GONE TO REST.

Mrs. Eliza Gibson Has Solved the Great Mystery.

After an illness of three weeks, Mrs. Eliza Gibson, wife of Arthur Gibson died at her home in this city this morning.

She was first taken ill with malaria fever and a week ago Sunday had congestive chills. She then improved and Wednesday was very much better and her friends thought she was on the road to recovery, but Wednesday night she suddenly became worse and died at 4:30 this morning.

Mrs. Gibson was born in Pendleton, being the daughter of Mrs. M. A. Terry, and has resided here all her life. She was 32 years, 6 months and 12 days of age, and leaves, besides a heartbroken husband, three children, two girls and one boy. The eldest girl is 14 years of age and the boy is ten.

Mrs. Gibson has many warm friends who are pained to learn of her sudden taking away in the prime of life and especially on account of her children. The boy is blind and has been a great care to his mother and now this care will fall upon other shoulders. He will miss his mother's tender care more than those not similarly afflicted. She was a member of Daphne Circle Women of Woodcraft, and the funeral and burial will be under the auspices of the lodge, but the time has not yet been set as the family are waiting to get word from a sister who lives in Everett, but is visiting in Seattle.

Tribute to the Memory of the Late David Duff.

Whereas, it has pleased the Grand Master above to summon from our midst our beloved and venerable brother, David Duff, who departed this life on the 28th day of May, 1902, at the ripe age of 83 years, leaving behind a career, as a citizen and a Mason, worthy of the emulation of all, whether relatives or friend, brother or fellow citizen, therefore Be it Resolved; That Pendleton Lodge, No. 52, A. F. & A. M., of which he was a member, mourns the loss of Brother Duff, who, for 51 years, wore the badge of Masonry, and ranked high in the councils of the order, proving by his daily walk that he had, without reserve, imbibed its tenets, and winning by his lofty qualities of heart and mind, the admiration, love and esteem of his fellow citizens and Masonic Brethren.

Resolved; That we tender to the bereaved widow and children of the deceased, who survive him, our most heartfelt sympathy, and commend to them the comforting assurance that he has reaped the reward of a good and faithful servant.

Resolved; That as a mark of respect, the lodgeroom, altar and emblems of this lodge be draped in mourning for a period of 20 days; that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the lodge, and that copies be furnished the widow and family of our deceased brother, and to the East Oregonian and Pendleton Tribune for publication.

By order of Pendleton Lodge, No. 52, A. F. & A. M., May the 29th, 1902, at Pendleton, Oregon.

E. D. BOYD,
STEPHEN LOWELL,

BOTTOM FELL OUT OF LAKE

AND A MILLION TONS OF MUD WENT WITH IT.

Farmers Near Lake Klamacue Dug an Irrigation Tunnel With Decidedly Surprising Results.

There is a million tons, more or less, of mud, muck and trees, foliage and big and little boulders scattered all the way from Lake Kalamacue, near the head waters of Rock creek, to the town of Haines. There is no longer any water in the lake, but there is a big hole in the bottom of it, just like tradition says is in the bottom of the sea, or an old tin pan, says the Baker City Democrat.

The farmers all along Rock creek chipped in and proposed to go in for a big engineering scheme that would obtain the Kalamacue lake water. They proposed to begin letting it out into Rock creek in August when that water course runs low, and use it in their private ditches as wanted.

To get at the water it was thought necessary to run a 225-foot tunnel under the lake and then tap the body of water by an upshoot of 40 to 50 feet. It seems there was a sediment of muck in the bottom of the lake 30 feet thick. The engineers hadn't counted on this, seeming to think the lake was lined with hard-pan or bed-rock, but it wasn't.

Last Friday night the men at work on the upshoot loaded up some holes, fired them and went to supper, leaving in the tunnel two muckers, John Riser and another man. The muckers retreated behind the elbow to await the blast. The blast came, and just following it was a sound louder than a cannon's firing. It was like earthquakes and great battles combined. Riser and his partner flew as on the wings of the wind, and just as they emerged from the mouth of the tunnel the water came with a mighty rush, like an avalanche and the men barely escaped with their lives.

The bottom of the lake had dropped out. There was a sediment of mud 30 feet in the bottom of the lake and the farmers and engineers had not counted on this, but supposed they were some 35 or 40 feet from the water, when, as a matter of fact, they were only eight or 10 feet off. The tunnel is four by six feet, but it was large enough to permit full-grown trees to go through, as several did. These trees proved to be a god-send, as they kept back the first volume of water to a certain extent and saved the mill on Rock creek, just below, from destruction.

The country from Rock creek to the lake was entirely eradicated from the map, and three bridges over Rock creek are gone-a-glimmering. With the exception of filling up some ditches along the route and putting a few feet of mud on the early vegetables along Rock creek, but little damage was done. However, all the sage brush bottoms got a better irrigation than they ever had before.

The lake covered 40 acres and was full of water. It is fed by melting snow and surface water, and, of course, will not be filled up again this year, even if the farmers can devise some kind of a trapdoor to stop the big hole in the bottom.

Virulent Cancer Cured.

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts, of Elizabeth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed the case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters, and applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and microbe poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sores vanish.
