MILTON'S GREAT DAY

PREPARING FOR PROHIBITION RALLY ON THE 17TH.

John G. Woolley, a Speaker of More Than National Reputation, Will Be Present and Address the Multitude. Milton, May 13.—The Milton people are expecting a great time at the prohibition rally on the 17th instant, when John G. Woolley will speak.

While the O. R. & N. will run no excursion trains, a large number of people are expected on the regular train from Pendleton, Adams, Athena and Weston, and also from Walla Walla.

It is reported here that the prohibitionists are making an active campaign all over the state this year, and several good speakers are in the field. In this county, James A. Tate, national secretary, has spoken at three or four places, and will speak at Weston, May 31st, the last day of the Pioneers' picnic, and in Pendleton on the evening of the same day.

A. J. Hunsaker, candidate for governor, and F. R. Spaulding, candidate for congress, will each make several addresses in the county before election.

In addition to these, the local candidates will make a canvass of the principal places in the county.

Who John G. Woolley Is.

John G. Woolley, who delivers an address at the prohibition rally in Milton on May 17, was born in 1850, in Collinsville, Butler county, Ohio. He was admitted to the bar in the United States supreme court in 1885. He was state's attorney at Minneapolis from 1884 to 1886. In 1888 Mr. Woolley abandoned the practice of his profession to become an agitator for the cause of temperance and prohibition. He had been offered a very desirable position as counsel for a corporation in New York city, but he refused in order to devote himself to his new work. He soon acquired a reputation as a speaker of wonderful power and flexibility of language, and was sought upon all occasions for prohibition and temperance work.

Since 1888 he has, on an average, made a speech a day. In 1893 he spoke 300 nights in succession on "Inalienable Rights" under the auspices of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. In Minneapolis he has spoken for 100 and in New Haven for 30 consecutive nights; he has spoken over 100 times in Boston. In 1892 he went to England to assist in the temperance work of Lady Henry Somerset, and spoke nearly every day for seven months in the cities of England, Scotland and Wales.

Mr. Woolley is now editor in chief of The New Voice, the most influential prohibition paper in the world. He has not, however, given up his platform work, and he continues to reach larger audiences than any other speaker on the same subject.

In the presidential election, in 1900, Messrs Woolley and Metcalf received 208,835 votes, as against 137,007, the prohibition vote in 1896. In 1901 Mr. Woolley made a tour of the world, addressing large audiences in the principal cities on the route.

Although in Mr. Woolley's public addresses there is an entire absence of oratorical effort or art, yet it is doubtful if the words of any public speaker fasten themselves as do his upon the memory. It is impossible to forget what he says. When he met Dr. Frank Gunsaulus a few years ago, the doctor repeated the peroration of Mr. Woolley's graduation speech, which he had chanced to hear 25 years before.

Milton is the only point between Laramie, Wyo., and Spokane, where Mr. Woolley speaks on this trip.

THE NEW BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Dedication Sermon Will Be Delivered by Dr. Alexander Blackburn, of Portland, Sunday, May 25. The accompanying cut is of the First Baptist church, at the corner of Alta and Johnson streets, and shows the church as it is since it was remodeled.

The Baptist church organization is one of the oldest in Pendleton, it having been organized by Rev. W. H. Pruett in 1875, and the church building, which has served the congregation until recently, was built in 1879. J. M. Bentley was one of the trustees at the time the church was erected and he built it, but it was chiefly through the untiring efforts of Rev.

Pruett that the structure was erected at a cost of $2400.

Rev. R. W. King, the present pastor of the church, found the old structure to be inadequate for his congregation and last fall he went to work to raise money among his people to remodel and work over the church. The dimensions of the audience room are much larger than before and are 50x20. It has an adjoining room 30x20 with sliding doors that can be opened and the two rooms thrown into one when occasion demands. On the south side is a Sunday school room, 28x16, and back of the pulpit are two rooms, 10x10. New circular pews have been ordered and will soon be placed in the church. A new carpet is also to go on the floor and the interior, with its new papering and painting, will present a nice appearance when completed. The work of remodeling has cost $1700.

The new church will be dedicated on the evening of the 25th instant. Dr. Alexander Blackburn, pastor of the First Baptist church of Portland, is to preach the dedicatory sermon. Dr. Blackburn will also deliver the memorial sermon in the same church in the morning, instead of Rev. King, as was announced Tuesday.

The Baptist organization now has 130 members.

Local Labor Unions Meet.

A general mass meeting of the local labor unions and those interested, was held at the court house Tuesday evening. Organizer J. H. Buck was unable to be present, but much interest was manifested in the object of the meeting. This announcement is not made for the purpose of getting the labor unions to work to the detriment of the employers, but for the betterment of the laboring class. The local clerks are well organized and their object is to shorten the hours behind the counter, not for an increase in wages.

Notice to Voters.

Registration books will be kept open, at the court house, every evening until 9 o'clock, except Thursday, May 15th, when the books will be closed at 5 p. m., and time for registration ends.

Salem has raised $1000 so far for a Fourth of July celebration.
