GENERAL NEWS.

Frost in northwestern Iowa has seriously damaged the corn crop.

The trusts have secured the Delaware shipbuilding plant, located at Wilmington, Del., at a cost of $1,500,000.

Millions of sheep are dying in New South Wales and Queensland on account of the general drouth prevailing throughout that country.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of prominent cattlemen of Oklahoma, charging them with murderous assaults upon homesteaders.

The public library at Denver, Col., has "ostracised" Mark Twain's famous book, "Huckleberry Finn" from the library, claiming that it is immoral literature.

William J. Bartholin, who murdered his mother and another woman in cold blood at Chicago, is closely hunted by the police force and he is expected to be arrested at any time.

Strikers at Shenandoah, Pa., are now beginning to make raids for provisions. They threaten lives of farmers, and the excitement may result in calling out the United States cavalry.

At a conference of the colonial colonists at London, resolutions were passed in a manner favoring free trade among the colonies, although it was conceded that the time is not yet ripe.

The first convention of the International Stereotypers' and Electrotypers' Union, was called to order at Cincinnati yesterday. About 50 delegates from the United States and Canada were present.

Justice Gray, of the United States supreme court, has resigned on account of poor health, and President Roosevelt has named Oliver Wendell Holmes, chief justice of the supreme court of Massachusetts, as his successor.

The noted outlaw, Kenniffs, of New Zealand, have just been run down at a cost to the government of that country of $20,000. They first committed murder, took to the woods, and being pursued by police, killed the police, burned their bodies, placed the ashes in their saddle-bags and left them on the horses of the officers with a note warning others that they would receive like fate should they pursue them. One of the outlaws was finally surrounded and surrendered, and the other attempting to run, fell and then surrendered without a struggle.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS.

The voting contest for the most popular Elk is creating considerable interest among the members of this order and their friends, throughout the state.

The Portland Elks' carnival will open in about two weeks. Plans are already in shape for the great show, and it is promised that everything will be in readiness on time.

A separate internal revenue district has been created, Washington and Alaska forming the new district. They were formerly included in the Oregon district with headquarters at Portland. The formation of the new district will have some effect in the number of clerks appointed at Portland, but this has not been determined yet.

State Senator C. W. Fulton has had a conference with United States Senator Mitchell at the Portland Hotel, in which he asked the greater official whether he would carry out his pledge made to him at the session of the last legislature. As to what Mitchell will do is now under discussion among the politicians. It is claimed that he promised Fulton to support him at the next legislature for the United States senate.

WORK IS PROGRESSING.

On the Piers for the Reception of the New W. & C. R. Steel Bridge.

It will only be a few days until the work will be completed for the reception of the new $50,000 steel bridge being built across the Umatilla River, east of town.

Work was commenced on the piers for the bridge last winter. Contractor Schoor experienced much delay in getting the work done during the spring months on account of high water. However, he persevered and worked as best he could until the two end piers are completed and work is now more than half done on the center pier.

J. C. Lonergan Injured.

J. C. Lonergan, the cattle buyer, is wearing his right hand in a sling as a result of slipping and falling while attempting to board a moving train. Mr. Lonergan represents the Pacific Meat Company, of Tacoma and makes regular trips into all the cattle regions of the interior. Sunday he was at Hilgard, where he had been to look after some cattle. He attempted to board a moving freight train to come to Pendleton, but slipped and fell. Mr. Lonergan is a very heavy man, and his weight strained the tendons of the right arm until it has been quite painful and will keep him from using it for several days. It was luck that the injury was no worse.

Removal Notice.

FOR HAULING GRAIN

FROM INLAND EMPIRE
TO EASTERN TERMINALS.

Reduction Will Be Heralded With Joy by the Farmers—Will Save Them Many Dollars—Reduction Three Cents a Bushel.

