

Nothing in the world is so injurious. Wet feet, hard work, and confined positions have made invalids of a great many robust and ambitious young women.

A Richmond Girl's Experience.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have just purchased a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound but am advised to write you before treating myself.

"I hardly know how to express myself. At times I feel well, and in less than ten minutes I am actually wretched with headache, that tired feeling, and so nervous that the sound of a door bell will make me start. I cannot walk two blocks without feeling fatigued. Menstruation has never been regular, have a slight discharge of leucorrhoea. I would like your advice, and sincerely hope I may find relief in your medicine."—Miss CLARA PORTERWIG, Richmond, Va. (Oct. 26, 1900.)

Statement No. 2.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It gives me great pleasure to thank you for the benefit I received from your Vegetable Compound.

"When I wrote to you I could not go up-stairs or walk a hundred yards without being completely fagged out, but to-day I can easily walk two miles. I was also very nervous and suffered from a misery in my back but these troubles are all a thing of the past. I was at a loss to describe my feelings, but now thanks to your Vegetable Compound I am a well woman.

"I advise all suffering women to write to Mrs. Pinkham, and I shall never fail to recommend your remedies to my friends."—Miss CLARA PORTERWIG, Richmond, Va. (March 26, 1901.)

Miss Thompson's Pains are Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For several years I had suffered with loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting, constipation, palpitation of the heart, headache, pains in nearly all parts of the body. My physician said it was only indigestion, but his medicine did not help me any. I began the use of your Vegetable Compound. I have taken four bottles and now those troubles are cured. I cannot praise it enough."—Miss BELLE S. THOMPSON, Box 14, Acushnet, Mass.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Start Girls Right!

Many beautiful girls become invalids for life, because at the crucial period of puberty they pay no attention to the laws of health. Mothers should protect their daughters' health by giving them necessary information and proper treatment. When the menses come on a girl unawares in her inexperience she is either frightened into convulsions, or scared into trying to check the flow. Many girls have checked the flow and it has never started again. And as a result they have grown pale-faced, with "crow-tracks" on their cheeks, and dark half-moons under their eyes. A dose of taken every morning after a girl is twelve years old will bring the menses on properly and keep them regular. It will help her to develop into attractive womanhood and equip her for the duties of wife and motherhood. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

The Hollywood, Asbury Park, N. J., February 8, 1900. American, and it so favorably impressed me that on my visit to Baltimore during the holidays I purchased a bottle of it for my adopted daughter, who was suffering with female troubles. She had been under the doctor's care for some time, and when her periods would come on her suffering was something terrible. I induced her to try it and the first dose brought on her menses. She took it regularly according to the directions, and was greatly relieved. To use her own words, "It saved my life." J. W. KELLY, CHICAGO.
