PREDICTS A SHORTAGE.

Government Crop Report Says Wheat Will Be Short.

According to government reports, the wheat crop will be short. Markets continue to show no particular change, from a local standpoint, the absence of any export business of moment and the winding up of the fiscal year detracting from interest in the situation, says the West Coast Trade. There was a certain amount of strength developed in Eastern speculative centers on the basis of a wet harvest and reported foreign crop shortages, which were reflected in 1/2 cent better prices by exporters, who now quote 65 1/2c for club and 66 1/2c for bluestem, but the principal source of spot business is on milling account. The bulk of bluestem suitable for milling is well cleaned up throughout the Pacific Northwest, and a heavy premium has been exacted from the mills which seek to pick up a supply sufficient to keep them in operation until the new crop is harvested and available. All sorts of prices have been paid, with a range up to 70@72c at the top.

Based upon the government crop report, indicating a yield of approximately 350,000,000 bushels winter and 294,000,000 bushels spring wheat, there will be a shortage of nearly 100,000,000 bushels in the combined crop this year, as compared with final returns on last season's output. Still the yield will be a fair one, and with corn and oat crops more nearly normal there will be removed a source of demand which has absorbed an immense amount of wheat during the season drawing to a close, and unless foreign shortages should be of considerable moment there are no reasons to anticipate values above the fairly satisfactory figures obtained from the crop of 1921.

CHANGE OF DISTRICTS.

Western Union Telegraph Company Divides the Fourth District. J. E. Krause, manager of the local Western Union Telegraph office, has received instructions that on July 1 and thereafter the Fourth district of the company will be sub-divided into two districts.

The first division will embrace all lines and offices south of the state of Oregon. Frank H. Lamb, formerly assistant superintendent of the Fourth district, has been appointed superintendent of this division. His headquarters will be in San Francisco.

The second division will comprise all lines and offices north of the state of Colorado and Nevada, including British Columbia. G. W. Goulding will be superintendent of the second division with headquarters in Seattle. Pendleton will be in the second district.

Formerly this district was called the fourth district and comprised all the Pacific coast states. The dividing of the district was found necessary because of the increased business of the company. It was found that one man could not superintend all of the districts and do it as it should be done and with the present division two men will be in charge of the same territory looked after by one before.