Walla Walla, Aug. 13.—S. P. Calderhead, general freight and passenger agent of the Washington & Columbia River railway, has returned from Portland, where he was in consultation with the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and O. R. & N. officials relative to the new rate schedule decided upon between the presidents of the three roads and shippers of the state at the Colfax meeting.

By the new schedule to Eastern terminals the rate on wheat will be 55 cents per hundredweight, instead of 60 cents, as heretofore, or a reduction of 5 cents. This is in straight carload lots. The new rate on barley will be 53½ cents, as against 58½, a reduction of 5 cents per hundredweight.

On Washington & Columbia River railway points the reduction on grain, millstuffs, flour, flaxseed, feed and hay are as follows: Points taking a $3.50 rate, reduced to $3.15 per ton; points taking a $3.60 rate reduced to $3.25. The present rate on potatoes and onions to Sound points is 15½ cents per hundred. The new rate will be 14 cents. From Dayton the rate will be reduced from 16 cents to 14½ cents.

The new grain rate to tidewater from points between Hunt's Junction and the Summit will be $3.15 per ton instead of $3.50. On the Pleasant View branch and between the Summit and Dayton the rate will be $3.25 per ton. On the Turner extension the rate will be $3.65.

Mr. Calderhead announced that the new rates will become effective on August 15 or next Friday. The Interstate Commerce Commission was notified by telegraph today of the new tariff schedule.

NEW COURSE OF STUDY.

Rudyard Kipling Suggests That Shooting Be Taught in Schools.

Rudyard Kipling, mortified at the fact that Englishmen are not so expert in marksmanship as they ought to be, has advanced the use of the rifle in the schools of old England. "Rifle shooting," says Mr. Kipling, "should be taught the same as are the A B C's. Such a course would not produce barbarians. Everything must be subordinated to shooting quickly."

The young idea, according to Mr. Kipling, must be taught to shoot and shoot straight. It must be taught to "get the drop" before the other fellow has time to reach half way to his hip pocket. The Krag-Jorgenson must replace the cricket bat and the Remington take the place of the whoopee in the recreation hours at the schools. Teachers must hereafter make out their weekly reports for children to take home to their parents something in this style:

JOHNNY SNOOKS.
Reading, 8½; writing, 7; spelling, 5; geography, 3; punctuality, 8; deportment, 4; marksmanship, 9½.

Remarks: Johnny must pay more attention to home study. He is a bright boy and last Wednesday succeeded in getting the drop on three of his little classmates and placing them hors de combat, but he is too inclined to trifle with his minor studies. Please see that he does better.

NO POWER PLANT AT MILTON.

Such is the Word Received From That Place by Wire Today.

It is now announced on good authority that there will be no power plant installed on the Walla Walla River at Milton for the Washington & Oregon Electric Railway, Light and Power Company.

It is difficult to get information as to why the company abandoned the idea of building a power plant at this place. The promoters were very highly elated over the site and said they could generate all the power at this one place necessary to run their road and furnish all the lights demanded along the line. The only excuse offered now is that the price asked for the site is too exorbitant.

It will be remembered by the readers of the East Oregonian that Mr. Mellmann, president of the company, and one of the chief promoters of the proposition, announced through this paper and through all other publications in the country that he had secured this power plant site. He did not say he was securing on a site at Milton nor might build a power house at Milton, but announced in positive terms that the place had already been surveyed. He also announced the number of feet of pipe which would be used to transmit the water to the power plant, where it would be located, and said work would begin on this plant at once.

Now it is announced that the Milton power site is abandoned and power will be generated at Dayton and on the Tukanon for running the road.

We are not able to look at things impartially and abstractly, but we judge of everything in the light of its environment—it fuses with its environment and the environment becomes a part of it.—Mahin's Magazine, August.

If advertisers would be more exacting of the company their advertisements keep, and publishers would recognize the source of their dividends to the pocketbooks of their readers, the situation would soon become clearer for all.—Mahin's Magazine, August.
