

PENDLETON SPIRIT

SINGLEDNESS OF PURPOSE THAT KEEPS TOWN TO FRONT.

People of Pendleton Can Always be Counted Upon to Produce Funds Necessary to Carry Out Any Scheme for Benefit of Town.

Here is a bit of correspondence from Pendleton appearing in the columns of the Oregon Daily Journal which is worthy of reproduction:

"Here is the greatest town of the size in the world, says the Pendletonian, and it is in this spirit that Pendleton has gone forth to conquer municipal success. What makes for Pendleton's good, people here stand for. What will build up the town, give commercial or social excellences, for these Pendleton people strive. Pendleton folks plan big. They carry out their plans. Failure is seldom written as the outcome of schemes that take hold of the public heart here. In the bright lexicon of Pendleton, there is no such word as 'funkt.'"

"Let us take one phase setting forth the character of the Pendletonian—public subscriptions. There is something marvelous about the manner in which enterprises worthy of support are backed by local people. Everyone here, excepting a few local and alien landlords, get into the procession when the subscription books are opened.

Money for the Academy.

"Here is an instance of Pendleton liberality. The Pendleton Academy is a local institution that has grown slowly but surely, until it has about 200 students in all departments. It needed new buildings, and someone connected with the school told this to some of the business men.

"Need some new buildings? Why we'll get them for you, and it was but a short time later when there was in hand $6,000 of Pendleton money, as a basis of securing funds elsewhere—$5,000 in the East, $1,000 from W. M. Ladd, of Portland and $4,000 realized from the sale of the old site. This was $16,000. Pendleton has only 6,000 population.

"The people here will be rather surprised to read this in form of praise of their liberality. They do this sort of thing every once in a while, with exceedingly brief intermissions between the whiles.

"A dozen other enterprises could be cited—woolen and scouring mills, road building, Commercial Association, ad finitum, only the finis has not yet been reached.

$2500 for Baseball.

"These Pendleton people are not only attentive to business and education. They like sports, too, and they put up liberally for them. Last spring when the baseball fever microbes attacked the tissue of the corporate body of Pendleton, someone aspired to put a first class team in the field. A committee went out and returned in exactly six hours with $2500 of bankable subscriptions on paper, in the form of legal takings of capital stock of a company it was proposed to incorporate.

"The company was incorporated and the team stands at the head of the Inland Empire Baseball League, with a lead so great as to make it unlikely that their competitors ever will catch up with them. It shows itself in baseball as well as in other matters. Whether they are building academies or collecting ballplayers, that spirit conquers.

Other Plans.

"Pendleton people plan other things for their town. The ideas are yet only incubating, but they will hatch, and they will hatch big enterprises. The Pendleton spirit proposes to make this a town equal to any other in the West of its size, if, indeed, it be not already in advance of any of them. You would better keep your eye on this bunchgrass town. It is going to be important in the commercial and economic development of the Pacific Northwest. It is going to keep to the front of the procession."

Newspaper Published at Sea.

The new system of wireless telegraphy renders possible the realization of the prediction that newspapers would be published on ocean liners. They could not, however, be as much up-to-date or effective as those published on land. In this respect they would differ widely from the famous Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, because it has been proven to be just as effective on sea as on land. We would therefore urge everyone contemplating an ocean trip to take a supply with them. It is invaluable as a tonic and preventive of sea-sickness. Those who remain on land should always keep a bottle of it in the house to cure heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation and malaria. Don't fail to try it.

HONORED A FIGURER.

Monument of Great Norwegian Mathematician is Unveiled.

Christiana, Aug. 5.—A monument in honor of Norway's famous mathematician, Niels Henryk Abel, was unveiled in Christiania today. The ceremonies were of an interesting character and were conducted under the auspices of the university of authorities.

Niels Henryk Abel was born at Finno, near Stavanger, in the year 1802. In 1821 he became a student of the University of Christiania and four years later he went abroad. He visited Berlin, where, in conjunction with Privy Councillor A. Crelle, he started the famous mathematical journal, known as Crelle's Journal. He subsequently went to Paris, where he submitted to the French Academy a treatise on the elliptic functions, known as the "Treatise of Paris."

Having waited in vain for the Academy's opinion of this work, which German scientists pronounced to be the greatest mathematical discovery of the nineteenth century, he returned to Christiania, where, in 1828, he was temporarily attached to the university, but poverty and hard work had undermined his rather delicate constitution and he died in 1829, at the age of 26.

Abel was one of the most profound scholars of any age or clime and without comparison the greatest scientist Norway ever produced. The leading mathematicians of the age rank him with philosophers like Newton and Pascal, and the work produced by him in the few brief years of his youth made him immortal.

CATHOLICS CONVENE.

American Federation of Catholic Societies in Session in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 5.—The American Federation of Catholic Societies, which was permanently organized at Cincinnati last year, began its second meeting in Chicago today. Aside from the general interest attached to the federation and its objects in gathering is of importance as being the largest and most representative meeting of Catholics ever held in America. Those in attendance represent more than a score of the foremost Catholic societies with an aggregate membership exceeding one million. While the federation is a lay organization and does not concern itself with clerical questions the Catholic clergy, as represented by priests, and prelates of prominence, is taking an active interest in the movement.

Today was occupied with the formalities attendant upon the opening of the convention. The business sessions will be held tomorrow and Thursday with T. B. Mirahan, of Columbus, O., presiding. At 9 o'clock this morning the delegates assembled in Holy Name cathedral, where pontifical high mass was celebrated. Bishop Muldoon was the celebrant, assisted by Bishops Messmer, of Green Bay, and McFaul, of Trenton. To the latter belong the credit of having conceived the federation and of working in the face of innumerable difficulties before it became an assured fact.

Removal Notice.

I have removed my office to the building on Court street, one door east of First National Bank building, where I will continue in same lines of business as heretofore.

J. R. DICKSON.

Granite Gem: A couple of Pendleton "followers of the lamb," who are herding Antone Ringe's sheep on North Fork, came to town yesterday and got their skins so full of "sheepherders' delight" that they could not tell whether they were a-foot or horse-back. When they started out in the evening, Dan McKenzie's mule "ran off" down the hill in town and he was thrown violently to the ground. He was unconscious for several hours, but was able this morning to straddle his mule, and went on his way rejoicing.

Preparing for a Vacation

A man wants his shirts to look their best and have them in perfect order. To be sure of this send them to an up-to-date laundry, where your linen and colored shirts, your collars and cuffs are handled with the care and done up with the beauty of color and finish that the Domestic Laundry is famous for.
