GENERAL NEWS.

Alfred S. Moore, of Beaver, Pa., has been nominated by the president for judge of the second district of Alaska, to succeed Judge Noyes.

Henry J. Crocker, of San Francisco, has commenced action against his son, William H. Crocker, for $89,475, which amount he claims the boy robbed him of in a stock deal.

A temporary injunction has been issued by Judge Hall, of Utah, preventing the Oregon Short Line from constructing its tracks on certain streets in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Judge George P. Andrews, of the New York supreme court, was stricken with apoplexy last Friday and his recovery is believed to be impossible. Judge Andrews has been on the bench 20 years.

Because he wrote "indignant old women," instead of "indegent old women," a bequest of $60,000 left by millionaire E. L. McDonnell, of Muskegon, Mich., for the establishment of a home for indigent old women at Fairmount, Ind., may not be paid over.

Thinking to frighten his wife, who had hidden from him in a small out-building, Corporal Smoke, of the Ninth Artillery, band at Fort Riley, Kan., poured gasoline on the steps and ignited it. The flames were drawn under the door and the woman burned to death.

The children of the late James G. Fair are at last in possession of his vast estate, the last of the deeds to property having been handed over by the executors on Wednesday. The value of the property turned over then was $7,000,000, the entire estate amounting to about $18,000,000.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS.

State Fish Warden Van Dusen has reported in favor of Wilson river over the Trask river as a location for salmon cultural work.

The steamer George W. Elder, overdue from San Francisco, has arrived safe in port, after one of the roughest trips she ever had.

The Northern Pacific announces that it will expend $780,000 immediately upon the betterment of its tracks between Portland and Ellensburg.

Rabbi J. Bloch, formerly of the Temple Beth Israel, Portland, has been unanimously selected as pastor of the congregation Emanu-El, at Spokane.

A deed was filed for record at Astoria Wednesday, whereby Willis H. Gilbert, of Portland, sells to the Street Lumber Company over 4400 acres of timber lands in the Nehalem valley.

The proposed ordinance levying a 2-mill tax on the city of Portland to assist in financing the Lewis and Clark exposition, has been pronounced illegal and will not be submitted to the voters.

Sixty taxpayers of Monmouth, Or., have held a mass meeting and requested the withdrawal of the road-master from their districts, believing that they can manage their own road work better.

Attorney-General Stratton, of Washington, has decided that the sales of land for taxes recently made in Lewis county, that state, were illegal and the state must now reimburse the owners of the lands sold.

GENTRY BROS' SHOW.

Coming to Pendleton on Tuesday, May 27.

Again will the children be tickled. Gentry Brother's Famous New Eastern show will exhibit here next Tuesday, May 27, and all the children are busy getting their pennies together for the event. Gentry Bros. have exhibited here every single year for the past five years and each performance has been better than the one that preceded it. The show this year promises to be par excellent, many new features having been added since last we saw it.

The great street parade on the morning of the show will be a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Let the children see it. There will be two performances each day afternoon and evening. The little folks should all go and ditto the big folks.

Remember the date, May 27.

TO RUSTLE FAIR FUNDS.

Local Committee Appointed to Assist Lewis and Clark Exposition.

On the evening of May 15, when representatives of the Lewis and Clark fair were in Pendleton and met the Commercial Club, arrangements were made for Mayor T. G. Halley to appoint five men as a committee to raise a stock subscription fund in Pendleton and Umatilla county for the fair. Mr. Halley has appointed the following on this committee, to work in conjunction with himself: T. C. Taylor, Frank B. Clopton, C. S. Jackson, Leon Cohen and Joe Basler. They will meet at the Commercial rooms Saturday night to perfect plans.

IT IS A TERRIBLE TALE

STORY OF SURVIVOR OF RORAIMA DISASTER.

Vivid Description of the Horrors of the Martinique Eruption by a Man Who Was on the Ill-fated Vessel.

New York, May 23.—The steamer Korena has arrived from Fort de France, Martinique, having on board two survivors of the steamer Roraima, lost in the St. Pierre disaster. Ellery Scott, chief officer of the ill-fated vessel, and Charles Thompson, assistant purser. From Scott, on the way up, the captain of the Korena heard the tale of the terrible experiences of the Roraima in all its horrible details.

