FELL DOWN A MINE SHAFT

W. C. WOODCOCK KILLED AT GOLCONDA MINE

He Stood Near the Mouth of the Shaft and His Knees Seemed to Give Way and he Pitched Headforemost into the Shaft, Falling 100 Feet.

W. C. Woodcock, a miner employed at the Golconda mine near Bourne, was instantly killed in falling down the shaft at the property, at 12 o'clock Monday night. Justice of the Peace Felix, of Sumpter, held an inquest over the remains Tuesday and the return of the jury was that the deceased had met an accidental death, the result of his own carelessness.

Woodcock was at work on the 400 foot level with a machine drill. The bell sounded at midnight, the signal for the night shift to go above for lunch. Woodcock walked to the shaft and contrary to the rules of the mine, raised the bar and stood there after having given the signal for the bucket to descend. His fellow workmen state that he stood there but a short time when his knees seem to have become weak and he pitched headlong down the shaft, a distance of 100 feet.

Relatives of the dead miner reside at Meady, Clackamas county, and have been notified of the death. No disposition of the remains will be made until relatives of the deceased are heard from. Woodcock is said to have been married, but separated from his wife who is now living in the western part of the state. He was a member in good standing of Lawton Lodge Knights of Pythias and of the Woodman and Masonic orders at Woodburn, this state.

COMMENCE AT ONCE.

Harriman Says Construction on Lewiston-Riparia Road Will Soon Begin.

Work on the Lewiston-Riparia railway will be commenced by the Harriman-Mellen combination just as soon as material can be got on the ground and within a few months the people of the section tapped by the proposed new line will have transportation facilities which will put the present slow river steamers out of business.

At least that is the important announcement made by President E. H. Harriman, of the O. R. & N., when he passed through the city Wednesday evening, accompanied by a party of prominent railway officials, including President C. S. Mellen, of the Northern Pacific.

When seen by a reporter while his special was at the Pendleton depot, Mr. Harriman, who is an enthusiastic railway man, immediately began talking of the affairs of his lines. He spoke of many betterments on the O. R. & N. and said that the greater part of the earnings were going into improvements and new equipment.

Asked as to further building and extensions, he said:

The papers and the people have been demanding the Clearwater line, which will give the people of that section an outlet this way to Portland; so, Mr. Mellen and I have concluded to give it to you, and shall build the Lewiston-Riparia road and use it jointly, the Northern Pacific getting access to its lines by using our track to Wallula. Work will begin just as soon as material can be put on the ground."

SUCCESSFUL BUILDER.

A Pendleton Man's Work is Appreciated at Heppner; Frank Duprat is Kept Busy.

Frank Duprat, the well known Pendleton stone mason, has constructed several buildings in Heppner and his work has given great satisfaction. Mr. Duprat went to Heppner first in July, 1901, and in the next several months built a stone saloon building with a hall overhead, size 33x90, two stories, for Kenney & Roberts, at a cost of about $9,000 and immediately after completing it began the construction of a stone building, 67x90, for the Odd Fellows. His work was so well performed that his reputation as a builder was established.

The Odd Fellows' building, constructed by Mr. Duprat, is a very handsome one, costing $20,000. It is constructed of native rock, quarried at Heppner, trimmed with red rock from Elgin, Union county, being, it is said, the finest building in Eastern Oregon.

Last March Mr. Duprat went to Heppner again and secured the contract for building a stone retaining wall around the court house grounds, which is now completed and a fine piece of work. In the past few days he was awarded a contract for the stone and iron work on the new court house in Heppner a structure which will cost between $35,000 and $40,000. The court house will also be of native rock, trimmed with sand stone from near La Grande. It will be 80 feet in height, from the basement floor to the top of the tower and with Frank Duprat's fine workmanship will be a structure of which the people of Morrow county will be very proud.

The Standard Grocery Company feel highly elated at the success of their strictly cash trading plan.
