PENDLETON

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11, 1902.

Men who have the least charity for others need the most for themselves and they are the first to cry out at the lack of it in others when they are in a position to feel the need of it.

The trusts are all at work and Mark Hanna is talked of for president, while the Ohio republicans, in state convention, put a strong anti-trust plank in their platform, modeled after Hanna's idea of reforming the trusts. The world do move! Hanna is a man whom the people can trust!

General Leonard Wood pulled the flag down in Cuba, but when the same thing is proposed to be done in the Philippines there are a lot of people who rise up in apparent if not assumed indignation and wrath. There are those who will persist in making a mountain out of a mole hill and vice versa.

George F. Hoar, republican United States senator, in a speech in the senate on May 22, invited the American people to gaze upon these two pictures: No. 1, "In Cuba you have got the external gratitude of a free people." No. 2, "In the Philippines you have got the hatred and sullen submission of a subjugated people." Senator Hoar is not a bad artist when it comes to word painting.

President Roosevelt's memorial speech appears to have contained a "crown of thorns" to some people. It did contain some things that would have been better if left unsaid. President Roosevelt's strenuousness is not as popular in office as it was out of office. He is just a little too positive to be always right, and just a little too partisan to be president of the whole people. President Roosevelt will have to take a reef in his enthusiasm as well as his strenuousness if he wishes to be renominated and succeed himself.

Ex-President Grover Cleveland has accepted an invitation to speak at the opening of the new Tilden Club on June 19th. There will be 1500 invited guests, among them David B. Hill, William J. Bryan and Richard Olney. This will be Mr. Cleveland's first political speech since his retirement from the presidential office. This is to be a notable gathering of democrats of all shades of political belief and is taken as an effort to harmonize the various discordant elements of the party in order to properly prepare for the battle of 1904.

One of the curious freaks of the intense heat that swept down upon Martinique is stated in the report of one who visited one of the ruined buildings in which were found a number of glasses that had been fused, twisted and flattened, but the wooden shelf on which they rested was not charred. In another place there were found a doll and a small table set of metal plates; the metal was fused, but the body of the doll was not burned. Just how such things occurred is one of the problems that science will have to work at for a long time before it finds the solution.

Bishop Thoburn recently gave testimony before the Philippine commission of the senate, and in the course of his remarks declared that God was responsible for the acquisition of the Philippines by the United States, and that our continued occupancy of the was rendered savage by want of a good steak or juicy chop. The wife seems to have agreed with the husband, for she is reported to have told the court that all went well until it became impossible for them to have meat on the table regularly, and they had become vegetarians. This didn't suit her husband, and she affirmed that he began to complain of other things around the house of which he had not before found fault and that finally, last week, he beat her. She was so injured that she had to take to her bed.

How many other domestic troubles as well as riots has been caused by the unaccustomed eating of vegetables it would be impossible to say. Enough is known, however, to make it certain that vegetarianism seems to generate a kind of Pelee disturbance in the East, and there is no telling what dangerous eruptions may occur unless relief be promptly found.

PINGREE TO JOHNSON.

This unhappy close of the Boer struggle recalls the fact that the late Gov. Pingree, of Michigan, that great democratic-republican, who died about a year ago, made a pilgrimage to South Africa. He died while on his road home. It is not so well known that he completed a book on his experience and observations in which he protested against the British war of conquest. The manuscript of this book was delivered last month, so says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, to Tom L. Johnson, Gov. Pingree's intimate friend. It was sent, continues the Plain Dealer by Mrs. Pingree in accordance with the wish of her dead husband. The tribute of Mr. Pingree's esteem was received just a year and a day after its dedication in the waters of the Atlantic. It had been given to Gov. Pingree's intention personally to deliver the manuscript to his friend on his return to America, but he was destined never again to set foot on his native land. Mayor Johnson was deeply affected when he received the manuscript. It was almost a voice from the dead. Gov. Pingree and Mr. Johnson had many ideas in common and grew to be sincere friends during the mayor's stay in Detroit. The dedication of the book, however, was a surprise to Mr. Johnson.

As reproduced in the Plain Dealer the dedication is as follows:

To my friend, Tom L. Johnson, the unbending foe of inequality, that champion of honest government, of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, I dedicate as a token of sincere esteem this story of an oppressed and outraged people against terrific odds for freedom and civic unity.

The admirers of both of these men as well as all sympathizers with the Boers in their ill-fated struggle, cannot but be interested in this impressive testimony to the common aspirations for human liberty of two such distinguished characters, who though of opposite parties in politics, were bound together in the same fundamental political faith.

