MOODY'S BILL GETS A FAVORABLE REPORT

Act Providing for Selling Unsold Portions of Umatilla Reserve is Favorably Acted on By Indian Committee.

In connection with the proposed throwing open of the unsold portions of the Umatilla Indian reservation to which reference was made in the East Oregonian a few days since, the full text of the bill providing for the placing upon the market of these lands will prove interesting to many who are figuring on locating here.

Accompanying the copy of the bill comes the report of the Committee on Indian Affairs which explains fully the objects and provisions of the measure. The report follows:

"The Committee on Indian Affairs to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 9501) to provide for the sale of the unsold portions of the Umatilla Reservation, having had the same under consideration, beg leave to report it back to the house with the recommendation that, with certain amendments, the bill do pass."

Then follows a list of the amendments, which are not of interest to the general public. The bill as amended reads:

Copy of the Bill.

"Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, That all the lands of the Umatilla Indian reservation not included within the new boundaries of the reservation and not allotted or required for allotment to the Indians, and which were not sold at the public sale of said land heretofore held at the price for which they have appraised, and upon the conditions provided in an act entitled "An act providing for the allotment of lands in severalty to the Indians residing upon the Umatilla reservation, in the State of Oregon, and for granting patents therefore, and for other purposes," shall be sold at private sale by the register of the land office in the district within which they are situated at not less than the appraised value thereof, and in conformity with the provisions of said act."

Settlers Get First Right.

"Provided, That any bona fide settler upon any of said lands who is the owner of substantial improvements thereon, and who has so settled and improved any subdivision of said lands with the intent of permanently residing on the same as a homestead, shall have a preference right to buy the lands so settled upon by him at any time within ninety days after the passage of this act, upon making satisfactory proof in the local land office as to settlement, intent and improvements."

Enters into Details.

The report then goes on to say: "Under the provisions of the act of March 3, 1885, (23 Stat. L., 340) certain lands which formed a portion of the Umatilla Indian reservation, in the State of Oregon, and improvements existing on certain tracts thereon were sold at auction, in accordance with the provisions and limitations of said act. The total number of acres appraised and offered for sale was 126,335.46, of which but 32,352.68 acres went under the hammer, thus leaving 93,982.78 acres unsold, and which are unsold to this date. There was no provision in the act of 1885 that permitted of the disposal of the lands remaining unsold after the public auction, which was held in April, 1891. Various reasons conspired to prevent bidders from buying the lands at the public auction, some of which do not now exist. The unsold lands are chiefly mountainous, being grazing and timbered lands, with a small proportion of good farming lands, much of which, it is believed can now be sold at the appraised valuation, which ranges from $1.25 to $25 per acre.

Squatters Went On.

Since the reservation was diminished and the sale provided for as aforesaid, many persons have settled upon the unsold portions and have been farming them. Neither the Indians who are entitled to the proceeds of the sale nor the government, in which the title is held subject to the trust, is receiving anything for the lands as provided for in this bill, a large quantity of very valuable land would be added to the taxable property of Umatilla county, Oregon, and permanent homes would be provided for a large population. Under present conditions the occupants of the land can claim no benefit from the county in the way of roads, nor can they secure protection from the state in the quiet occupancy of said land, and the government can not look to for relief in any direction. The effect of the sale provided for by the bill would be to quiet titles and give the bona fide settler the full protection of the law in securing a home for himself and those who come after him, and would put an end to disputes and controversies over the title and occupancy, which now have no forum to which they may be taken and there settled.

What Amendment Is.

"The amendment to the bill is designed to fully protect any bona fide settler who in good faith has gone upon these lands with the intent to secure a homestead and who desires to purchase the amount of land allowed to a single purchaser under the original act. Those who have been working portions of the land for the past years and have put improvements upon the land occupied by them should not be dispossessed without an opportunity to first come as a purchaser within the limitations of the law.

Indians Protected.

"It will also be noted that the bill fully protects the rights of the Indians by referring to the terms of the original act as to the valuation at which the land shall be sold and the terms of purchase by the private sale herein provided for."

Virulent Cancer Cured.

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts, of Elizabeth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed the case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters and applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, when treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and microbe poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sores vanish. A STRANGE CASE.

Dying Man Picked Up by Roadside Near Walla Walla.

Walla Walla, June 14.—Charles Meyers, a friendless and penniless stranger, died at the hospital here Thursday night. He was found by two men who were coming to town with a lumber wagon, lying beside the road four miles west of the city and brought to town for medical attention. Suffering with a terrible liver complaint and realizing that he had but a few hours to live, he was attempting to reach this place when he gave out and dropped at the roadside.

The men who brought him to town took him to the hospital, laid him on the lawn and then drove away without notifying any of the hospital authorities.

Meyers, the dead man, is about 56 years of age and was tramping about the country with no regular occupation.
