WON BY EVERETT

SHARPSHOOTERS LOST TO COAST AGGREGATION.

Score Was 5 to 3—Whitman Annual Reunion—High School Closed—Another Old Man's Darling.

Walla Walla, June 13.—Everett won from Walla Walla yesterday afternoon in a pretty game, the score standing 5 to 3. Schock pitched an excellent game throughout for the visitors, striking out 12 men. Walla Walla made six hits and six errors, while Everett made eight hits and but two errors. The game was pronounced one of the most scientific played here this season. The attendance was nearly up to the maximum for week-day games.

The alumni association of Whitman college held the annual reunion and banquet Wednesday evening at Billings hall, when a large number of graduates of Whitman were present. Officers were chosen as follows: Oscar Drumheller, president; Marvin Evans, vice-president; Miss Lulu Hingate, secretary; P. M. Winans, treasurer. The six graduates of Whitman were added to the membership roll. The banquet is a special feature of these annual reunions following commencement at Whitman.

The opera house was packed last night at the commencement exercises of the city high school, when 10 students completed the regular course. The exercises were in charge of Professor F. M. Burke, superintendent, and a pleasing program was rendered.

Autumn and spring were united again in this city yesterday, when a man 69 years of age and a woman 27 were married by the judge of the superior court. James Baldwin, a wealthy farmer of Umatilla county, Oregon, and Mrs. Rilla Marchcroft of the same county, came to the city yesterday and were married by Judge Brents. Mr. Baldwin and his bride have returned to Umatilla county, where they will make their home. Richard Ferrell, a well-to-do farmer residing in this city, died yesterday of heart disease, aged 69 years. Mr. Ferrell was a native of Ireland, and came to this country many years ago, following farming all his life. He had large land holdings several miles from this city.

AN HUMBLE APOLOGY.

Man Who Would Have to Wear the Muzzle Asks Mr. Maskrey's Pardon.

To the Gentle Public:—Noticing in the East Oregonian of Thursday UMPIRE Maskrey's ample and pathetic vindication of himself from the mild insinuation in my article of the evening before that his work in the Berkeley-Pendleton baseball game was "ferce" and "rotten." I beg of you to bear with me while I make humble and abject apology for the base insinuations contained therein upon Mr. Maskrey's intelligence and ability.

I must concede, after perusing his brilliant article, that in the shade of his remarkable knowledge and fluent diction, my own poor insignificance becomes truly infinitesimal. In the language of the poet, I can only "go way back and sit down" in sack cloth and ashes to repent that I should have by word of tongue or pen cast even the suspicion of slur upon the wonderful sagacity of so important a man as Umpire Chas. A. Maskrey.

I regret most sincerely that poor, little, unimportant "me" who has only been in the newspaper business a matter of but little better than 20 years, and who has only perhaps umpired as many games of baseball as Mr. Maskrey, and written up perhaps more games than he ever witnessed, should have dared to pit my ignorant opinion against the decisions of such a massive brain as that contained within the cranium of the genial and popular gentleman under discussion.

I humbly beg to apologize to that honored gentleman for having filled his cup to the brim with wormwood, or bug juice, or any other old thing, and I earnestly beg that he will recall his dictum of yesterday that henceforth in reporting a game where he officiates behind the pitcher I shall wear a muzzle (as I sadly realize that I am utterly incapable of giving a fair opinion upon baseball or any other subject.)

I can not convince my innermost soul that my classic countenance would appear to advantage within the narrow confines of a "muzzle." It is bad enough to have to wear a high collar these hot days—but a "muzzle." Why, I might as well be shot for a mad dog at once.

Of course, from the comfortable, shady and secluded confines of the grand stand or the more torrid glare of the bleachers, a man who has never seen the game played before, can not be expected to determine with encyclopedic accuracy the exact definition of "balls" and "strikes." But, from the purities of the side lines even a man with a glass eye can ascertain with some show of reason, whether a pitched ball passes above the level of the batsman's shoulder or fits past him below the altitude of his knee cap. This decision is apparently unattainable from the dangerous position occupied by the umpire—at least that is what I should judge from some of the decisions rendered by Mr. Maskrey while occupying said affluent position.

In justification of my unfortunate and entire uncalculated error I can only urge that some of the decisions rendered by this gentleman during the Berkeley-Pendleton game were so ridiculous as to be really sublime, and with my usual lack of intelligence I was led by such decisions to assert that the UMPIRING was "ferce" and "rotten." These assertions I now humbly beg to retract and assert in their stead that the work of the UMPIRE throughout the game was classic in its monumental accuracy.

Trusting that I have not wearied you, the public, by thus inflicting myself upon you, I once more apologize to Mr. Maskrey and everyone else, and solemnly promise that such a terrible atrocity shall never again be foisted upon the public.

Truly,
THE MAN WHO WOULD HAVE TO WEAR THE MUZZLE.

Virulent Cancer Cured.

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts, of Elizabeth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed the case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters and applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, when treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and microbe poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sores vanish. Bitters 50c, Salve, 25c, at Tallman & Co.'s.
