SUPREME COURT MATTERS

CASE OF ALBERT VS. GRISDALE IS DISMISSED.

The Recordership Case of Beam vs. McCourt Argues and Submitted—Decision to Be Rendered After the Judges Return to Salem.

Wednesday afternoon three cases were disposed of by the supreme court in session in the court house, and the fate of two of them rests in the hands of the three justices, while the other one was dismissed, being settled out of court. This case was the one brought by Henry Albert against Thomas Grisdale, from Baker county, to restrain defendant from using one-half of the water of Mill creek. The case was decided in favor of defendant in the lower courts, and was carried up.

Male et al., vs. Schont et al.
William H. Male, Benjamin Graham, William Halls, Jr., and Harris H. Hayden, appellants, vs. George Schont and John Huber, respondents, was the title of one of the suits argued and submitted. This was an action brought by appellants to collect a promissory note and, upon losing the case in the lower courts, it was appealed. T. G. Halley appeared as attorney for appellants and the respondents were not represented at all.

Beam vs. McCourt.
The city recordership case, entitled John Beam vs. John McCourt, was again brought up and the argument finished, and the case submitted to the judgment of the court. This is the case which grew out of the fight

PENDLETONIANS PICK HOPS

AN EASY TIME PLAYING BALL AT NORTH YAKIMA.

The Pendleton team of Indians, Alias Redskins, Alias Red Blankets, Win the Game, the Score Being 17 to 0.

North Yakima, May 8.—The Pendleton baseball team played a game here yesterday afternoon with the team of this city and won by a score of 17 to 0.

The Hop Pickers of Yakima proved to be peach-ple and plum preservers for the Pendleton ball tossers. The whole thing was easy, affording just practice for the Pendleton aggregation.

Stovall, pitcher, and Brown, catcher, were the battery for the Pendletons. The Pendletons made so many hits they could not be counted. There was an excellent audience, the whole of Yakima turning out to see the home team go down to overwhelming defeat, but there were only moans and tears after the first inning. Hope departed then and not one bit of it returned during the game.

Fred Hartman Won the Honor.

The assembly hall of the public school was crowded Wednesday evening to witness the declamation contest and hear the speakers, who were contending for the right to compete at Whitman College, Walla Walla, Friday evening, against the different schools and academies of three states for honors in a declamatory contest. The speaking was spirited, and those taking part showed strenuous efforts on their part in preparing their pieces. Fred Hartman won the contest and was selected to represent the Pendleton high school at Whitman College. He delivered Rienz's address to the Romans. The judges were Will M. Peterson, R. S. Bryson and R. H. Lloyd. Mr. Peterson was chosen as spokesman for the judges and after the contest was over he gave a 10-minute talk in announcing the decision.

Some Versatile Trees.

The chestnut crop of Italy and France is worth more than £3,000,000 a year, and over 1,500,000 people subsist mainly on chestnut-flour bread. Large areas in Spain and Turkey are covered with the same tree, the wood of which is also valuable. So in the south of Europe the chestnut has claims to be considered the most valuable tree. The same may be said in Brazil of the carnauba-palm, which, if more widely cultivated, would certainly rival the cocoa-palm in usefulness. Its timber has all the properties of the cocoa-palm. From its sap wines and vinegar are made. Its nut is a delicious and wholesome substitute for coffee. The fruit is also useful for feeding cattle. The pulp can be used as sago, and the dried pith is a capital substitute for cork. Of its straw, hats, brooms, baskets and mats are made. Salt can also be extracted from carnauba-leaves. Even the roots of the marvelous tree are valuable. A tonic and blood-purifying medicine is made from them.

Pigeon's Flight.

The remarkable flight of carrier pigeons has recently been exemplified in the case of one of these birds, which alighted in the dooryard of Ransom R. Barnes of Clyde, N. Y., at the noon hour on March 1. Barnes' son, Levan, caught the wanderer, slipped a ring on one of its legs and tied a note to the ring, stating the hour of its arrival and departure from Clyde, and requesting whoever received the pigeon to notify him of the time when received. Mr. Barnes permitted the bird to continue its flight two hours later, and a few days ago received a letter from Mrs. Hazel Cushman of Dalkhart, Texas, stating that the bird had just arrived, making the journey of about 1500 miles in a little less than nine days.

Found His Uncle's Money Buried in His Cellar.

Samuel Taylor, of Yakima City, while engaged in cleaning out an old cellar at his place Monday, unearthed a large sum of money, amounting to about $8000. The money is said to have been placed there for safe keeping by Thomas Jefferson Chambers, an uncle of Mr. Taylor, who is now 70 years old and has a poor memory. He is a pioneer of a quarter of a century, and is a character in his way. He is a devout apostle of Old Hickory, having been born near the Jackson home-stead in Tennessee. Some time ago the old man buried $800, and it was a long time before he could recall where he had buried it. Last winter he offered a lady in Yakima City his cash box, asking her to invest the money. She refused to do it, and it is supposed that he hid it away himself, fearing the banks. Recently he secreted all his money in the cellar in question, and forgot where he put it. Once before Mr. Chambers hid away $6000 in cash, and some men, in digging post holes discovered it and returned it to the owner. A like sum was once dug up near the same place by a man by the name of Adkins. It was in a bottle, and belonged to Joe Bowzer, living near there.