THE VEGETARIAN EAST.

Our eastern friends have not yet become absolute vegetarians, but it looks as if they were being driven in that direction by forces sufficiently powerful to land them before long. These forces are various and not all of them are operating in the same locality, but they mutually strengthen one another and make a mighty tumult for meat eaters.

In the first place there is the beef trust, whose operations have disturbed a good many people. Next is the rise in the price of beef, which whether caused by the trust or not has forced a considerable number of people to prefer to dine without eating flesh. Then in Chicago there is the strike among the teamsters who have been doing the hauling for the stockyards and packers, and there is danger that no meat will be hauled for the hungry even if they have the price and are willing to pay it.

It is in the tenement districts of the larger cities on the Atlantic seaboard that the trouble is most perplexing. A powerful element of the tenement population has declared war against the "meat trust," as it is called, and has undertaken to suppress the sale of fresh meats by the butchers.

Eastern papers are full of accounts of riots along the whole line from Massachusetts to New Jersey. Recently in the Williamsburg district of New York 800 men and women marched through the streets for the purpose of attacking the shops of butchers who refused to stop selling meat. Similar riots have occurred in Boston, Brooklyn and Newark. The leaders of the riots are Hebrews but men and women of other races join them when the rioting gets live.

Some of the effects of the lack of meat are surprising. A prisoner before a Newark police court on a charge of beating his wife sought to justify the offense by saying he develop sometimes from very trifling causes, and when and where you would least expect them. A boil, or abscess, burn, blister, wart, tumor, mole, or the simplest little sore may be the beginning point of a malignant, frightful looking Cancerous Ulcer.

Apparently there is no difference between a Cancerous and Common Ulcer in that they first make their appearance, and for this reason every ulcer, no matter how insignificant or harmless it may seem, and all slow healing sores should excite suspicion and alarm, particularly if any of your ancestors ever had Cancer, or you have good reason to think your blood is impure; for the sore, after all, is only the outgrowth, the external evidence of polluted blood, and nothing can check its progress until the cancerous vitiated blood has been purified. All efforts to heal the ulcer by means of salves or external remedies will result in failure, for such treatment can have no possible effect upon the deadly germs and morbid matter that form in the blood and are carried through circulation to the sore.

A SMALL SORE CAME ON THE WOULD SCAB OVER, BUT HEAL.

Mr. Jno. Massie, Owensboro, Ky., "About three years ago a blister came on the right side of my nose. It grew steadily in spite of all efforts to heal it up; the pain was not very severe at first, but increased when the sore began to inflame and discharge matter. At times the place would scab over and appear to be getting well, but the scab would drop off, leaving a red, angry looking ulcer. I had almost despaired of curing the Cancer when my doctor called to S. S. S. and after a few bottles the Cancer began to grow smaller, the discharge stopped. I was relieved of the terrible disease."

W. P. BROWN,
Mrs. JAMES CASSELL.

About the first of February, 1899, I noticed a small lump on the inside of my lower lip. It annoyed me considerably, the doctor cauterized it and in a few days it dropped off, but shortly after another came and broke into an open sore, and in spite of the large number of remedies I tried, it would not heal. I then went to another, and he gave me something to put on the sore, saying if it did not cure he would cut the sore out. I used his medicine, but received no benefit. I decided a blood purifier was what I needed, and began to take S. S. S. The ulcer was growing rapidly, with some pain and a crawling, creeping feeling. At first S. S. S. seemed to make the sore worse, but this soon changed, and after I had taken seven bottles the place healed entirely; my general health improved and I am as well now as ever and no signs of the disease have been seen since.

Holland, S. C.

SSS

Cancerous Ulcers can be reached only by a remedy that acts upon and through the blood system, and this is just what S. S. S. does. It goes to the fountain head of the disease and drives out the germs producing poisons which cause the ulcer, and purifies and builds up again the deteriorated blood. This is the only true medical treatment for sores of this character.

By the use of S. S. S. the ulcer is supplied with pure, strong blood, which quickly allays the inflammation and forces out all the irritating poisons, and allows the sore to heal naturally and permanently. S. S. S. also as a tonic, and where the constitution has been debilitated and weakened, it restores vitality and strengthens the nervous system, and the appetite and digestion. S. S. S. contains no Mercury, Potash or other minerals, but is a purely vegetable.

Those having a chronic ulcer or sore of any kind that is slow in healing, whether located upon the body or internally, will receive medical advice and such special information as they desire free of cost. Book on Cancer and Other Diseases of the Blood sent free.
