SHEEP POLLUTE THE CREEK.

Sumpter's Water Supply is Made Impure by the Animals.

Sumpter has enjoyed drinking quite thick water the past week, as a result of sheep grazing on the watershed of Pole Creek, whence the supply is taken for the city says the Blue Mountain American. Sheep have overrun the claims, eaten off the grass near the prospector's cabin where his only horse fed, trampled the ore on the dump, and intruded every other way possible upon the quiet of Sumpter's adjacent mining districts, but not till the present have the herders run their bands through the creek affording the water supply. Water should be protected by forest reserves, as was done by Baker City after the Bull run and other streams had been secured by that municipality. The government has shown a willingness to set apart a water shed for a forest reserve, if there is timber on it, and it is pointed out that the tract should be kept free of stock for the health of the people using the water. Stock should not be grazed on the mineral land of another man than the owner. It is understood that much of the ground at the head of Pole and Wind creeks is staked as mineral claims, which should warn herders to keep away. If the water is kept polluted by sheep as it has been for the past week, the humble citizens of this city will become so agitated that they will be ardent advocates of any measure to keep sheep out of the country.

DIAMOND CHATTER

NEWS OF THE GAME IN THE NEW LEAGUE.

No Salary Limit—Will Be But Four-Team League—Season Will Be a Success—Gold Diggers Happy—Percentage Changes.

There will be no salary limit in the Inland Empire League.

This was definitely decided upon at the recent meeting of the managers of the various clubs in Walla Walla. It had been proposed that a limit be put either upon the amount to be expended monthly for its team by each member of the league, or upon the individual salaries to be paid, but when the question was brought up for discussion it was decided that as all but one or two of the contracts with players had already been made there was no use in establishing a rule which would be without practical effect and the matter was accordingly dropped.

But a Four-Team League.

The question of admitting teams outside the original four into the league was also discussed at some length and it has been decided that no other teams shall come in as the towns who wish to join are too far away and the present schedule would have to be entirely rearranged or the games already played dropped out of the contest.

About Outside Games.

All the teams in the new league now have their certified checks up in the hands of Walter N. Pierce, the president, and the organization may now be said to be well launched. So far the games played under the league in various towns have proved most satisfactory and from the size of the crowds in attendance and the enthusiasm manifested, there is good reason to predict a highly successful season and a reorganization of the league next year. The average paid attendance at the games in all the towns in the league runs over 300, which is somewhat better than was expected by even the most sanguine.

Gold Diggers Are Happy.

The Baker City Gold Diggers arrived in the city last evening on their way home, where they will meet the Sharpshooters on their own grounds Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week. The boys were highly elated over their successful invasion of the Sharpshooters' territory, the three games they won out of their series there putting them into second place instead of in the tail-end, where they were after their mix-up with the Pendleton Indians.

Some Quick Changes of Place.

And speaking of changing places, the shifts which have been made since the league series was commenced are rather surprising, even though there have been but eight games played.

The first four games played by each team put La Grande and Pendleton a tie for first place and Baker City and Walla Walla even for hind-end. Then the Beet Pullers came to Pendleton and lost four straight, which put them in third place, while the Gold Diggers who were easy things for Pendleton, went over to Walla Walla and did stunts with the Sharpshooter aggregation which cinched the hold of that team on last place and pulled the Diggers up to second. Meanwhile, Pendleton had slid out from tie for first place to a percentage which is exactly equal to those of both Baker and La Grande, who stand second and third respectively. The next four games, however, may turn things all around again.

Line Hits.

"Lefty" Willard, formerly of the Yellow Kids, is said to be making goody-good with the Gold Diggers.

Ziegler, late captain and third baseman for the Indians, is weeding the right garden for the Portland leaguers.

Little "Bobby" Clark, of the Beet Pullers, showed himself in his games here to be one of the safest hitting pitchers in the league.

Kelly and Hulbert, new men with Walla Walla, are said to be among the fastest who have been playing in the Northwest league. They should "help some."

Gatsch, who recently joined with Walla Walla, has the record in Spokane of giving 12 men bases on balls in one game, and it wasn't a good day for bases, either.

La Grande could do wonders by infusing a little more young blood in her team. The new men she has already put in helped remarkably, but there are still too many "old timers."

The Beet Pullers should gag Danny Shea at the beginning of every game. He is fierce when he is playing and is just as liable to bite some of his own team as one of the opposing players.

With the recent addition of "Tamarack" Adams and "Sure Shot" Schills, the Indians now have an entire team of practically safe batters, men who can be counted on to find the ball when hits are badly needed. "Doc" Schmidt, the Indians' second baseman, is rolling up his batting average like a prospector putting up his blankets. Base hits, two-baggers, three-baggers, home runs; they all look alike to "Doc" and he lands on them regardless of consequences.
