ON THE DIAMOND

INDIANS EASILY TOOK DAYTON'S DUSTERS INTO CAMP

Visitors Played Good Ball But Were Unfortunate at Critical Periods and Went Down in Defeat After a Gamey Struggle.

Pendleton, 21.
Dayton, 2.

The above was the score of the Pendleton-Dayton baseball game on the local diamond Sunday afternoon.

When the new pitcher, E. P. Hayes, was turned into the diamond he "didn't do a thing" to the Dusters, and from the time he twisted his first ball over the home plate to the last of the game he kept the enemy guessing where the horsehide was going to be when they struck at it and the Dayton players fanned the air more than anything else. To make a long story short, the Dusters could not land on Hayes at all and they lost hope in the first inning.

When Egan, Dayton's heavy slugger, went to the bat for Dayton first he did not imagine that the lad in the box would be able to stay with the game, but when he fanned the air three times in quick succession, he looked around in amazement. Thompson and Edwards followed him and went down in the same short order. Brown, first up for Pendleton, went to first and Fay followed but went out on a fly. Knox and Clemens followed Fay's lead and Brown died on the way to second.

Arneson was the first at the bat in the second for Dayton. He hit a grounder out toward first base and was put out. Phillips and Wickersham followed and fanned. Pendleton came to the bat with Stovall first and he took first base, being hit with the ball by McGucken. Schmidt died on second and Wilner went out trying to make first.

In the third McGucken, Bigelow and Bade fanned and Rhea was first up for Pendleton. He made a vain effort to reach first on a grounder to short stop. Brown fanned. Then Fay went to bat and made a tally. Knox got to first; then to second on Clemens' two-bagger. Stovall and Schmidt following, brought Clemens home and each made a tally themselves.

In the fourth Dayton put Thompson to the bat and he went down and out without leaving the home plate. Edwards followed and got a pass to first on balls and stole second. Arneson brought Edward home. Phillips fanned. Pendleton made nothing in this inning, the boys going down in a fan for Hayes, out attempting to reach first on infielder's choice for Rhea and Brown.

Wickersham fanned in the fifth, McGucken and Bigelow died at first. Knox led off for Pendleton with a two-bagger. Clemens and Stovall landed and brought "Dicker" home and crossed the plate themselves. Schmidt fanned. Wilner followed with a two-bagger and was brought home by Rhea and Hayes.

In the sixth, Bade and Egan each got started around but died without a tally and Thompson and Edwards fanned. Here the Dusters changed pitchers, placing Phillips on the slab in place of McGucken. Fay was first up and was put out going to first on an infield grounder. Knox and Clemens fanned.

Arneson was put out in the seventh by Stovall, on second, who made a sensational run and caught a foul fly. Phillips and Wickersham fanned again. Stovall died on first, Schmidt Wilner, Hayes and Brown followed with a tally each while Rhea fanned and Fay was put out on a fly.

Biglow, Bade and Egan, for Dayton, died attempting to get to first. Knox, Clemens, Schmidt, Wilner, Hayes, Rhea, Brown and Fay, each made a tally.

Thompson crossed the home plate for Dayton in the ninth, making their score run up to 2 and Pendleton did not go to bat again.

How It Happened Saturday.

Bob Wilner, on Saturday, gave ample answer to the question which has been frequently asked in Pendleton of late: "Can Wilner pitch a game of ball?" by putting up the best game he has played since he came to the city. During the nine innings he struck out 12 men, only had six safe hits made off him and walked but one man. His support, too, was the best he has had for some time, and withal, the local boys did themselves proud throughout the game.

Despite the score of 5 to 0 in favor of the Indians, the Saturday contest was among the snappiest and liveliest seen on the Alta grounds for many moons. Both teams were on their mettle and plays were made during the game which brought cheers for the performers regardless of which team they were playing with.

It was a great exhibition of close, snappy field work and one which should make the visitors as well as the locals proud of their team work.

The Dayton boys were determined to retrieve their defeat of the day before and played like demons, but could not make good at critical periods, while at the same time playing out of luck at points in the game where a bit of good fortune would have come handy.

Through nine straight goose-eggs, the crowd stayed to the finish and hoped against hope that Dayton's ill luck would leave them long enough to let one man cross the home plate but fate had decreed otherwise and although the Dusters managed to fill the bases they stopped there and by an unfortunate combination of evil circumstances, and first-class ball playing at critical times the Indians, they failed to advance anyone beyond the final bag.

Following is the score by Innings:

Notes of the game.

Baseball is a queer proposition. After beating the local boys on their home grounds, the Colfax ball team went from Pendleton to La Grande confidently expecting to eat the team of that place whole. They went down to defeat, however, in two of the most remarkable games ever played on the La Grande grounds, the score being respectively 31 to 2, and 28 to 8 in favor of La Grande. This is something extraordinary as the Beet Pullers were considered an easy thing for nearly every team they had yet gone against.

At Athena Sunday, the Walla Walla team was beaten by the Yellow Kids by a score of 1 to 0, the winning run
