AT NO TIME IN THE GAME COULD BAKER WIN.

The Gold Diggers Have a Strong Team, But They Will Have to Sharpen Their Knives to Get Many Indian Scalps.

Pendleton took the first of the series with Baker City at the baseball park Thursday in an exhibition that was slow, but interesting. The Gold Diggers have been considerably strengthened since their last encounter with the Indians, and fans looked forward to this game with the expectation of seeing first-class ball. They were disappointed, however, for it was liberally interspersed with errors. The contest belonged to the Indians from the start, although once or twice the visitors made things look interesting. The game was deemed by some very snappy field work at times.

Thomas did not prove to be the whirlwind predicted. He was found for 12 hits, but only one earned run was scored from his delivery. The support accorded him by the miners was ragged and a weak pitcher would have given up in disgust. Taking all things into consideration Thomas is the hardest man which the local sluggers have been up against since the league was organized.

Taylor pitched a good game, as he always does. His support was also poor, but he did not let this affect his work in the box. Adams behind the bat caught a very nice game. The batting honors of the game belong to Adams, with a triple and two singles.

How Runs Were Made.

Schills led off with a two-base hit. Fay flew out to Crawford and Stovall was thrown out at first, Schills going to third on the play. Schmidt knocked a line drive to Clemens, who dropped it, allowing Schills to score, and Schmidt to reach second. Hammond was safe at first on a fumble of Ferris. Adams drove a long fly to right field which Brown misjudged. Schmidt and Hammond scored and Adams rested on third. Wilner retired the side with a fly to Mahaffey.

In the second Rhea drew a pass and Taylor fanned. Schill reached first on fielder's choice, forcing Rhea out at second, stole second, and went to third on wild throw of Woods. Fay was safe at first by error of Crawford and stole second while Schills was scoring. Stovall was out, Crawford to Mahaffey.

Pendleton added another run in the third. Hammond got a two-bagger, went to third on a passed ball, and scored on error of Hupp. The only earned run in the game came for the Indians in the fifth, when Stovall and Schmidt hit safe and Hammond and Adams bunted successfully, scoring Stovall.

Schills Stole a Tally.

Schills reached second in the sixth when George Brown muffed his long fly. Although the next three men went out in succession, Schills by some clever base running, managed to score.

The last run of the Red Men was in the seventh. Adams knocked a hot grounder past second and took second base when Bluth fumbled the ball. He got to third on an error of Crawford and scored when Hays hit safe.

The Gold Diggers Digging.

Ferris was first up for Baker City. He sent a long fly to center and Hammond dropped it, Ferris getting to second. Mahaffey was out, fly to Fay. Hupp reached first on wild throw, Fay to Stovall, Ferris advancing to third on the play. Hupp tried to steal second but was caught, while Ferris scored. Crawford knocked a grounder to Stovall and was put out.

In the next three innings the men from the mines went out in one, two, three order. The fifth, however, was different. Woods and Bluth each singled and Brown got to first on fielder's choice, Woods going out at third. Thomas lined one to Wilner, who dropped it, only to pick up the ball and overthrow third, allowing Bluth, Brown and Thomas to score. Ferris was safe at first on error of Taylor, Mahaffey flew out to Wilner and Hupp reached first on Fay's fumble. Ferris retired the side by being cut off at home plate in attempting to work the double steal with Hupp.

Baker's last score came in the sixth. Schmidt dropped a fly knocked by Clemens. Crawford advanced "Clem" to second, but was thrown out at first. Woods hit for two bases and brought Clemens across the plate. Bluth was hit by a pitched ball and took first. Brown sent a grounder to Fay, who threw to Schmidt, who threw to Stovall, completing a pretty double play. The only miner to get on a base for the last three innings was Crawford, who hit for two bags.

The work of both Stovall and Mahaffey on first was good. Fay and Schmidt made some difficult stops. Rhea, Wilner and Clemens made hard catches in the out field. Schills at third, and Ferris at second, did some very quick work. Hammond, the new center fielder, made a good impression, both in the field and at the bat. The umpiring of Mr. Breed was above the average. Not the least of
