WILL FORM LEAGUE

NEW ORGANIZATION NOW SEEMS ASSURED.

Only Question Seems to Be Whether the League Will Contain Four or Six Teams—Probably the Latter Number.

The proposition which has been on foot for some time past, looking to the organization of a four or six-team league to take in the cities of Dayton, Colfax and Walla Walla, Wash., and Pendleton, La Grande and Baker City, in Oregon, has been gradually getting in shape and it now seems practically assured that the league will be organized.

Baker City enthusiasts have succeeded in raising sufficient funds to assure the securing of a strong team for that place, and are now figuring upon timber for the nine. The Athena team, which will be disbanded the first week in July, contains the best available material but when the Baker City people came to talk business with the Athena players they went up against a proposition which took their breath. According to the newspapers of Baker City, the Athena boys wanted salaries such as are not paid in the Northwest league, better than $1000 per month being necessary to secure the team at the salaries asked. An offer of $760 per month for the team has been made, and the Baker City enthusiasts declare that unless this proposition is accepted they will bring in new players from Spokane, Portland, Butte and other places where good players are procurable. Indeed, it is reported on very good authority that Richard Glendon, Spokane's one-time wonder, who is now playing at leisure on account of a sore arm, has been spoken for as one of the twirlers for the new team.

Latest advices from Baker say that the Monogram team, a Portland aggregation which has made an enviable reputation for themselves during the past season, has been released and that it may be engaged intact by Baker City.

LaGrande, too, is enthusiastic over the proposed league and while her team is at present disbanded the best men are being held over to await the outcome of a meeting to be held in Pendleton shortly to consider the formation of the league. It is proposed to add several new and strong men to the team and it is confidently believed that the "hoodoo" which has relentlessly pursued the team all through the season will be broken with the reorganization.

The principal weakness of La Grande has been in the box and on third. Clark, who has done good work with the team, will be retained as twirler and will be reinforced by McBirney, one of the best men on the coast, and Carter, who was Tacoma's mainstay last season, the three making an exceedingly strong staff. Black, whose third base work with Athena, has attracted much attention, has been engaged to cover the difficult bag, and Danny Shea will operate behind the bat.

Walla Walla and Pendleton are both willing and ready to enter the league with strong and well organized teams, and it would appear that the only question now to be decided is whether the new league will consist of four or six teams, there being some doubt as to whether Dayton and Colfax will go into the proposition, their teams not having been unannouncedly successful this season. It is practically assured, however, that the new league will be a go.

The Pendleton team is now in Dayton, where it crosses bats with the Dusters today and tomorrow, then coming to Walla Walla to play Sunday, when a special excursion train will be run from here for the benefit of the fans. The Indians also play the sharpshooters on Monday, going from there to Moscow, Idaho, where they play on the 24th and 25th, and on the 26th and 27th at Pomeroy, 28th and 29th at Colfax, returning to Pendleton on the 30th.

The next games on the home grounds will be with the Oregon City team on July 4, 5 and 6.

The impression is growing that the Boer war is really over. The Boers themselves have begun to believe it.

REMARKABLE ENDURANCE.

Joe Reyburn Injured by Falling from Horse, Eighteen Days Without Food.

Joe Reyburn recently had an experience that came near costing him his life, says the Antelope Herald. On the 10th of May he started out on horseback from Shaniko to go to the ranch of James Baxter, at which place he was temporarily stopping. The distance between Baxter's and Shaniko is about twelve or fifteen miles. He had scarcely gone more than six or seven miles when his horse stumbled and the saddle cinch broke hurling Reyburn to the ground. In falling he struck his back a severe blow on a rock which so injured him that he was unable to move for two days. During that time he was without water or food and on the second day, driven by extreme thirst, he dragged himself down to the mouth of Brush Canyon, a distance of perhaps half a mile for water. From there he worked his way by crawling and dragging himself about a mile further where he was when discovered by Ewen McLennan, who chanced to be passing on the 28th of May. For eighteen days and nights Mr. Reyburn was without shelter or food, except such roots and herbs as he was able to dig with his hands and during the unseasonably cold nights between the 10th and the 28th he almost froze. Mr. McLennan says that Reyburn was mer skin and bones when he found him and was a pitiful object. Mr. Reyburn is a man close to 70 years of age, and but for an extraordinary vitality would have perished.

In a dispatch from Brussels, the correspondent of the London Daily Express says Mr. Reitz, ex-state secretary of the Transvaal, and General Lucas Meyer purpose making a tour of the United States to collect money for poor Boer families.

The conference between the committee of the boiler-makers of the system and officials of the Great Northern Railroad company, was begun at St. Paul Thursday. Nothing could be learned as to the result, but it is generally believed that an amicable settlement will be reached.

Dell Baker, one of the jurymen in the Jessie Morrison case, was arrested Wednesday at Eldorado, Kan., charged with robbing Walter Warner, another jurymen, of $65. The two men slept together Tuesday night and in the morning Warner missed the money. He jerked Baker's hat off and one of the coins dropped out. The selection of the jury has not been finished.

Thirty-one persons were injured in a gasoline generator explosion in the New York Hardware Company's store at Guthrie, O. T., Thursday. At 8:30 o'clock fire broke out in the rear of the store, demanding the attention of two fire companies. While the firemen were fighting the flames an immense crowd gathered in the street before the plate-glass front of the building. The fire ignited gasoline in the generator, which exploded, blowing bits of glass all over the street and severely injuring many of the crowd.

A LITTLE EXCITING.

But no One Was Hurt—Engine Got Tired of Standing Still.

About one o'clock today, as the people were at the station waiting for the arrival of the train from Portland, engine No. 45 that was standing on the track near the coal bunkers, started to make a trip by itself and commenced to back toward the roundhouse, says the La Grande Chronicle. The first object it struck was engine No. 201, which stood on a side track and gave it quite a bump, which seemed to give it additional momentum. By this time quit a number of railroad men had arrived and were doing all in their power to arrest the progress of the engine. As it approached the turntable, it was moved into such a position as to guide it into engine 200 which checked its speed sufficiently to allow one of the engineers to enter the cab and shut off the steam and gain control of the engine. No one was injured, but Mr. Moon, the engineer of 45 had a very narrow escape. The incident caused quite a sensation for a time and it was very fortunate no one was injured. The damage done was very slight.
