

DIRECT FROM OLD ENGLAND

We have just received the first direct import order of ever brought to Pendleton. They are made of the finest English bristles, with wax back (a new idea) which makes it impossible for the bristles to come out, as is the case with most brushes. Every brush has our name and guarantee stamped plainly on it, and is not only backed up by ourselves, but the manufacturers as well. Should any brush prove unsatisfactory, a new one will be given in its place or money refunded. They come in hard, medium and soft bristles. Where can you buy a brush like them for the money? We are making a leader of them at 35 CENTS.

REPUBLICAN MISRULE.

State government is costing the people a great deal of money. The republicans responsible for it have spent money, in some instances squandered it, with a free hand. There is no reason for thinking, that, if their power is renewed, there will be any abatement of the burden.

The revenues required for the state during 1902 will reach $1,100,000 and probably the next legislature will be called on to meet a deficiency. The increase in the expenses of state government has been something like $460,000 for one year. This is simply extravagance, a disregard of the advantages of good government economically administered. The republican party is alone responsible for this condition. Those of the party who have held the reins, in no particular have they considered the rights of the people, but have simply looked after the needs and demands of the "graters." They have poured the money of the state into individual pockets. The people have been "worked," and there is no promise that the abuse is to be discontinued.

Should then there be any surprise if the voters should decide to change servants at the polls in June? Surely, the party in power deserves to be turned out and the "stables" they have occupied for so many years, "cleaned out." It is not a bad thing to "clean up" now and then. A change could not increase the burden, and the possibilities are it would greatly reduce it.

Those who pay the taxes are thinking about it from this standpoint. The East Oregonian has heard some of the burden carriers—those who really pay the taxes, though indirectly—talk. They say the republicans in state offices have not done what they should have done, have neglected public duties while looking out for selfish and private interests. There would not exist any cause for wonderment if the voters in all parts of the state decided not to stand for it any longer, and vote against the republican party. Its record in the state justifies the action. There are some signs that portend this result.

THE WATER CURE.

According to the Philadelphia Times, the "water cure" is "as old to the navy as wooden hulls and hemp rigging, and 'the deep-sea sailor calls it 'handy billy wash down.'" It is utilized whenever sailors "come on board" in a drunken and boisterous condition. At such times the sailor's hands are tied behind him and "lashed to a bolt in the deck." The small hand force pump is then brought into action with a nozzleless hose, held close to "Jack's" face, which gives him the "wash down." If that does not quiet him, the stream is turned upon his mouth and the order given to "pump away" until "Jack" decides that he will promise to reform.

Those who have administered the "water cure" in the Philippines should be made to take some of their own medicine; should be convicted of inhuman conduct against a lot of ignorant, barbarous negroes and punished as they punished others.

The fact that a number of men wearing the American uniform, men who were supposed to be civilized, would be such brutes as to torture helpless and irresponsible brown men, descendants of those who had been brutalized by Spanish cruelty for centuries, is something to be ashamed of and not to be excused.

Those of the American army, guilty of such atrocities as are reported from the Philippines, have disgraced their uniforms and placed free America upon a level with the "rotten monarchy" that we succeeded in the Philippines. Men who defend American institutions cannot approve or countenance such conduct for a minute. To do so would be to lower the nation in the scale of civilization and put the American people on a level with the brute creation.

HEAR THE OTHER SIDE.

The Portland Oregonian is widely read in this section of the state and as it presents only one side, and that in a very partisan way, of the political issues now before the people of Oregon, the East Oregonian will, from time to time, quote the editorial matter of the Portland Journal, the new evening paper published in Portland, and which, also, is a republican paper, but not one favoring the same republicans as does the Oregonian. The following articles are from the Journal's editorial pages, under date of May 2:

There is politics and politics. There are always in every campaign some genuine questions engaging public attention. And there are nearly always some feigned issues designed by politicians to divert attention from the real questions. There is a very real question in the campaign of deeper present importance than any party question. It is whether a cabal of politicians by ruling the dominant party shall also rule the state. In Multnomah county it is whether the right of local self-government is to be sacrificed to the ambition of one man for a seat in the United States senate.

The people love to have a voice in their own affairs. They will have it. The republican voters put the control of the party in the hands of the present managers upon the distinct promise that they would abolish machine methods. They never meant to substitute one ring for another. But the promise was broken. The party has passed under the yoke.

Some of the resentment against this ticket is due doubtless to factional antagonism of long standing. But deeper than that, more widespread than that, is the popular instinct that a government far removed from the popular choice cannot be a good government for the people. The Matthews ticket is not a republican ticket. It was not named by the republican party. Its candidates would not have been named by any free election by the republican voters nor in any untrammelled and unpurged republican convention. Not one of the candidates could have got on the ticket without a pledge first given to obey Jack Matthews. These are undisputed facts. They are notorious. In fact, they are justified by the organ of the new ring. To call such a ticket a republican ticket is a misnomer. It is a Jack Matthews' ticket, only that and nothing more.

We use Mr. Matthews' name generically. He stands as the visible representative of a subterranean clique moving in the dark towards a secret and baleful purpose. There is nothing open about it. The only thing we do know is that the ticket was put up to elect some particular person to the United States senate. Jack knows who that is, but he won't tell.

