REPORTERS WITH MUZZLES

THAT IS WHAT THE UMPIRE WOULD LIKE.

Mr. Maskrey Objects to Criticisms of His Umpiring and Says His Cup is Full to the Brim With Wormwood.

Pendleton, June 12.—To the Managing Editor of the East Oregonian:—Dear Sir:—In the account of the game of baseball of Tuesday, played between the Berkley and Pendleton teams, your reporter saw fit to make the following statement:

"A feature of the performance was the umpiring, which was something fierce, the rotten decisions being about equally divided, however."

You will no doubt agree with me that the position of umpire in a game of baseball between two crack teams is no sinecure. As the umpire upon the above occasion, I believe I have the right to differ in my opinion from that expressed by your reporter. I do not believe that the statements he made are true, and I do not like his dictation.

A writer who has no better vocabulary should devote his time to the study of the English language instead of to the criticism of umpiring. If he has no more thorough knowledge of what is fair umpiring than he has of clothing his ideas in words, he should hesitate to make such rash statements, or well-informed ladies and gentlemen will be led to believe that he has written his criticism in accordance with the sentiment of the adage that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

This thing of a reporter of a newspaper acting as judge, jury and executioner in a matter of this kind is scarcely the correct form. It is true that the Berkley boys protested against some of the decisions of the umpire. The Pendleton boys did likewise, and for that no one can be justly blamed. From these latter facts, the reporter was undoubtedly led into error.

Simply because the batter demurs to a decision of the umpire, when a strike has been called, is not sufficient to stamp the ruling of that official as "rotten." The pitchers were throwing balls which deceived the batters, and the latter were of course anxious to do something to redeem their poor sight by making a bluff at the umpire. Again, the pitchers would throw balls wide of the home base, and the batters would refuse to strike. It would then be the turn of the pitchers to swell up because the umpire had not seen the ball "cut the plate," when as a matter of fact it had not been a "good ball" according to the legal baseball definition of the term.

When those sitting in the grandstand and on the bleachers see a play on the diamond with which they are not familiar, and the umpire makes his ruling, they are generally willing to abide by it without much question. If it were possible for the umpire to judge balls and strikes while sitting in the shade of the grandstand he would no doubt be stationed there. But he cannot, therefore he gets out in a position where he can see whether or not the ball is thrown over the base by the pitcher.

Not only that, but he is out there alone and unprotected, liable to be eaten alive by the blood-thirsty baseball players, who keep holding a continuous council of war as to the advisability of killing him right then and there, or waiting until the conclusion of the game.

Many of these things are discouraging to an umpire, and his cup certainly is filled to the brim with wormwood when after he has performed his duty, overlooked the billingsgate and vile language uttered in the heat of battle by the players, made his rulings impartially, kept the game going, escaped from the arena with his life, to read that "the rotten decisions were about equally divided."

Even if the article had stated that the rotten decisions had been exactly divided, it would have been but poor consolation. As a matter of fact, such flippant statements, made as though delivered from the throne, do a great deal more harm than good. My wish is that you keep your reporter muzzled, or have him give a fair statement of facts.

Yours truly,
CLAS A. MASKREY.

THEY GOT AWAY.

Men Who Escaped from Grant County Jail Have Vanished.

To date no trace has been found of "Spotted Tail" Robinson, the celebrated stock rustler of Grant county, and his accomplice, Emmett Kimberling, who made their escape from the Grant county jail at Canyon City about a week ago, although a reward of $100 was offered for their capture.

These men were waiting sentence, after being in jail at Canyon City for weeks, when the jail door was opened with a skeleton key operated by someone on the outside, the prisoners made their escape into the fastnesses of the John Day country and it is doubtful if they will be recaptured.

As soon as he discovered the escape of the prisoners, Sheriff Lawrence did everything possible to capture them, but although he followed them with a posse for some time the party returned discouraged, having given up the chase.
