MIERS VS. MENZIES

THE CONDUCTOR AND THE BOOK AGENT CASE.

The Charge of Blackmail or Slander Heard in Walla Walla Justice Court—Case Taken Under Advice-ment.

Walla Walla, May 6.—The justice court room was crowded yesterday afternoon when the case of Mrs. A. Miers, charged by Conductor Menzies, of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, with blackmail or slander, was heard. Mrs. Miers came from Spokane to have the preliminary without delay, and the case attracted considerable attention. The evidence showed that Mr. Menzies brought the Pendleton mixed train into this city last Friday; that among the passengers was Mrs. A. Miers, a traveling representative of a publishing house. The lady had money deposited in the safe at the Hotel Pendleton and secured it just before boarding the train. After the train had started she asked the conductor about connections at Wallula, and he sat down beside her to explain. Upon his leaving the seat Mrs. Miers missed her purse containing a draft for $255, $200 in gold and $105 in currency. She spoke to the conductor about the matter and concluded that he knew where the purse was. Then she wired the chief of police in this city to meet the train and to him she told her suspicions in the presence of the conductor. This led up to the charge lodged against the woman the following day by the conductor. A warrant was issued and the woman was arrested in Spokane. She told a straightforward story and traced her steps from early in the morning until she arrived at Spokane. The court took the case under advisement.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE.

Commencement Exercises Cover Two Days—The School is Flourishing.

Milton, May 5.—The commencement exercises of Columbia College began Saturday night and will be concluded tomorrow evening. The year has been a good one for the college, although there is no graduating class this year, owing to the reorganization of the school. The Seventh Day Adventists built the school several years ago; later they moved to College Place, Wash., and the Milton people bought the property and deeded it to the M. E. church. South with the provision that the church raise $5000 and keep the school open for five years. The church is now trying to fulfill these requirements. The attendance during the year was good, and the faculty report the prospects as encouraging. About $200 will be expended during the vacation in painting and repairs.

REPORTS FROM UMATILLA COUNTY IN PORTLAND.

Anti-Furnish Organization Said to be at Work in This County—300 Members Strong.

The following article appeared under date of May 2nd, in the Portland Journal in the form of a dispatch from Pendleton:

Pendleton, Or., May 2.—In this county, Umatilla, there is in existence an anti-Furnish organization connected with which are not less than 300 voters. The number is increasing every day. These are standing like a wall of rock against the attempts to whip into line the members of the republican party who have declared that they will not endorse the head of the republican ticket. This organization is led by men of high-standing of which the best-known is Judge Stephen A. Lowell of Pendleton, who has proclaimed in an open letter that he will fight Mr. Furnish to the end of the contest. His associates are also men of influence, and many of them have been honored at the hands of their party during the past years—men who have never before cast a ballot against the republican party—who have been of the bone and sinew of that organization.

The movement is without precedent in the history of politics in Umatilla county. It is not a still hunt with professions of loyalty openly and secret knifing. The voters who are connected with the anti-Furnish organization are telling the people here what they propose to do, and they are proceeding to do it as openly as it is possible.

The protest registered by the anti-Furnish republicans of this county is: That Mr. Furnish, a life-long democrat, altered his views, not because he held to different economic or financial views; but because he had studied carefully the perplexing questions of the day and determined that he had been wrong previously, and therefore must now align himself with the republican party in order to secure correct expressions of his views; but that he altered them because he saw that the republican party was at that time upon the upgrade of political success, and that he might gain some advantage from a new alignment. In proof of this, it is alleged that it can be proven that he counseled with friends some time before he made the change, and did not deny that he would make the change only in the event that the tide seemed to be flowing toward the republican party. Otherwise, he would remain in the democratic ranks.

Political Notes.

Should Governor Geer be nominated by petition for United States senator, as now seems probable, the republican committee hopes to secure his services in the campaign.

The republicans expect to carry Multnomah county for W. J. Furnish by 4000 majority. The democrats expect to carry it by as equally as big a majority. Here you have as much as either side knows of the contest.

Republicans and democrats are making polls of the various counties. Of course each side claims that fine showings are made.

State Chairman White has received a letter stating that there would be a democratic landslide in Lane county.

Colored republican voters in Portland are not over fond of the republican ticket upt up, for the reason that no Afro-American has been recognized by a nomination.

Congressman Thomas H. Tongue will not come to Oregon during the campaign, but will leave his fight in the hands of his friends.

Only Bogie Talk.

"If Oregon shall elect a democratic governor, Oregon will be reckoned as a democratic state, and it will be so in fact," remarks the Oregonian, with further bogie talk to the effect that this would be an awful calamity. The facts are that Chamberlain's election would signify nothing of the sort. It would simply mean a rebuke to unclean politics administered alike by democratic and republican citizens who do not regard votes as a legitimate commodity; and when the occasion for this rebuke in a state where the republicans ordinarily have 10,000 majority, became known throughout the nation, Oregon's voice would be gladly heard in its protest against corruption of the voter. It will herald the day when corpulent "sacks" shall no longer be a potent influence in politics.—Weston Leader.

A Puerile Attack.

The Pendleton Tribune insensibly continues its freak editorial, and makes an especially puerile attack upon W. F. Matlock, whom it classes with Hank Vaughn. Before the editor of the Tribune had mastered a dozen words of the language he uses so recklessly. Mr. Matlock was assisting in the development of Umatilla county. Few men have been more progressive, more generous, more public-spirited than he; few men have done more for the town whose support the Tribune asks. We can fancy the gleam of amused contempt in "Bill" Matlock's steel-blue eye should he chance to read the Tribune stripling's estimate of his character.—Weston Leader.

Leave Its Columns Blank.

It would be wisdom for republican managers to pay a goodly-sized rate for the Pendleton Tribune's editorial columns and run them blank. This is what the esteemed "Trib" says of Charley Marsh: "He does not deserve the office and is too young to fill it well. His chief support, it is understood, is attributable to the young ladies who think him quite a remarkable boy, and encourage him in his ambitions." Such petty flings will only serve to increase the majority of this modest and unassuming yet competent and deserving young man.—Weston Leader.

No Question About It.

There is no question of Mr. Chamberlain's election as governor. He has won the confidence and good will of the people. Long-time republicans say that they will vote for him in preference to any other person named. Mr. Chamberlain has been tried by the people. He has stood the test. They have the utmost respect for him and they will elect him. Mr. Chamberlain is as good as elected at the present time. Every day he grows stronger.—Coos Bay News Republican.

Why Taxes Are High.

The average state revenue for the past seven years has been approximately $640,000, whilst the revenue required for the year 1902 is $1,000,000, an increase in the annual state revenue required of $460,000.—Chamberlain's speech at Baker City.

Salmon Meadows, Idaho.

Judge H. G. Yoakum is in town visiting old-time friends. He will spend a week here. His home for a number of years past has been in Salmon Meadows, Idaho. This is a beautiful little valley, five miles wide and 15 miles long, with fine range for cattle surrounding it. It is 30 miles from Council, the nearest point on the railroad, the nearest point on the Pacific, Idaho & Northern railroad is completed to Council. The meadows are on the road to Thunder Mountain and Judge Yoakum believes that the P. I. & N. railroad will be extended to Thunder Mountain within the next year, particularly so if the mines of that section prove as rich as they are reported to be. Judge Yoakum says that section of Idaho is a fine, rich country. He has cattle interests there.