Now the Citizens' ticket is a protest against the ruthless machine.

The people who organized this protest have been maligned and discredited by the machine organ. No citizen who ventures to lift his voice against the machine is exempt from the scorn and abuse of the organ. They are all of the Simon machine.

If this were so—if the people were reduced to the necessity of choosing between machines—is the Matthews machine preferable? The Simon people, at least, fought in the open. They asked no votes on false pretenses. But the Matthews' machine does not do that. It pretended to be the people. It was against machine methods. It was going to give the people a chance. And then, at the very first deal, it turned up Jack from the bottom.

But, unfortunately, the people are not reduced to a choice between machines. The citizens' candidates are unpurged except to the people. They take no orders from Jack Matthews or anybody else. They represent only the protest against a scheme of politics that, if successful, renders the franchise of the people a superfluous privilege.

It is no part of political or party duty of the people to support a ticket they had no hand in nominating. The victory of such a ticket would not be a republican victory. It would be a republican defeat. For it would be the victory of Jack Matthews over the republican party. It would reduce an organization designed to express the will of republican voters to a machine to effect the will of Jack Matthews, and through him the will of the mysterious candidate for United States senator.

This cabal is not only fooling the public; it is fooling its own adherents. They are pledged to an unknown result. They are going it blind. How will it be when the curtain rises for Multnomah republicans to greet the smiling face of the Astoria statesman, Hon. Charles W. Fulton?

Mr. Fulton isn't a bad man, but he is from Astoria. Astoria isn't a bad town, but it wants to bottle up Portland and the Willamette valley. At any rate, if republicans are to vote for Mr. Fulton, they ought to be permitted to do it with their eyes open. Mr. Scott says he is not a candidate, and Mr. Fulton says he himself is. Now if Jack turns down Fulton, whom will he turn up?

There was a time when the republican purpose and policy was in actual danger. In 1896 a republican defeat in Multnomah county meant something. At that time the present candidates and managers of the Matthews party were fighting the republican party. They had a right to do so, because they did not agree with the republican policy and purpose. But what republican policy is in danger now? Is it the ship subsidy bill? Is it the trust differential on sugar? Is it the Chinese sailors on American ships? Is it the danger of a Nicaragua canal? Is it the beef trust? Is it the water cure? Is it Cuban reciprocity that reciprocates with the trusts? These gentlemen set us a good example of independence under honest convictions, no doubt. We take pleasure in following it.

It is probable that at the time of the republican state convention there was a strong demand in Eastern Oregon for the nomination of a candidate from that part of the state. The struggle in the convention was for new blood, new methods, a new element in the saddle. Doubtless the republican candidate won his nomination largely through the strength of this demand, in so far as the rank and file of his party was concerned; also utilizing liberal sums of money in canvassing the counties and in all of the devious ways of the practical politician. After the smoke of battle had cleared away it was found that the victory had been won by no new company of political workers, with the exception that those who gained control had brought forward a new man, one but recently close in the councils of the democratic party and who had aligned himself with the opposition only four years ago.

Apparently a fight between the old and the new, it was in fact but a contest between two old factions, one of which defeated the other, the regular organization, and exercised the power of the stronger, to blast the hopes of the minority for future recognition.

This, then, is the reason why sentiment changed in Eastern Oregon. For that sentiment has changed in favor of the democratic candidate is conceded by the most astute politicians in Oregon. Instead of winning a victory for a gallant young Loch-invar, who rode out of the east, the Eastern Oregon republicans had fought to bolster up the fortunes of a political faction that had existed so long as any man now living can Koeppen's Soda Fountain is again in shape to serve you with delicious soda. A new counter has taken the place of the old one, and a number of changes have been made in order that we can serve soda to better advantage.

WE MOST CORDIALLY INVITE YOU

to come to our fountain and try our delicious soda water. We are serving all the popular drinks of the season. Not every one can make good soda water, any more than every woman can make good pies. However, we've got the knack of making and serving fountain drinks that are simply delicious.

UMA SODA

Of course the most popular drink in Pendleton last year was Uma Soda. If you didn't drink Uma Soda last year you missed something. You want to be sure that you try Uma Soda this season. It's a 5 cent drink, but most people think it as good as many 10 cent drinks. We take great pride in this drink. If you want something really delicious and rich, just invest 5 cents in a drink of Uma Soda.

OUR ICE CREAM

Is the richest and purest that can be had. We get our cream every morning from the creamery at Blue Mountain dairy, near Meacham. We use cream only, and that of the richest kind. We use no milk, eggs, starch, gelatine or filling of any kind in our ice cream, and we don't know of any other firm in the Northwest where they make their ice cream out of cream alone. We believe in using the best and being liberal, giving good measure, heaped up and running over. We want every person, old or young, to have a good word to say about our fountain.

Our Egg Phosphates are popular because the eggs we use in our egg phosphates are always fresh. We have a supply of fresh eggs delivered to us every day.

EVERY ONE TO HIS OWN TASTES

We have all the fruit flavors, ice cream, ice cream soda, ice cream with crushed fruits, phosphates, etc., etc. We always like to know just how each patron prefers his soda water served—whether with little or lots of ice; a great deal or very little syrup. It is no trouble at all for us to accommodate you. Our aim is to please every one, not only with soda, but with all drugs bought of us.
