Minneapolis, July 7.—With nearly the most prominent educators of the United States present, the 41st annual convention of the National Educational Association will be called to order here this afternoon. Sessions of the national council began this morning, taxation as it relates to school questions being the topic discussed.

ANOTHER STRIKE.

Southern Pacific Shophmen Have All Gone Out.

Houston, Texas, July 7.—Twelve thousand shophmen of the Southern Pacific lines struck this morning. They issued an ultimatum a week ago, demanding an all around 10 per cent increase of pay. The company offered 6 per cent, which was rejected. A stubborn contest is imminent.

Killed by Batted Ball.

Dañas, Texas, July 7.—A dispatch from Midlothian, Texas, says that pitcher Charles Harrington was killed by a batted ball there yesterday. The ball, which was batted straight at the pitcher, hit him in the stomach. Harrington felled the ball, made the assist, putting the runner out, and then dropped dead.

BRAKEMAN BADLY INJURED.

Lost a Leg by Falling Under a Wilamette Valley Train.

Brakeman J. G. Nowles, employed on the Wendling branch of the Southern Pacific railroad in the Wilamette valley, met with a terrible accident Friday, which will cripple him for life.

On the up trip Friday forenoon the train stopped at the siding a short distance above Marcola, about 10 o'clock to do some switching. A car had been switched, and as Brakeman Nowles was climbing to the top of it to set the brakes, a piece of board on the car which he grasped, broke, causing him to fall under the wheels. Before he could get out of the way the wheels passed over both legs below the knees, mangling and crushing them in a horrible manner.

His fellow trainmen tenderly picked him up, placed him on the train and brought him back to Springfield, at which place he was met by a conveyance and brought to Eugene, where Drs. Paine and Kuykendall gave the injuries an antiseptic dressing, immediately afterwards placing him on the north-bound train for Portland, where he was taken to the hospital that evening.

Late Friday night word was received that the operation for the amputation of the foot was performed and that Mr. Nowles had stood the operation very well. The left leg was amputated just below the knee, and the right just above the ankle.

The unfortunate man resided at Coburg, where his folks also lived. He is a married man.

CHAMBERLAIN WAS HURT

WAS THROWN THROUGH WINDOW OF A CAB.

England's Premier Meets With an Accident in the Streets of London and is Badly Hurt.

London, July 7.—While driving this morning, Joseph Chamberlain was thrown violently through the glass of a cab window. His head was badly cut and he bled profusely. He was hurriedly conveyed to a doctor's office.

The accident was witnessed by a large crowd and created great excitement.

Later, Chamberlain was removed to the hospital where it is deemed advisable to keep him all night. His physicians said the wound was severe, but not dangerous.

CLUE TO ROBBERS.

Believed that Hold-up Men Belonged to "Kid" Curry Gang.

Chicago, July 7.—That members of the "Kid" Curry band of bank and train robbers, wanted for alleged complicity in the recent Union Pacific hold-up, perpetrated the robbery of the Rock Island express train at Dupont Ill., Thursday night, is believed possible by detectives, 100 of whom are working on the case. Charles Nessler, the boy who was stealing a ride on the train when it was stopped, described the men to detectives to-day, and his description is said to tally with photographs and descriptions of "Butch" Cassidy and "Sundance" Kid alias, Harry Longbaugh, alleged members of the Kid Curry gang.

It was officially stated by an officer of the United States Express Company, that the robbers secured only $50 worth of jewelry. They carried away a package of worthless vouchers and other papers, but overlooked a package which contained $100,000.

BIG STRIKE IS ON

FREIGHT HANDLERS AT CHICAGO GO OUT.

Strike Called Today Which Affects Traffic All Over the United States and Ties Up Chicago Shipping.

Chicago, July 7.—Every union freight handler in Chicago struck this morning, tying up traffic not only in Chicago, but in every point of the United States for which Chicago is the distributing center.

The strike was ordered after a number of early morning conferences between representatives of the union and the railroads. These conferences were without result other than to impel the issuance of the strike order.

The police reserves have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for trouble and squads sent to guard all freight houses.

The freight handlers are trying to induce the longshoremen and teamsters to strike in sympathy.

Cox's Sister is Here.

Miss Mary Cox, sister of R. T. Cox, C. L. Cox and John Cox arrived from Washington, D. C., Sunday morning, on a delayed train, over the Union Pacific and O. R. & N., to render what assistance she can at the bedside of her brother John, who is at the sisters' hospital, with a fractured backbone. Mr. Cox's condition is about the same, there being little change one way or the other since the operation, when pieces of the bone were removed and pressure on the spinal cord abated.

