"An 'luddermo', bredren," declared Parson Snowball, while the revival was in progress, "an 'luddermo', 's hyuh ter say dat what we does in dis world we swine ter do in de nex'."
Here some one in the amen corner set up a wild chorus of "Glory! Glory!" "Who dat done got de grace?" asked Parson Snowball.
"Dat's Zeke Johnson. He drives de ice wagon," said one of the deacons, in tones that bordered on sarcasm.

ABOUT SHOOTING OF SHEEP

SOME STRAIGHT INFORMATION REGARDING THE SLAUGHTER.

Antelope Herald Has Interview With Man Who Gave Particulars Regarding the Killing of the Animals.

The first information with any appearance of accuracy coming in regarding the shooting of J. C. Moore's sheep while on pasture as reported in yesterday's East Oregonian, is contained in a recent issue of the Antelope Herald, which says regarding this affair:

There seems to be more truth in the report of serious trouble between stockmen in the mountains than was first credited. George Clark, of Mt. Vernon, who arrived in town yesterday, reports that on last Friday, a band of sheep belonging to Jerome Moore of Mt. Vernon were shot into while corralled at Show Shoe, near Bear Valley. The band of sheep was corralled during the night, and at about 12 o'clock a party of men appeared and began shooting into them, with the result that 325 head were killed. This is the most serious shooting scrape that has occurred, and will doubtless lead to further trouble.

Mr. Moore has no idea as to the identity of the men who did the shooting, further than a general idea as to the parties "in interest." A peculiar phase of the shooting is that Mr. Moore was being using this same range for summering his sheep for the past ten years, and surely no stockman had a better right than he to it, according to the custom of the country.

Mr. Clark feels that he has been very fortunate in the sale of his sheep at the time he sold. He was headed for the same neighborhood in which Mr. Moore's sheep were located, but sold his sheep while they were enroute to the mountains, and they were turned back. But for this, he believes that he too would have suffered a severe loss.

Here's Another Story. Charles J. Ladiges, who is in the employ of S. B. Barker, of Condon, and who was with Mr. Barker's band of sheep in Bear Valley at the time of the recent shooting, was in town last week and stated to a Condon News representative that the report in regard to the shooting was exaggerated. He said: "About 20 sheep were killed and about the same number wounded, which, of course, had to be killed, in order to move on with the band. One of our dogs was wounded and one of the bullets entered a pack on the back of one of the horses, imbedding itself in a book in the pack."

Continuing, he said: "Two or three hundred shots were exchanged, but none of the sheepmen nor their horses were hurt. As to whether any of the aggressors were wounded I do not know, although it has been so reported."

Mr. Ladiges says that no further trouble is anticipated. His sheep at present are near Logan valley.

May Bring Relief. Sheepmen are now curious to know what effect the locating of so much timber land in the mountains will have upon their business, says the Grant County News. When the claimants secure title to the land it will be theirs to do with as they like. Whether they will keep sheep off or whether they will lease it is not known. Owners of sheep rather hope the claimants will offer to lease the land, as thereby they can secure rights to summer range that they do not now have.

THE CROP BULLETIN. Past Week Was a Most Favorable One for Oregon Crops.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climat and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Oregon Section, for the week ending Monday, July 28:

The past week has been rainless and with temperatures averaging slightly above the normal.

On one or two days the winds were hot and it is thought that they caused some slight damage to spring grain. The harvesting of fall grain continues in an in southern Oregon the work is well along. No thrashing of any consequence has yet been done and it is too early to obtain much information regarding yields. The grain heads are large and the berry is plump but fears are entertained that in the Umatilla wheat sections the yields will be disappointing. Elsewhere it is thought they will be up to expectations. The outlook is favorable for a heavy crop of oats.

Pastures have dried up fast during the week, but stock continues in good condition. In the coast counties and in the Plateau section of the state the hay crop turned out to be larger and better than expected.

Early potatoes are spotted with blight in some sections in the coast counties, but in general, both early and late potatoes are doing well. Hops, corn, sugar beets, field onions, and gardens continue to make satisfactory advancement.

Italian prunes in many sections are reported a total failure. The apple crop promises to be a fair one and so far, the damage by the codlin moth has been less than usual.

More Texas Floods. Dallas, July 30.—Heavy rains and floods in Texas were renewed yesterday, the downpour of rain extending from Santone to Texarkana. The Arkansas Pass railroad is so badly damaged by washouts and the loss of bridges that traffic is suspended for the time being.
