There will be a business meeting of the Pendleton district school board in Dr. C. J. Smith's office this evening.

Time and trial have proven that there is no better ice cream made than Dutton's. We take pleasure in delivering it to your home.

John Cox is still resting easy at the sisters' hospital, but apparently there has been little change for the better since the operation, more than two weeks ago. He will probably be taken to Portland soon.

Pete Smith, the "Ward McAllister" of Eastern Oregon, has planned to entertain the public on Saturday evenings as well as Sunday and merriment will start every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. No change will be made in the Sunday program, but the music will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

F. F. Earnhart has engaged in the real estate and loan business and has opened an office in the Association block. He solicits the business of people having property for sale and also has on hand some very desirable city property, farms and ranches on which he is in a position to give bargains. Mr. Earnhart will in addition to his real estate and loan business do collecting and persons having outstanding accounts are asked to place them in his hands for adjustment. Read his advertisement in this issue.

Miss Minnie S. Rose, a graduate nurse, is located at 209 Turk street, where she would be pleased to respond to persons needing her services. She has placed a telephone in her home and can be reached by calling Black 354. Miss Rose thoroughly understands the duties of her profession and people of Pendleton will find her of great assistance in case of sickness. Her announcement will be found in the classified columns of the East Oregonian.

The interior of the progressive Peoples Warehouse has been enhanced and the convenience in displaying goods added to by two large new show cases, the combined length of which is 36 feet. The new cases are composed of plate glass from the floor to top and the frame work is of highly polished mahogany. It is built according to the most advanced ideas and has glass shelves resting on silver plated fixtures. The cases are the product of R. Lutke's factory, at Portland, and are a credit to the maker.

INDIAN POW-WOW.

The Aborigines Are Dancing Near the Mission.

All this week the big Indian pow-wow near the Mission, on the Umatilla reserve, about five miles from this city, has been in full swing, and has attracted large crowds of curious visitors daily.

The affair is the Fourth of July celebration of the genuine American, the native redskin, and is one of the biggest events in his calendar.

This celebration begins several days before the Fourth and lasts from two to three weeks or more, just as the inclination strikes the noble red.

In the morning the program of the camp is a general loaf, smoke the pipe of peace (cornucop) and wait for the afternoon. During the afternoon a war dance is generally held by the bucks, while the evening is taken up with a dance after the fashion of their pale face brothers.

The celebration at the reserve will last but a few days longer and then the Indians will drop the ways of the aborigine and take up once more the hoe and sythe of the white man until after harvest is over.

Oiling Tracks.

The Oregon Short Line is trying the experiment of sprinkling its roadbed through the desert and alkali portions of Idaho with crude petroleum, and is finding the proposition a very satisfactory one. It is now believed by the officials that they will succeed in completely abating the dust nuisance. Orders have been given for the oiling of the entire roadbed of the Oregon Short Line, and the experiment will then be extended to other portions of the Harriman roads.

Struck a Two-by-Foist.

Tom Milarkey is nursing a very sore head. Not as a result of coming in contact with a doubled-up flat, however, but from falling from a ladder and hitting a 2x6 scantling. Tom was posting bills on the board near the Boynton Feed Yard, when he fell from the ladder, striking his head, near the eye, on the piece of scantling. Quite a gash was cut in the flesh and the far knocked him out for a while.

FENCES MUST COME DOWN

ENCLOSURES OF PUBLIC DOMAIN MUST BE STOPPED.

Government Commission in Harney County Investigating Fencing of Government Land by Stock Men.

A special dispatch from Harney county states that A. R. Green, commissioned by the government to inspect all government land and make stock men who have lands belonging to the public domain, fenced remove them is in that county and several stock men have been requested to remove fences.

This is said to be the result of the famous Jessie Carr fight, of Southern Oregon, where the supreme court decided Carr could not hold land belonging to the government under fence. This means that all fenced government lands will be thrown open, and will affect many acres of land as well as numerous stock men. There is much land in Eastern Oregon which has been forced by stock men and many springs and watering places have been inclosed but these fences must come down.

When Mr. Green finishes his work in Harney County he is expected to cross over into Umatilla county.

To Meacham Tomorrow.

Regular Sunday excursion train leaves O. R. & N. depot at 5:45 a. m.; returning, leaves Meacham at 9:40 p. m. Round trip, $1. Stops at all stations going and coming.
