HAS TRACY KILLED MERRILL?

(Concluded.)

universal success in obtaining arms while in prison and getting away when the attempt was made makes it almost as though "Old Nick" himself has condescended to assist his foster child.

Escaped From Utah Pen.

In 1897 the desperado was sent to the Utah penitentiary to serve a term of one year for burglary. After two months in the prison he escaped one morning with three other convicts. While working with the other men he enticed the guard near him on a pretense of having broken his shovel. Then when the officer was too close to operate his short-barrelled shotgun, Tracy suddenly covered him with a revolver, forced him to exchange clothes, marched the squad out of sight of the prison and fled with the other convicts, none of whom were ever recaptured.

Murder in Colorado.

On the way across the country in his flight from Utah, Tracy stole a horse and buggy and escaped to Colorado, where he quarreled with a young ranchman and killed him. For this crime he was arrested by Colorado officers and placed in jail, but escaped after beating three guards into insensibility. He was recaptured, but escaped again in two weeks, after almost killing a guard by clubbing him on the head. From that time nothing further was heard from him until he became notorious in Oregon.

The Hole-in-the-Wall Gang.

Tracy is also wanted in Colorado to answer charges of murder, robbery and horse stealing. He was about to be tried for the murder of Valentine Hove, a wealthy cattleman of Routt county, when he bound and gagged the sheriff at Aspen, Col., obtained his liberty and left for Oregon. Tracy was a leader in the once notorious "Hole in the Wall" or Powder Springs gang of outlaws, that infested the northwestern corner of Routt county, near the Utah and Wyoming lines.

Gang Broken Up.

The murder of William Strong, a boy, caused the citizens of Western Colorado to demand the extermination of the gang. A posse of sheriffs was formed and war declared on the desperadoes. When the posse encountered the outlaws a desperate battle was fought. Several were wounded on each side. Hoyt, a member of the posse was killed. Four outlaws were afterward captured by a posse made up of Utah militia and Colorado cowboys, led by Deputy Sheriff Farnham. Jack Bennett, the first to be captured, was believed to be the murderer of Strong, and he was lynched near the Colorado line. Tracy, Land and P. L. Johnstone were taken into custody near Powder Springs after a hot fight. Johnstone was taken to Wyoming, where he was afterward tried and sentenced for life. Tracy and Land were convicted at Aspen, but subsequently escaped.

TOO MUCH NOISE.

Hoodlums Are Cursing and Using Foul Language on Streets.

Fred Kemper registers a kick against the noise that is being made during the night by hoodlums passing up and down the street near his home on Webb street. Mr. Kemper says that for some time past there has hardly been a night without somebody in front of his place yelling and making all kinds of noise, while sometimes the very worst kind of blackguarding and cursing is heard. He says it is this he does not like, as he could put up with the noise if decent language was used. He threatens severe treatment if it is not stopped.

WANTS TO RECOVER.

Action Started on Note and Claims for Wages.

C. B. Wade vs. the Northwestern Livestock and Woolgrowers' Company, is the title of a suit filed at the court house today. The first cause of action is to recover judgment for a note for $650, bearing date of July 7, 1902, and the second cause of action is to recover $917.75 alleged due J. P. McManus from defendant for services on the Stock Journal, the claim of McManus having been transferred to plaintiff. Carter & Raley are plaintiff's attorneys.

PICNIC AT FREEWATER.

Woodmen Will Hold a Celebration There July 11.

The Modern Woodmen of Walla Walla, will hold their annual picnic at Freewater on July 11, and a glorious time is anticipated. They will have a special train run from the north and have engaged the Freewater band to furnish the musical end of the program. Numerous special attractions have been arranged for which should make the celebration a great success.

Camps from Milton, Weston, Athena, Pendleton, Prescott, Dixie, Dayton, Waitsburg and other points are expected to attend, while all other camps are invited. Jeff Jennings, of Walla Walla, has the program in charge. Dancing will be provided, both afternoon and evening. A baseball game between a pickup nine from the Modern Woodmen and the Freewater team is probable.

Supreme Court Decision.

The supreme court has sustained the decision of the lower court in the case of M. A. Lowrey, respondent, vs. Henry F. Sterling, Thomas Wade and A. Ferguson, appellants. This was an appeal from Union county on a suit brought to test whether or not the state school board had the right to dispose of a mortgage on real property given by an administrator of an estate. The lower court decided that the administrator had the right to give a mortgage to satisfy claims against the estate and the mortgagee had the right to transfer it.
