Don't Use Too Many Words.

Multiplication of words increases the expense and decreases the effectiveness of advertising. Say what you have to say in few words as it can be said. Then say it. By so doing you can set what you want to say in larger type than that which will command the attention of most readers. Do not use a wordy discourse, set in small type.

Special excursion to Walla Walla, Sunday, June 22, $1.00.

M. Gratz is putting up a large self-winding clock over the entrance to his lodging house. To Walla Walla and return Sunday, June 22, $1.00. Baseball, Pendleton vs. Walla Walla. Special train, O. R. & N. Co. Baker & Folsom yesterday supplied "Uncle" Frank Mansfield, of Athena, with a complete outfit of carpets and a large amount of fine furniture. Mr. Mansfield finds it is money in his pocket to trade in Pendleton and pay the freight. The lecture Wednesday evening at the Thompson Street M. E. church, by Mrs. Helen D. Hartford, of Newburg, was well attended by the members of the W. C. T. U., under whose auspices the lecture was given. Mrs. Hartford is the state president and she talked interestingly about the work of the society and what it was destined to accomplish in the future. Jack Salisbury, a pioneer sheepman of Butter Creek, has marketed the last of his wool of this year's clipping, which he sold at a good figure. While in the city Mr. Salisbury bought a nice home on Ann street, of E. T. Wade, the real estate man, and will move his family here the latter part of the summer to make their future home. Mr. Wade has supplied a number of sheepmen and ranchers with homes and has some very desirable ones left.

Wool is Fine.

Baker County Clip is the Best in 10 Years. According to Baker City advices, the wool clip to be marketed there this season is larger and better than for the past 10 years. The mild winter was in every way favorable to the sheepowners. The wool being exceptionally clean, owing to the fact that the weather was mild and the feed on the ranges was better than usual. The sheep came through the winter in fine condition—the wool is longer and finer than usual. S. H. Hellner, the pioneer wool-buyer of Baker City, estimates the clip of that vicinity at 1,200,000 pounds. He has contracted for about 600,000 pounds of the best grade of wool, which he is now receiving and storing in his warehouse. This year Mr. Hellner is buying the wool outright, with the intention of holding it for some time, or until the market shall be such that he can dispose of his holdings at a profit. He is paying 11 to 13 cents per pound for the best wool. He has bought the wool of Castady & Carson, 30,000 pounds; Lee & Bennett, 30,000 pounds; and W. G. Ayres, 130,000 pounds; besides a number of smaller clips. Mr. Hellner says that in all his years of experience as a wool buyer in this market, he has never found the wool so free from dirt as it is this season. Murphy & Stuchell have contracted for over 400,000 pounds of wool on consignment, a large quantity of which has already been received. They are sending considerable wool to the woolen mill at Portland. They shipped seven carloads last week and will have as many more to ship this week. They also find the wool in fine condition this season. Besides the splendid yield of wool, the sheepowners are congratulating themselves on the large percentage of increase in their herds this spring. The average is above 100 per cent. This unprecedented increase is due to the exceptionally fine weather during the lambing season. The income from the wool clip will net the woolgrowers who market their wool in Baker City about $150,000 this year, and is only a small portion of the wool of Eastern Oregon, thus some idea of the magnitude of the wool industry of Eastern Oregon can be obtained by comparing this market with that of several other places, where the value of the clips will be considerably more, simply because there will be more wool.

HOLDING CONVENTIONS.

Woodmen of the World and Women of Woodcraft Are in Session. William McBride of Athena.

William McBride, a druggist of Athena, is attending the United States court as a juror. Says the Portland Journal, Mr. McBride conducts a prosperous business in Athena surrounding which is a region which produces annually 5,000,000 bushels of wheat, a large portion of which is marketed in Athena. This brings plenty of money into that town, says the Journal, and makes it a people prosperous.

Rush for Land.

There is a grand rush for timber land all through the La Grande district, says the Chronicle. During the month of May a hundred timber and stone locations were filed, and seventy-eight filings of this kind have already been made this month. The localities which have attracted the greatest attention are the districts above Union and in the northern portion of Wallowa county. There are also a great many claims being filed upon in the vicinity of Ukiah, in Umatilla county.
