IN THE SUPREME COURT.

The Court Will Probably Finish the Business Before It at Close of This Week.

The May term of the supreme court will probably end tomorrow evening. By this time all of the 32 cases that were before the court will have been disposed of, and Chief Justice Robert S. Bean and Associate Justices Frank E. Moore and Chas. E. Wolverton, with the attorneys who have been attending the court from different counties can leave for their homes.

Two Cases Only Dismissed.

Out of all the cases before the court only two have been dismissed and the rest, with the exception of the case of G. D. Simmons, plaintiff and respondent vs. The Oregon Railroad & Navigation company, defendant and appellant, is booked for tomorrow. This is a complicated case and will take some time to argue. This is a case where the plaintiff sued the railroad company for damages and was awarded $20,700 by the lower court for injuries received in a freight train collision at Kamela some time ago. The defendants appealed the case and are trying to show that the company should not be responsible for the injury because plaintiff had no business on the train when injured.

The cases argued and submitted today were:

LeClare vs. Thibault.

Edward D. LeClare, plaintiff and respondent, vs. N. H. Thibault and Marie Louise Thibault, defendants and appellants. This case grew out of an action brought to foreclose a mortgage on mining property in Baker county, given by defendants to secure a note for $2000 given to plaintiff. The case was decided in favor of plaintiff in the lower court.

Lowery vs. Sterling et al.

M. A. Lowery, respondent, vs. Henry V. Sterling, Thomas Wade and A. Ferguson, appellants, is the title of a case brought in Union county by respondent to foreclose a mortgage on a note for $2084. This was the last case up today.

THAT ELECTRIC LINE

TWO PROMOTERS TALK FRANCHISE IN PENDLETON.

Promise to Build an Electric Road From Dayton to Pendleton and Have it in Operation in the Next Two Years.

H. Mellma and Frank B. Romo the street railway and electric car line promoters from San Francisco, were in Pendleton last night and had a conference with the city officials and county judge and commissioners regarding a franchise for their electrical road in this county. Nothing definite was done, but the matter of granting a franchise for electrical cars, both in and out of the city, was discussed and Messrs Mellmann and Romo are very enthusiastic over their proposed scheme.

They came from Walla Walla here and interviewed all the towns in the eastern end of the county between here and that city, and report having received good encouragement all along the line.

These promoters claim to have all kinds of capital back of them and will be able to accomplish all they propose if they can get the franchise and rights of way. This is the only thing that is in their way at present, they say, and, if this can be overcome, each town along the line between here and Dayton will not only be supplied with electricity for any use for which it may be wanted, but will connect the neighboring towns with electric car lines that will give quick and economical transportation.

While the scheme of these promoters is a practical one and, perhaps, one that would prove a fortune to the promoters, beside a great help to the country through which the road passed, it is regarded by many as chimerical and not likely to materialize for many years, if ever. The two gentlemen say that if they can get the franchises they will have the road built and in operation within the next two years.