Shot Himself.

Gus Glock, while in a demented condition, suicided, by shooting himself, at his home near Ione, last Thursday. He took a 40-caliber Winchester repeating rifle, and sitting down on a stairway placed the muzzle of the gun to his forehead. He used a cleaning rod for a shotgun which he placed against the trigger of the rifle. The ball entered the center of the forehead and went straight through, coming out at the back of the head. Death was instantaneous. He was well to do and unmarried.

Temporary arrangements have been made for the fourth biennial Hood River fruit fair, the date being set for the second week in October.

TRACY SAILED THE BOUNDING MAIN

Stole a Boat, Impressed an Oarsman, and Gaily Proceeded Northward—Landed and Fled to an Indian Reservation.

Seattle, July 7.—At 2 o'clock this morning Tracy, in a boat, was seen passing the end of Whitty Island, 60 miles north, alone. It is believed that he has killed Farm Hand Anderson, whom he impressed from Farmer Johnson's house.

He boldly sailed outside the passage beyond the navy yard and three forts. The revenue cutter Grant reports that up to 9 o'clock it had seen no trace of the boat.

The sheriff keeps up a patrol around Seattle. His officers, however, think that Tracy is endeavoring to reach a brother desperado and escape.

Merrill is living at Whatcom. Fugitive Merrill is believed to have held up a woman at Sidney last night and then taken to the woods. It is estimated that 1000 men are interested in the chase.

Seattle, Wash., July 7.—The sheriff's office is in possession of information which clearly establishes that the fugitive outlaw, Tracy, on Friday night succeeded in eluding his pursuers in the northern end of the county and crossed the Sound in a row boat from Meadow Point, his original point of landing, to Port Madison, Ball Bridge Island. Tracy appeared at the home of John Johnson at Port Madison at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, took possession of the premises and spent the afternoon.

He ate heartily, changed clothing, and at dusk impressed a hired man named Anderson in, debarking with him in Johnson's row boat, presumably for Hood's Canal country. Sheriff Cuddehe has practically abandoned the search in this county, and at noon today chartered the tug Sea Lion and left in hot pursuit of the fleeing outlaw. He went first to Port Madison, and from there took up the chase accompanied by a small body of determined guards.

Slept in Graveyard.

After the battle Thursday night, Tracy slept in a graveyard on the outskirts of Seattle, proceeded to the ranch of Fisher Friday morning, secured food and slept and rested in the woods all that day and night. Early Saturday morning he appeared at Meadow Point on the water front three miles north of Seattle. There he compelled a Japanese fisher boy to row him to Madison Point, 12 miles across and down the Sound from Seattle. He dismissed the Jap, declaring that the latter would be killed by Tracy's pals if he ever told of the trip.

Held Up Farm House.

Tracy landed near the home of Farmer Johnson, watched the house for an hour or two to make sure of the number of men there, and finding but two, he entered the house. He announced that he had intended to kill everyone on the ranch and take charge of the place for a few days, and then added: "But after seeing your pretty little girl, I will kill no one if you will mind me. I will be here all day."

Ate With the Family.

The family prepared breakfast for Tracy and put one plate on the table against the wall.

"This is not right," declared the convict. "Put the table in the room and all sit down with me," which was done. Tracy then read Friday evening's papers and after learning how Mrs. Van Horn had betrayed his presence in her house to the butcher boy, said that he had been careless in not keeping everyone in that house under his eyes.

Carelessness Caused Killing.

"My carelessness in this respect made it necessary to kill two officers," he said. After the conversation he made them give him a large bundle of clothing and hats and six days' supply of food cooked for him, put on Farmer Johnson's suit of Sunday black and had food, clothing and blankets made into bundles. At 8 o'clock he bound and tightly gagged the Johnson family, made their hired man, Anderson, carry the bundles to Johnson's boat, put Anderson in the boat on the oars and started down the Sound.

The Alarm Given.

Mrs. Johnson released herself and the others two hours later and notified Deputy Sheriff McKay, who lives at Madison Point.

McKay secured a boat and sent word to Seattle this morning. Sheriff Cuddehe was summoned from Bothel, and at 10:30, with several others, started down the Sound in a tug boat looking for a white skiff containing the daring desperado and farm hand. Tracy had 15 hours' start, however, and the supposition is that he will row all night, probably kill Anderson sink the boat and disappear in the wild forests of Northern Washington where he can live many days on his supply of food.

