A SCORCHING GAME

FIRST CONTEST BETWEEN INDIANS AND VISITORS WARM.

Walla Walla Won by a Scratch Owing to Poor Work of Umpire—Fans Were Sore Over Unsportsmanlike Playing of Walla Walla.

Standing of the Clubs.

Walla Walla	8	9	.470
Baker City	7	10	.412
La Grande	5	12	.295

There was an angry lot of fans in Pendleton last night, the occasion for this anger being the deep-rooted and freely expressed opinion that the Indians were robbed of their game with Walla Walla Thursday afternoon by the unfair decisions of Umpire Ryan, whose work was certainly far from being right. On balls and strikes he was particularly "off" seeming to have no judgment whatever, while his decisions on bases did not suit either fans or players. This is surprising, considering the excellent work he did here in the series with La Grande.

Another reason for the soreness of the fans was the work of the Walla Walla players in bullying the umpire, talking back to the grandstand, and other actions which were characterized by those who saw the game as "dirty" playing of the worst type.

Unfair Playing.

The visitors started off the unsportsmanlike work in the very first inning, when "Spec" Hurlburt in running from first to second on a forced run, knocked the ball from the hands of Fay and prevented a double play, which looked good to be made. Umpire Ryan refused to take cognizance of this, as well as several other pieces of work of similar nature on the Walla Walla side, but when the visitors made a kick on an alleged interference of Schills with Gatsch, who was running bases in the seventh, Ryan allowed Gatsch to score, giving Walla Walla their winning run. In fact, the umpire gave Walla Walla the best of every close decision to such an extent as to cause many of the fans to declare that he was "bought off."

What the Fans Say.

"Walla Walla came here evidently determined to win their games by fair means or foul," declared one angry fan last evening, "and without waiting to see whether or not they can win fairly, some of the ex-bullies of the Northwest league started in immediately to win by 'ragging' the umpire and bulldozing him out of the game."

"The Walla Walla boys are good ball players, but it is noticeable that the only ones who play like gentle men are those who were with the old team, the men who are not ex-leaguers and have not yet 'swelled' on themselves," said another disgusted witness of the Thursday game. "No one has any kick on any team, or every team, in the league beating the Indians, so long as they play clean ball, but when we see our team lose through such dirty work as won the first game here, we cannot help being thoroughly disgusted. Such exhibitions would drive the crowds away from any game ever played."

It is Too Bad.

These are only samples of a few of the remarks heard on all sides after the game and it really does seem a pity that an aggregation such as that playing for Walla Walla should descend to the tactics resorted to in the first game. These men are ball players, everyone of them, and they can win fast games by good, clean work, without any of the actions which so disgusted the fans both here and at Baker City in their last game there. Thursday's game was as warm and splotchy an exhibition as anyone would want to see, replete with good work, both at the bat and in the field.

and it is a shame to mar the effect of such playing as the Walla Walla boys are capable of by resorting to bullying and unfair tactics.

Many Good Plays.

There were numerous plays in the game which brought forth liberal applause from the grand stand for men in both teams Thursday, and while the locals played an almost errorless game, their opponents were just as snappy in field work as the Indians, and outbatted them, owing to Pitcher Hays pitched a good game, however, and struck out 10 men, notwithstanding the fact that 16 hits were made off him. Gatsch did very good work in the box for Walla Walla and there seemed to be no reason for substituting Titus in the last inning.

Early Fireworks.

The fireworks started early, Hurlburt landing on the first ball sent across the plate for a base hit, and Schills finding the leather for two.
