IMMIGRATION TALK.

Last night the first lot of immigrants to come west under the recent inauguration of the Harriman lines, reached Pendleton depot in their special car. Their reception was not what it should have been. They should have been met by a delegation charged with the duty of inducing them to remain over in this city for several days and look over the town and surrounding country.

There is no doubt but of the twenty-five or thirty families represented in the colony of last night some would have been found to locate here and add to the population of the community.

This is a matter in which deeper interest should be taken by the people of our city. If we are to build up here a great and substantial city, the Queen City of Eastern Oregon, as we undoubtedly have the resources to do, we must recognize that population in the surrounding country is the essential requirement, the foundation stone upon which all true prosperity of the city must be built up.

Umatilla county is not so well settled up but a large number of new families could be accommodated with beneficial results, and even after this county is populated to its uttermost limit there are other counties to be considered, the upbuilding of which will do much to benefit Pendleton and her people.

In Morrow county there are vast areas of practically virgin land which only awaits to coming of the settler to blossom into a garden spot of verdant beauty. Every settler secured for this county whether through the efforts of Pendleton people or not, will add to the business and prosperity of this city to a certain extent. Therefore our people should take deep interest in anything pertaining to the settlement of any section of country adjacent to this city.

Other parties of immigrants will be brought out shortly and arrangements should be made at once for receiving these properly and laying the advantages of Umatilla and surrounding counties before them in the most attractive light possible. Every immigrant who can be induced to settle anywhere within a radius of 150 to 200 miles of this city will more than repay any effort or expense to which our citizens may go to locate him.

The railroads are doing their share in line with the movement of immigration as outlined here a few days since by Messrs. Craig and McKinney of the O. R. & N. They are delivering the goods. Now Pendletonians should see that the people the roads bring to our doors are invited to remain among us and assist in building up the mighty metropolis of Eastern Oregon.

AN EPIDEMIC OF TRACYISM.

The execrable murders and dare-devil escapades of Harry Tracy, the Oregon desperado, who has for the past several weeks successfully eluded the entire civil and military authorities of two states, set at defiance the law, passed through the country like a spectre of evil, terrorizing the inhabitants, forcing them at rifle point to provide his necessities of life, and slaying like a fiend when his pathway is barred, have turned a new page in the annals of Western crime.

Henceforth the criminal who would attract more than casual attention, must be a veritable human Mephistopheles; a man without fear, with the cunning of the fox and the venom of the serpent; one who will stop at no crime, no matter what its enormity, to attain his ends, and whose escapades must be not only dare-devil, but original as well.

The doings of Harry Tracy have been given their full and running-over measure of publicity in the newspapers throughout the country, and already many would-be emulators of his crimes are springing up. In Kentucky within the past week, two men attempted to steal a steamboat, as did Tracy the gasoline launch, but both were deterred from their purpose by an overdose of lead administered by the mate of the vessel. They were taken ashore for burial at the first station.

In Portland last Saturday, a human degenerate shot and almost instantly killed his wife, his sister-in-law, his father-in-law and another party; Rucker Rogers escaped from the Walla Walla penitentiary shortly after the Tracy-Merrill escape, and has not yet been recaptured; two soldiers made a daring break from the guard-house at the fort in the same city.

Last week the authorities at Salem discovered a plot on foot for another bold escape from the penitentiary there; Tracy and Merrill are reported on reasonable evidence, to be organizing an outlaw band. The country is undergoing an epidemic of Tracyism.

THE AWAKENING OF RUSSIA.

The Czar of Russia has taken up the task of inquiring into the reason for the murder and attempted murder of high officials of his government by the student and working classes.

If the Czar is earnest and honest, he will not need to search far for a thousand reasons. If he can put away his arrogance and the empty doctrine that royalty is better in any single instance than the peasantry, for one hour, and deal in the naked truth of social conditions as he finds them, he will be overwhelmed with reasons—not all of them justifying murder, but all of them provoking it.

In the first place, merit does not count in Russia. Royal favor is the basis of all individual success.

Education, fitness, mental and moral training do not enter into the choice of selecting men for positions.

Students are looked down upon, because the light of learning has opened their eyes to true conditions, and they are considered dangerous to the perpetuation of monarchy. On the slightest excuse, they are thrown into prison, banished, exiled, condemned to the Siberian mines and their families disgraced and property confiscated.

The insolent severity of the Russian police system is another fruitful cause of revolution and Nihilism.

No home is free from the brutal invasion of this pet of royalty. On the slightest hint of suspicion; a nod of the head of some favorite, toward the home of some family which belongs to the student class the house is searched, the inmates arrested, thrown into prison without trial, and the sacred ties of home trampled by the paid thugs of royalty.

The severity of Russian military law, the horror of life-long exile, the lingering death of the Siberian prisons, the futility of honest effort to gain success without being puppet to crown, all these are reasons for revolution, which Nicholas will find everywhere.

The tax system which takes all the substance from the poor; the drain upon the land of the largest standing army on earth; the favoritism of the government which crushes all honest ambition; the severe intolerance of the church, state and nobility, which bars out the right to speak, think or print facts contrary to their liking; the land system which makes practical slaves out of those who seek to own a small home; the arrogance and insolence, severity and brutality of officials, government departments and military powers; all these and a thousand other reasons are beneath the murderous assaults upon Russian authorities.

If Nicholas would practice what he preaches, matters would change in Russia. It was he who issued the invitation for the peace conference. Why did he not prepare his government for peace?

Ah, he could not gain notoriety by doing so thankless a thing. He must stand upon a street corner of the world, where he could be seen and praised of men.

Why does he not decrease the Russian army, lessen the military expense, liberate his subjects from the thrall of despotism, recognize individual merit, reduce the powers of the petty tyrants in official positions, and in short, introduce in his reign that sacred code of civil government which the twentieth century needs, and which humanity longs for.

He need not look outside his own council chamber for hundreds of abuses which spur his subjects on to deeds of violence.

Serfs, hrones, despots, armies—all these breed anarchists, nihilists and murderers.

We Know What

Is going to happen to the little boy who is stuffing himself with green apples. A grown man couldn't be induced to try that experiment; and yet the grown man will overload himself with indigestible food for which he will pay a greater penalty than colic. It is this careless and thoughtless eating which is the beginning of stomach trouble and all its painful consequences.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other forms of "stomach trouble." It restores the weak and run-down man or woman to sound health.

"Some time has elapsed since I have written you in regard to the treatment I have been taking under your instructions," says Mr. E. F. Cingmars, of Minneapolis, Minn. "When first I commenced taking your remedies I was under treatment of a well-known specialist in this city (and had been for four months), for catarrh, and especially stomach trouble, and I was rapidly getting worse. Got so bad that I could not eat anything that did not distress me terribly, and I was obliged to quit taking the doctor's treatment entirely. I was greatly reduced in flesh. As a last resort I wrote to you and stated my case, and after receiving your instructions I followed them closely. After taking five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets' I commenced to improve, and decided to continue the medicines and observe your instructions regarding hygienic treatment. It is now nearly six months since I commenced your treatment and I can say that I am well and never felt better in my life. Am very grateful to you for what your medicine has done for me."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.
