

WALLA WALLA NEWS

A TWELVE-INNING BALL GAME PLAYED SUNDAY.

Town Was Not So Tightly Closed This Week—Barbers Have Reached an Agreement—Walla Walla's School Children—Funeral of a Pioneer.

Walla Walla, August 4.—The last game of ball between Walla Walla and La Grande, a series of four games being played on the local grounds, took place yesterday afternoon in the presence of about 800 people. The day was hot and bright, but the crowd experienced little inconvenience in watching the game. It was close from start to finish, and extremely interesting. Many pronounced it one of the very best games of the season. Ryan acted as umpire and gave general satisfaction. Twelve innings had to be played, when the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of the locals. La Grande made seven hits and five errors; Walla Walla, four hits and three errors. Time, two and a quarter hours.

Closed, But Not Closed.

Despite the fact that Walla Walla was a closed town yesterday, ice cream and soda water were sold, and the vendors did a land-office business until the supply gave out. An ice cream plant and soda fountain were fitted up on a wagon with two horses hitched to it. The rig appeared upon the streets early in the morning in charge of two young men, and for hours a crowd of people patronized the enterprising young fellows, until the supply of soda and cream was exhausted, and the concern had to close up. Not an ice cream parlor was open, and the only place where refreshments, other than water at the city hydrants, could be had, was the portable concern on Main street. Not even a cigar could be purchased at the drug stores, which were open all day.

It is thought here that the law does not cover the plan of selling from a wagon, except as the city regulates peddling by issuing licenses.

Barbers' Trouble Settled.

For some time the master barbers of this city have been waging war upon the ten-cent shops, and it has about reached a settlement upon an amicable basis. Several shops have been run on the ten-cent plan, while the best shops have been compelled to charge 15 cents, and the business has been more or less unsettled for a year or so.

Recently a union was organized among the barbers and the situation was simplified. Now all over the city the sign, "Union Shop," will greet the eye of the patron of the man with razor and brush, and a set of rules have been adopted, looking toward the pleasant conduct of the business in future.

Several of the ten-cent shops have raised the price to 15 cents for shaving, and agreed to abide by the decision of the majority in all matters.

To Close on Sunday.

The first move has been brought about by the agreement to close on Sundays. Yesterday was the last Sunday that shops will be open, according to the agreement, notice having been given to this effect. For a year or two spasmodic efforts to close on holidays and Sundays have been made, with more or less failure every time. Now it is proposed to close early each evening during the week except Saturday, and remain closed all day Sunday, with the rate of 15 cents for shaving and 25 cents for hair cut generally prevailing over the city.

Walla Walla School Children. In Walla Walla county there are 4983 children of school age, according to the report of Superintendent Myers, just issued. Of these, 2491 are males and 2492 females. To teach these children, or as many of them as attended school, required 122 teachers, 91 being women and 31 men. Salaries paid averaged $64.20 per month for men and $52.15 for women. The total enrollment last year was 3971.

Funeral of John Dooley.

The funeral of John Dooley, the pioneer resident and wealthy farmer, was held from the Catholic church this morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. Father Flohr conducting the services. The body was removed from the family residence on North Second street, to the Catholic church where the impressive burial service was rendered. The body was interred in the Catholic cemetery. The funeral procession was a large one. Mr. Dooley had resided in this city for 45 years, and had accumulated a snug fortune, being considered one of the wealthiest men in the county. For several years he had been retired on account of failing health. He was 70 years of age, and left a family consisting of a wife and four children. Death was due to blood poisoning, occasioned, it is said, by treating a corn with a razor.

BEAUTIFUL WALLAWA.

Delights of a Camping Trip in That Lovely Section.

The Misses Flora and Nora Watkins and Miss Hallie Strickland, have just returned to Meacham from a nine-days' visit at Walla Walla Lake, where they enjoyed the mountain and lake breezes, admired the scenery and boarded at a farm house, boated on the lake, and caught nine fish.

They tell in glowing terms of the beauty of the scenery of the Walla Walla country, saying that it surpasses anything ever before witnessed by them. Walla Walla Lake itself is a delightful body of water one mile in width and four miles long, it is fed from never-falling springs in the bottom of the lake and there is a great difference in the nature of the flow from these springs, some of them being very warm, while others are icy cold, so there are places in the lake where the water is warm and comfortable and other spots where it is too cold for a person to remain more than a few minutes.

Up the Wallawa River, about a mile from the lake, there are a series of beautiful falls where the water surges and roars through three separate cataracts, finally falling into a deep basin which is continually churned to foam by the rush of waters. These falls are declared to out-rival Niagara in beauty, although not in magnitude, by those who have seen both.

Mt. Tunnel is also another feature of this section, it being one of the highest mountains in the state, said to be even higher than famous Mt. Hood.

Walla Walla Lake is reached after a stage ride of 60 miles, but the young ladies declare that it is more than worth the rigors of the trip to rest on the banks of this lovely body of water, which is dropped down like a mirror of beauty in the very midst of rocky gorges, cliffs and canyons.

Its distance from a railway has kept the Wallawa country back, but there is promise of a road from Lewiston within the next year or so and that part of the country is settling up rapidly, some elegant ranches and homes having already been established there. Within a few years that entire section will blossom into a veritable garden of Eden.

To Remain Here.

C. W. Dunbar has returned from Bingham Springs, where he went last week with Sam Robinson. Mr. Dunbar says Mr. Robinson is somewhat knocked out from the effects of his head coming in contact with a stone a few days ago. Mr. Robinson was fishing and stepping on a slippery stone, fell, hitting his head on another stone. Mr. Dunbar is a recent arrival from Skaguay, Alaska, where he established and ran the Daily Alaskan. He will establish his residence here, having sold his interests in the north.

Game Birds in Gilliam.

A number of "Bob White" quail and Chinese pheasants have been seen on lower Rock Creek this summer. Andrew Greiner brought a few pairs of these birds from the Willamette valley about four years ago and liberated them on his ranch in Mayville precinct. They were seen on Thirty-mile several times after being turned loose, but finally disappeared from there altogether. It is now thought possible that these birds may have migrated to Rock Creek and that the coveys seen there are their descendants. If such is the case it may be taken as pretty good evidence that these fine game birds will thrive in this county.—Condon Globe.
