GENERAL NEWS.

Naval Conductor Richard P. Hobson, is reported to have been appointed superintending constructor in the shipyard of Lewis Nixon, at Elizabethport. Four government vessels are now in course of construction at the yards.

The will of the late Admiral Sampson leaves everything to the widow save $4000 of a life insurance, which is left for equal division among the four children. The admiral died possessing stocks and other securities valued at $8500, and a tract of land at Manchester, N. H., valued at $10,000.

Close observers in New York believe the volcanic disturbance in the West Indies has reached there. It is particularly noticeable at sunset when a blood-red tinge surrounds the sun. Scientists declare, however, that the disturbance cannot be expected to be noticed to any extent before the end of this month.

Four men were killed and four others were more or less injured in a collision on the Burlington-Billings line, near Lincoln, Neb., Saturday. Those killed were William Ray, Tecumseh, Neb.; W. W. Pitts, Eldorado Springs, Mo.; M. Tuttle, Whitman, Neb.; John Cox, Strong City, Kan. The collision occurred a mile east of Hannin between a Portland-St. Louis flyer, eastbound, and an extra stock train.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS.

The 2-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Merry, fell in the state ditch near Red Pepper school house, near La Grande, and was drowned. The body has not been recovered.

Charles Savage, charged with the larceny of $10,000 worth of diamonds from the Portland hotel in November last, was acquitted by a jury in Portland Saturday.

Baker City's streets are to be lighted by electricity before October 1. At present the streets of that town are not lighted, as the council considered the city too poor to stand the expense.

J. F. Jackson, of Jackson Bros. dairy at Baker City, attempted to commit suicide by taking morphine. At a late hour the doctor reported that the young man would recover. No reason is given for his rash act.

The University of Oregon defeated the University of Washington at Seattle in the third annual intercollegiate debate. The feature of the debate was Allen Heaton's work for Oregon. In logic and eloquence, he surpassed all other speakers.

John R. Johnson, of Drewsey county surveyor of Malheur county committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a revolver. Mr. Johnson was at one time foreman of the Harper ranch for the P. L. S. Co., and was one of the best known men in this section of the state. He brooded over the death of his son from smallpox, about a year ago.

Mrs. Margaret Day, widow of the late Andrew Day, died at St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, of pneumonia. Mrs. Day was a native of Ireland and was 70 years old. She was married on Sullivan's island, the historic site of Fort Moultrie, in 1848. Two sons, Detective Joseph Day, and William Day, of Portland and a daughter, Mrs. Murdock McDonald, of Arlington, survive.

SCORES OREGON CATEMEN.

Pure-Blooded Bulls Recently Sold at Pendleton Should Have Brought Better Prices.

Concerning the recent sale of Hereford cattle at Pendleton, an official of the bureau of animal industry at Portland, says:

"Certain Hereford breeders of Oregon have taken such a narrow view of this importation of Hereford stock to this state that they have decried the quality of animals brought in, and done many things to lessen the prices which they would bring, and as a result 26 bulls, sons of the celebrated Beau Brilliant and grandsons of Beau Brummel, two of the most noted Hereford sires in the United States, have sold in Oregon for an average price of $150, while their half-brothers sold at Sioux City, Ia., for $300 each. Sons of Lamplighter, half-brothers also to many of the bulls that Gudgeon & Simpson shipped to Oregon, sold at Sioux City for $215, and his half-brothers were sold in Oregon for less than $150.

"There is no doubt but that Oregon is benefited by this importation of new blood for the cattle industry, and it is a short-sighted policy for breeders already in the state to try and hold this market for the very limited number of bulls which they can produce simply because they may fear a restriction in their own sales. The stock of Iowa today includes more pure-blooded cattle than that of any other one state in the Union, and the price of pure-blooded bulls and heifers brought into that state from other sources is 25 per cent. higher than anywhere else, because Iowa has learned what Oregon must learn--that pure blood shows in the offspring and increases the price received at the market for either butcher or dairy stock."

FULTON FOR SENATOR.

This Has Been Agreed Upon by the Powers That be No Matter Whom the People Want.

Chairman Lewis, who presided over the republican club rally last Saturday evening, entered the chamber of commerce building Wednesday afternoon and was standing by the elevator with a group of gentlemen who were waiting to ascend to an upper story, says the Portland Journal. One of these gentlemen was a democrat, none other than Charles Schnabel, who remained tridurduuNifw, bel, who remarked to the group:

"Here comes the gentleman who thought he was introducing the next United States senator to an audience on Saturday night, when he presented Charles W. Fulton, of Astoria, as one of the speakers."

"You bet," said Mr. Lewis, "that's what I was doing. Charles W. Fulton is going to be the next United States senator from Oregon."

"Now Lewis, you don't really mean that, do you?"

"I certainly do," said Mr. Lewis "because that is what I understand to be the program of the republican management."

A gentleman, very prominent in the management of the republican campaign was standing by a cigar case a dozen feet away and heard the conversation. His face turned more colors and shades than are displayed in an aurora borealis, and he was apparently trying to hypnotize the indiscreet Mr. Lewis by looking at him in thunders of wrath and attempting to attract his attention in order that he might stop the erstwhile chairman from talking too much. But just then the elevator came down and they all entered it, the door was closed and the elevator boy pulled the lever.

It is claimed Mr. Lewis later held a heated session at the republican headquarters, where he was instructed more particularly in the art of politics than ever before during his long and eventful career.

DATE OF WOOL SALE.

Set for May 29 and 30 and June 16 and 17 at Pendleton.

May 29 and 30 and June 16 and 17 are the official dates when the members of the Oregon Woolgrowers' Association will offer their wool for sale in Pendleton under the auspices of the association. Each year this association arranges dates at various wool centers where the members congregate to meet buyers, with the advantage of having the association behind them in the deal. This year the dates are as follows: Pendleton, May 29 and 30; Heppner, June 4 and 5; The Dalles, June 9 and 10; Shaniko, June 12 and 13; Pendleton, June 16 and 17; The Dalles, June 20 and 21; Heppner, June 25 and 26; Shaniko, June 30.

The wool market has not been particularly active so far, less active than in former years. It is said that the American Woolen Company strike has caused little demand in the East, and has partially paralyzed the immediate market. The American Woolen Company handles half of the wool output of the United States with the result that the strike easily affects Western conditions. Both sheep men and buyers have been somewhat conservative in consequence, though the woolen mills here have been buying quite extensively.

GOVERNMENT BY KING.

There is a Deficit of $225,000,000 in the Budget.

Kink Edward's government finds itself facing a deficit of more than $225,000,000 in the budget for 1902-1903. To meet this it is proposed to increase the bitter burden of taxation by imposing an import duty on wheat and flour and by a loan of $30,000,000. This desire to tax wheat is alone sufficient to enrage the common people, who pay the war taxes, but, as if to increase their anger over the startling cost of the Boer conflict, as given by Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, there comes simultaneously news of fresh battles in South Africa, with heavy losses to the British and in one case a disaster. Sir Michael presented the budget statement to the house of commons and gave the objects of expenditures as well as the objects of revenue as the Boer war in the last three years had cost $825,170,000. He estimated the grand total of expenditures for the coming year at $965,545,000. On the present basis of taxation there was no way to raise more than $740,000,000, hence the absolute necessity of the tax on the necessities of life.