The Roraima got into harbor at St. Pierre about 6:30 a. m., on the 8th and about 8 or 8:30 o'clock there came from the mountain a terrible explosion, followed instantly by a rain of fire and hot mud. Captain Muggah, standing upon the bridge, shouted, "Heave away quickly, and get up the anchor."

They had taken in but a few fathoms of chain when a huge stream of fiery lava raced down the mountain side and into the bay, shoving the waters of the harbor back and hurling the Roraima on her side.

The rush of water cleared the ship's deck, taking her deck works, boats, and bulwarks all overboard. Scott saw Captain Muggah swept away with the wreckage of the bridge and leaped from the fore-castle head to his assistance, but was immediately dashed to the deck and trampled under foot by the crew in their mad rush for safety.

But for the action of two colored steerage passengers he would have perished with the others, burned to death by the lava which poured in on the vessel's deck, but these men seized him and dragged him into the steerage, where by wrapping blankets around their heads they succeeded in escaping serious injury.

Meanwhile Thompson, the other officer who was saved, reached his room from the deck, where he had been when the first outbreak came and closed the door until the worst was over. An open ventilator allowed the flames to reach him, however, and he was badly burned about the neck and lost one ear. The survivors eventually gathered in the steerage and joined in fighting back the flames until taken off by the French cruiser Souchet.

Scott said that when Captain Muggah was carried away, Daniels, the ship's cooper, jumped overboard, seized upon the body and dragged him upon a hatch cover which was floating near by. He desisted, however, when he saw that the captain's chest and abdomen were torn away as though cut with a knife, left the body on the hatch, swam back to the ship and helped fight the fire.

FRATERNAL INSURANCE.

Insurance Commission of Connecticut Reports Adversely on It.

Hartford, Conn., May 23.—Much interest has been aroused in the report of State Insurance Commissioner E. L. Schofield relative to secret or fraternal society insurance. The Commissioner takes a decidedly pessimistic view of the matter, and his statements attract all the more attention as Connecticut has long been regarded as a banner state for nearly every fraternal insurance organization in America. The report says that, while the increase in assets and decrease in liabilities in 1901 over 1900 would be taken to indicate a prosperous condition of the organizations, where reference is had to the increase in expense as compared with the increase in membership and the amount paid for death claims, satisfactory conditions are not manifest. It would seem that the time is at hand, the report continues, when some very decided move should be made to reduce the expenses, and that careful thought should be given to the increases in the mortality experienced.

Torturing Disfiguring Humors

Itching, Burning, and Scaly Eruptions of the Skin and Scalp with loss of Hair Complete External and Internal Treatment by CUTICURA The Set $1.25

Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP (25c.), to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA Ointment (50c.), to instantly allay itching, irritation, and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT (50c.), to cool and cleanse the blood. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring skin, scalp, and blood humors, rashes, itching, and irritations, with loss of hair, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail.

Grove, have been for a cessation of rain. These prayers have been answered and after four days of rain, mud and disagreeable weather, the sun has again come out, driven away the gloom and the people on the camp ground are happy.

At the business meeting Thursday, the committee brought in their report and the following were appointed on the executive committee for the ensuing year: Elder A. J. Breed, of College Place, president; T. L. Ragsdale, of College Place, secretary and treasurer; J. A. Holbrook, J. M. Willoughby, C. C. Lewis, W. H. Saxby, J. W. Posey and J. L. Kay are the other members. This committee has charge of the appointing of all other officers of the conference, who have not already been appointed, and these appointments will be made before the meetings close Sunday night.

The services Thursday afternoon were conducted by Elder Corliss, who preached a very interesting sermon on the "Righteousness of Christ." Following this address, H. H. Hall, of Oakland, Cal., who has charge of the subscription book department, gave a talk about his work. Evening services were conducted by Elder W. T. Knox, beginning at 7:45. The subject of this discourse was "The Everlasting Covenant," and for nearly an hour he held the attention of his hearers with a very forceful address.

Notes.

People are still coming in to attend the meetings and will continue to come until Sunday, while a few have left for their homes or gone to other places of work. Last night Elder Corliss and Elder Knox left for Portland to be at the North Pacific conference and camp meeting, which opened in Portland Thursday evening.

Professor C. C. Lewis, of Keene, Texas, arrived last night and is taking part in the business of the conference today. Professor Lewis succeeds Professor Stewart at the head of the college at College Place.
