TOO FAT TO WALK.
"My dear Mr. Thursteigh," said the eminent reformer, "will you sign this re- monstrative against the opening of a saloon. It is to be opened scarcely a mile from your home."
"Indeed I will," answered Mr. Thursteigh. "There are many desirable sites much nearer than that."

JOKE ON WINN JOHNSON.

Took Another Miner for a Highway-man Who Also Took Him for One.
The best joke of the season is on Winn Johnson and Tom Bland, says the Granite Gem. On Monday while returning to Granite with their pockets so full of gold nuggets that the weight made them bow-legged, they accidentally met in the woods two miles above town, and not knowing each other, each thought the other a robber and that it was a case of "hold-up." As each had all the appearances of a bandit or pirate, it did look like a desperate case, and both felt that they were scared out of at least two years' growth. But the climax came when Johnson, with one of his fiercest looks, said: "Have you got anything on you? (meaning bug-jul-e.) Fom, thinking his time had come, broke and ran like a wild man, and never stopped until he fell breathless at Grand Hotel, almost breaking his neck against the bar. Now the drinks for the crowd are on both of them.
