FOR A BIG RANGE

ANKENY AND COPELAND WANT MUCH LAND.

Figuring on Buying Thirteen Sections in Washtucna Country for Permanent Range.

If Hon. Levi Ankeny, the banker, politician and candidate for United States senator from Walla Walla county, who was in town several days this week, closes a deal he is working on in the Washtucna country, he will be one of the largest land owners in the country. Especially will he own the largest acreage in one tract of any man in the Northwest.

Mr. Ankeny and Grant Copeland, representative from Walla Walla county, are both interested in the same deal. They are in the Washtucna country a few days ago and were negotiating for 13 sections of grazing land in one body. Mr. Ankeny and Mr. Copeland are partners in the stock business and are aiming to acquire range enough to put their industry on a permanent basis.

Last fall the Walla Walla capitalists and politicians bought their first land in Cow creek country, 15 miles from Washtucna. Since that time they have added to their holdings until today they own in a body nearly 12,000 acres and the deal now on, if it goes through, will give them the huge total of 31 sections, or almost 21,000 acres. This land is costing them a neat sum of money. From $2 to $3 an acre was paid for what has been purchased and the present deal will be in the same neighborhood.

This will be one of the finest holdings of land for an ideal stock ranch in the state of Washington. For 10 miles Cow creek runs through it, which gives it plenty of water.

Southeastern Adams is a fine, rolling bunchgrass country, splendidly adapted for cattle. Mr. Ankeny says it is one of the ideal stock districts of America. Last winter 80 per cent of winter calves on Cow creek were saved, an average 5 per cent higher than in the most favored districts of the Northwest. The Montana average is only about 30 per cent. The big ranch will contain much fine agricultural land, and a big area where alfalfa can be grown. In fact, Mr. Ankeny says, it is the owners' intention to put up about 1000 tons annually when everything is in running order.

There are already 550 head of cattle on the 18 sections. With the buy contemplated 700 head more will go. Mr. Ankeny says the ranch will range 3000 easily, and that the industry which he thinks has a great future in Washington, will be put on a lasting basis here. Several hundred tons of alfalfa were grown this year. Nesmith Ankeny, son of Levi Ankeny, is foreman.

The purchase for cold cash of such large tracts is necessitated by the disappearance of government range in Washington. Stockmen say this course of Ankeny and Copeland is very significant, as indicating that the man who proposes following the cattle industry much longer must fortify himself by large purchases of cheap range. Several extensive companies in Washington are doing this, and land values are rising in proportion to the demand.

The Ankeny-Copeland farm rivals some of the wonderful ranches of Harney, Malheur, Lake and other Southern Oregon counties.

WHY THE TREE DIED.

Well Known Citizen Doesn't Know and Doesn't Care.

The friends of a well-known railroad man who visits Pendleton, are having the laugh at his expense. This man has a beautiful home—where, will not be divulged—and in his yard grows a splendid shade tree. Or the tree did grow, but recently the leaves withered from an unknown cause and he is mourning its death. The cause of the tree's death is a puzzle, for it is in a favorable locality with all the nourishing surroundings that apparently could be wished for a healthy growth, so the owner bethought himself that he would diagnose the case and try to learn what was the cause of the sudden withering of his tree. He carefully examined the body and roots, digging into the ground and could not find any apparent cause. However, he was determined and would not give up, so he got a ladder and climbed to the top to look at the buds.

He is a man who will weigh about 220 pounds and the slender limbs of the tree objected to the strain of his weight and just as he was explaining to his wife how some small insect had bored holes into the twigs near the top and no doubt had inserted poison therein which had caused the tree's death, the limb on which he stood broke and let him fall to the ground.

He only uttered one word as he went down, and that can better be imagined than described. He now says that the tree died from natural causes and he is glad it is dead. But when the boys get to joshing him about it he always says: "Come on, have something, it is on me."

A MUCH MARRIED MAN

RESIDENT OF PENDLETON HAD MANY EXPERIENCES.

Married One Woman Three Times, Divorced Three Times, and Now Has a Second Wife by His Fourth Marriage.

The marriage of Morillo H. Gillett to Mrs. Mollie Perry, which was solemnized Wednesday, recalls an experience in the matrimonial career that is seldom met with. This is the fourth time Mr. Gillett has taken the marriage vows. This alone is nothing out of the ordinary, but three of his marriages were to the same woman. More than 21 years ago he married the first time and he and his wife lived together for nearly 14 years.

One day she left him and went home to her mother. A divorce was sued for and granted. They got together again, made up and remarried. Separation came again and Mr. and Mrs. Gillett were married three different times and the same number of times the obliging Umatilla county court granted a divorce. She was the complainant twice and he once.

When they agreed and made up to get married the last time another woman had crossed the path of Mr. Gillett. This was none other than the bride in the last wedding. Mr. Gillett had made love to her and when he and his former wife were married the third time this Mrs. Perry sued Mr. Gillett for damages for gaining her affections and giving her the "go by." This suit was compromised and after Mr. and Mrs. Gillett had lived together for a few months and were divorced the last time, Mr. Gillett and Mrs. Perry met, cooed and made up and just as soon as the six months, required by the laws of the state before a divorced man or woman can marry again, was up, they came to town, secured a marriage license and were made man and wife.

Now the acquaintances of Mr. Gillette are wondering what will be the outcome of the last marriage.

Saved From an Awful Fate.

"Everybody said I had consumption," writes Mrs. A. M. Shields, of Chambersburg, Pa. "I was so low after six months of severe sickness caused by hay fever and asthma, that few thought I could get well, but I learned of the marvelous merit of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, used it and was completely cured." For desperate throat and lung diseases it is the safest cure in the world, and is infallible for coughs, colds and bronchial affections. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at Tallman & Co.'s.

Thought He Was a Yankee.

Judge Ellis tells an amusing story about a gentleman who was summoned to appear on the jury in the last term of the district court. He appeared the first day of the court and asked the judge to let him off, giving as an excuse that he could not hear well and understood English with difficulty. He talked very brokenly and the judge asked him what nationality he was. The fellow laughed and said: "My mother was born in Finland, my father in Germany, and I in Norway, so I think I am a Yankee."

Happy Time in Old Town.

"We felt very happy," writes R. N. Beville, Old Town, Va., "when Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured our daughter of a bad case of scald head." It delights all who use it for cuts, corns, burns, bruises, boils, ulcers, eruptions. Infallible for piles. Only 25c at Tallman & Co.'s.