Tracy Has Landed.

Late this afternoon ex-Deputy Sheriff McKay reports from Port Madison that an Indian woman saw Tracy at the reservation twice yesterday and that this morning she killed rifle shots near her house. It is believed Tracy and Anderson sunk the boat and then made across the country to the reservation.

Twenty armed men have just left Port Madison from where they will search the country lying between that town and the reservation.

Not Tracy's Boat Seen.

Deputy Sheriff Hurd, of Skagit county, has just reported at the sheriff's that the white boat seen at Deception Pass yesterday was overhauled by the tug and found to have no connection with Tracy's Port Madison escape. The boat belonged to August Klock, who lives near Deception.

Tracy's Boat Found.

Later—The posse has just found the boat stolen by Tracy, moored at the head of Miller Bay, above the reservation. More men have gone into the forest in pursuit. This corroborates the Indian's story.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

SMALL BOY LOST FOOT IN A SICKLE.

Team started Up While Lad Stood in Front of Machine and the Member Was Cut Off.

A very distressing accident occurred on Wild Horse, four miles from Pendleton, Sunday evening, when Amil Beckman, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Beckman, got in front of a moving mowing sickle with the result that his right foot was almost severed from the leg. Mr. Beckman had been mowing and had stopped to oil the machine. His little son was playing and got in front of the sickle when the team started and his leg was caught. The bone was cut entirely off and the little one was brought to town, where Drs. Smith and Henderson amputated the foot. The child is at the sisters' hospital, where he is doing as nicely as could be expected. It was taken off about four inches above the ankle.

A VERSATILE CHINK.

Ty, a John Day Chinaman, is a Versatile wonder.

For a quarter of a century there has stood in Galena, or the old town of Susanville, in the northern part of Grant county, the shack of a chinaman named Ty, who can safely claim to be the most versatile Mongolian in the northwest.

Ty is about 50 years of age and came to this country when quite young. His intelligence and business ability surpasses that of the ordinary individual. He is blacksmith, watchmaker, shoemaker and butcher for Susanville and holds an enviable position in the Celestial population of that village.

It is a familiar sight to see Ty shoeing a freighter's horse, while a miner stands around with a watch waiting to get it fixed and a villager urges him to hurry repairs on dilapidated shoes and some one else clamors to have him hasten over to kill a beef. What more accomplishments Ty has is not evident, though he frequently turns his hand from one to the other of the above four with remarkable rapidity. Asked what his trade is Ty responds: "Oh, everything; me does 'em all."

Mrs. A. A. Anderson has given $100,000 for free bathing establishments for the poor of New York City, and the municipal authorities have voted $325,000 for the same purpose, as a result of recent agitation of the subject.

WHAT IS MAN?

He is But "A Painful Wart on the Heel of Time."

The editor of an exchange, who is undoubtedly an ingrown pessimist, recently dabbled with the muses on the subject of mankind and his folks in this wise:

"Man that is born of woman is of few days and full of microbes.

"Sorrow and headache follow him all the days of his life.

"He hoppedeth from his bed in the morning and his foot is pierced by the tack of disappointment.

"He sitteth himself down to rest at noonday, and is lacerated in his nether anatomy by the pip of disaster.

"He walketh through the streets of the city in the pride and glory of his manhood, and slippeth on the banana peel of misfortune and unjointeth his neck.

"He is stung by the mosquito of annoyance by day and his frame is gnawed by the bedbugs of affliction at night.

"What is man but the blind worm of fate?—seeing that his days are numbered by cycles of pain and his years by seasons of mourning.

"In his infancy he runneth over with worms and colic, and in his old age he groweth with rheumatism and ingrown toe nails.

"He marryeth a cross-eyed woman because her father hath a bank account, and findeth she is ridden with hysteria and believeth in witches.

"He exalteth himself among the people and swelleth with pride, but when the votes are counted he findeth he was not in it.

"He trusteth in a man who claimeth to be filled with righteousness and standeth high in the synagogues, and gets done up.

"For behold his pious friend is full of guile and runneth over with deception.

"From the cradle to the grave man giveth his aims to him that smiteth him.

"His seed multiplieth around him and crieth for bread, and if his sons come to honor he knoweth it not.

"What is a man but a painful wart on the heel of time."
