from Fort de France and flashes fol-

SWITZLER FAMILY REUNION.

Forty of Them Gather at the Wirt Nye Place Near Vancouver, Wash.
Some forty of the descendants of John Switzler, one of the earliest pioneers of the northwest, gathered Sunday in the large home on the Wirt Nye donation land claim, about a mile above Vancouver, Washington and enjoyed a day together that they will long remember. The old house in which they assembled was built in 1858 by Wirt Nye, who married the "eldest daughter of John Switzler. Both families crossed the plains to this country in 1845, and John Switzler took up a donation land claim in Oregon on the Columbia river, just opposite Vancouver.
For many years he ran a small ferry between Vancouver and the Oregon side.

The gathering Sunday was largely made up of the five Nye girls and children, the direct descendants of Wirt Nye, and the daughter of John Switzler. The Nye sisters, who were gathered in the old house in which the gathering was held are Mrs. Jacob Proebstel, of Portland; Mrs. M. W.
Johns, of Athena, Oregon; and Mrs.
S. D. Durgan, Mrs. W. C. Durgan and Mrs. A. J. Proebstel, of this county.
A. W. Nye and family of Pendleton, Edward Switzler, of Pendleton, John and Jehu Switzler of Umatilla county are descendants of John Switzler, but were not present at the re-union.

Another "Fad" Disease.

"Tenosynovitis" is the name of a brand new disease which is said to result from the excessive strain on the muscles of one leg consequent upon over indulgence in the new game of ping pong. It is gaining ground rapidly in this country and apropos thereof the San Francisco Call remarks that "first you ping, and then you pong, and then you pungle—for the doctor."

COLONEL JAMES H. RALEY.

Democratic Nominee for Attorney General of the State of Oregon.

James H. Raley was born in Nebraska City in what was then the Territory of Nebraska, on January 10, 1855, and resided with his parents, Jonathan and Rachel Raley, in Nebraska, until the spring of 1862, when the entire family emigrated to Oregon, crossing the plains by teams and arriving at The Dalles in October of the same year. The following winter was spent in Portland, and in the spring of 1864 the family came to Umatilla county, locating first about one mile below the present site of Pendleton. Mr. Raley's education was obtained from the common schools of Umatilla county, supplemented by a brief course at the State University of Oregon. His boyhood pursuits were chiefly stockraising and assisting his father on the farm, during all of which time, however, he was a close student of books.

Very soon after attaining his majority, he was elected county surveyor of Umatilla county, and then was elected to a second term. This was his first advent into politics, since which time he has filled many important offices of trust. He was elected one of the first councilmen of the city of Pendleton, and afterwards was elected mayor of the city, both of which offices he filled with credit to himself and great satisfaction to his constituents. He served eight years in the state senate of Oregon, and is the author of the irrigation law of this state, which bears his name. He is also the author of the bill creating the Eastern Oregon State Normal School, and has been one of the regents of that institution since it was founded. During his legislative career, he ranked as one of the ablest members of the senate.

He was a delegate to the national democratic convention in Kansas City in 1890. He was admitted to the bar in 1885, and is one of the prominent attorneys in the state, and has been most successful in practice and is at present vice-president of the Oregon Bar Association.

In 1879 Mr. Raley was united in marriage with Minnie A. Pruett, and is blessed with three daughters and one son. His friends are legion.

American colony tomorrow.

The announcement a few weeks ago of Miss Holman's engagement to Mr. Moross created something of a sensation, as it came so soon after it had become known that the troth between the young Indiana girl and Signor Marconi had been broken.
Mr. Moross is well known in this city, having paid several long visits here during the last few years. He is the only son of a wealthy business man of Budapest, and has been a great traveler. He is about 30 years of age, handsome, accomplished and a man of charming manners. On his latest visit to America he was the guest of E. R. Merritt, of this city, a

THREE CENTS MILE

King of Railroads Harriman Decrees That the Fare Shall Be the Same on All Roads

FOUND GOLD WITHIN CITY LIMITS OF ASHLAND.

The Strike of Union Workmen in Portland Has Stagnated Business—Plan of Wool Auction Sales at Baker—The Divine Healer Appears.

Portland, May 21.—E. H. Harriman announces that he would reduce fares on all lines in Oregon to three cents a mile, the same as in effect on the Northern Pacific, O. R. & N. and to go into effect very soon. He left this morning over the O. R. & N. for up the Columbia on a tour of inspection of the line.

Strikers Number 2500.

Portland, May 21.—Twenty-five hundred members of the building trades obeyed the orders of the federated trades this morning and refused to go to work in order to assist the planing mill workers now out for a nine-hour day.

The Strike in Portland.

The general strike of union workingmen in Portland is on. On account of it business in many lines is tied up and suffering badly already.
Planing mill men show no signs of weakening. Two mills are closed and three are running with non-union men. The proprietors of these three mills issued a statement showing they paid higher wages than the other mills and that the mills affected by the strike are in competition with the 10 hour saw mills and the sash and door factories on Puget Sound and throughout the states of Washington, Idaho, Montana and Utah and in competition with all of the stock factories of California in the trade of Southern Oregon, South-rado, as well as in competition with the stock factories of Dubuque, Oshkosh, Minneapolis and other Eastern manufacturing centers. The union denies these statements.
