ASSAY OFFICE AT BAKER

BILL FOR ITS ESTABLISHMENT REPORTED FAVORABLY

House Committee Ordered Favorable Report By a Vote of Five to Four, on Thursday.

By a vote of five to four the house committee on coinage Thursday, ordered a favorable report on the bill to establish an assay office at Baker City. No action was taken on the Portland bill.

Representative Moody, who introduced the bill, said the report was ordered on the showing that of $1,800,000 gold produced in Oregon in 1900, all but $500,000 came from the western part of the state, immediately tributary to Baker City. Moody and Tongue were both present, and Moody said a motion was made to postpone the consideration of all bills until the next session. This was amended by one of his friends, who moved to amend for a report in favor of the Baker City bill.

"I do not hope to secure the passage of my bill this session," said Moody, "but will have it on the calendar and will try to get it through next session."

Representative Tongue said: "I will not do anything to retard the passage of the Baker City bill. In fact, I will do everything I can to secure its passage, because I am confident when it reaches the senate it will be amended by striking out the words 'Baker City' and substituting the one 'Portland.'"

Mrs. R. S. Sheridan and three children, of Boise, Idaho, are visiting with Mrs. A. M. Sheridan, of this city. Mr. Sheridan will be over from Boise about the first of next month.

Frank Greulich, who has spent the past three weeks in the east, visiting relatives and friends in Cincinnati and Chicago, is expected home in a few days. He writes that it is very hot where he is and he wants to get back to Pendleton.

William Peterson, a farmer, C. D. Stouffer, a jeweler, and Frank E. Fender, a hardware dealer, of Walla Walla, passed through Pendleton Thursday evening on their way to the Grand Ronde country, where they are looking for land.

Mrs. S. F. Chadwick and daughter, of Colfax, were the guests of Mrs. John Vert Thursday evening, on their way to Chicago, where they go for treatment for the little daughter, who is suffering from spine trouble. Mrs. Chadwick is the daughter-in-law of ex-Governor Chadwick, of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Will D. Flester, who have been the guests of Hotel St. George and friends in Pendleton the past two days, left this morning for their home in Walla Walla. Mr. Flester will resume his run as a brakeman on the O. R. & N. between Walla Walla and Wallula, the first of the week.

J. H. Robbins, banker of Sumpter, manager of the Golconda Consolidated Gold Mines Company and treasurer of the Red Boy-Consolidated Mines, spent Thursday in Pendleton, attended the meeting of the directors of the Golconda mine held last night, and left for his home on this morning's O. R. & N. train.

WHERE IS ROGERS?

Escaped Convict Supposed to be on His Way to the Old Rendezvous.

Rucker Rogers, the escaped Walla Walla convict, is now supposed to be making his way toward a small cabin which nestles amid verdure clad mountains high up on the south fork of the Walla Walla river, ten miles from civilization.

Years ago this cabin was used by a notorious gang of cattle rustlers, horse thieves and desperadoes long since broken up by the Oregon authorities, but not before many a poor fellow had shed blood in his line of duty in ridding the surrounding country from the depredations of the gang.

Rogers was one of the gang which infested this neighborhood and occupied the little cabin in company with the other notorious characters and if he can once reach it he is comparatively safe until he can scale the mountains to Walla Walla county and freedom.

He is known to have made his way in the direction of the old time rendezvous after leaving Mill Creek on the night of his escape, and the members of the posse after him are guarding all the trails and possible ways of ingress into the valley where the cabin is; but little hope is expressed by any one of the capture of the convict.

EXHIBIT FREIGHT FREE.

Oregon Exhibit at Charleston Exposition Transported Free of Cost.

Henry E. Dosch, Oregon commissioner to the Charleston Exposition, has received a letter from R. B. Grice local freight agent for Charleston, for the Atlantic Coast Line, notifying him of a charge of $9 for transporting three cars of Oregon exhibits from the exposition grounds to the Atlantic Coast depot. His letter said in part:

"I am glad to advise you that we took this matter up with the general freight agent, and he instructed us to bill your exhibit deadhead over our line, which was done."

In speaking of the way Oregon people have been treated by the Atlantic Coast Line and an explanation of the above letter, Mr. Dosch said:

"In explanation of this letter, permit me to say that I knew our finances were running low, and also that the commission had incurred considerable expense at this end for transportation and purchases of exhibits, etc., of which I had no account, and economy was necessary. I represented to the freight department of the Atlantic Line that by reason of our exhibit at Charleston thousands of people went over their lines paying full fare and the trade certain to follow after the exposition would increase materially. This representation they promised to take under advisement.

"It certainly was a very graceful thing to do on their part, because they did not have to do it, and it means not less than $300 saved. This act on the part of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad company is only another one of the many courtesies shown to Oregon by the Charlestonians, the memory of which will ever be a most pleasant one to our entire delegation, and they have the gratitude and good wishes of every Oregonian.

CASSAVA ROOT.

Chicago Packers to Experiment With it in Fattening Stock.

Plans that were first taken into consideration about a year ago, have been developed in the last few months to the point where some of the great packing houses in Chicago have begun experiments on what may prove a revelation in the cattle industry of the country says the Inter-Ocean. The project involves the settlement of several thousand acres of what is now valueless land in northern and northwestern Florida and southern Alabama, the cultivation on a large scale of cassava root and its use in feeding cattle and hogs. If the plan develops as it is now in the minds of the leading packers, the southern states will become the center of the cattle raising industry.

It is stated that arrangements are now being made for the accommodation of a considerable number of cattle to be shipped from the stock yards here to northern Florida to be fed on cassava root. The result of the fattening process will be compared with similar work in the west, regarding which the conditions and cost are already definitely known. The result obtained will determine the future of the cassava experiment.

TO UNIONIZE THE TOWN

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR TO BE ORGANIZED.

General Organizer F. S. Whitney is in Town Canvassing in the Interests of the Organization.

An effort is to be made to make Pendleton a union town.

F. Stacey Whitney, of Seattle, general organizer for American Federation of Labor and treasurer of the Washington State Federation of Labor, is in town and will make a thorough canvass of the town in the interests of the trades council.

Pendleton is not a union town. While the printers' union has been in existence for several years, it was only recently that the painters and local clerks formed a union and with the exception of them most other classes of laboring men are unorganized. Now it is proposed that all wage earners, such as mechanics, carpenters, plumbers, carpenters, restaurant employes, railroad men, barbers and all other branches of labor be gathered into the folds of protective unions and the whole combined under one head—The American Federation of Labor—for the adjustment of all differences and for mutual protection of both employee and employer.

This evening a meeting will be called at the court house to arrange for the organization of the laborers and it is the wish of those interested that all who can will attend the meeting. One on two unions will be organized this evening and interesting talks will be given along the line of protective labor. Mr. Whitney will be here until Monday morning.

Laid to Rest.

The funeral of Mrs. Eliza Marguerite Gibson, wife of A. J. Gibson, occurred this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, from the family residence, on West Railroad street. The funeral was conducted under the auspices of Daphne Circle, Women of Woodcraft, of which Mrs. Gibson was a member.
