GENERAL NEWS.

Cholera is raging in Japan. The death list already numbers more than 1000.

New York City is preparing to spend a quarter of a million dollars in alterations to be made on its city hall.

The populists of Texas held a well-attended convention at Fort Worth yesterday. A full ticket was placed in the field.

The new ship combine will run its different lines separately as heretofore, until Morgan and his people get organized and take active control.

Having withdrawn precautionary measures against cholera in the Philippines, it is reported now that the contagion is spreading with alarming rapidity.

Scottish hunters are disappointed this year in their annual hunt in the moors of Scotland. The cold spring and ungenial summer killed off all of the young brood of birds.

Queen Lil's claim to the crown lands of the Hawaiian Islands, has become so serious that the senatorial committee upon its visit to those islands has been instructed to investigate the matter thoroughly and report.

The printers, in their meeting at Cincinnati yesterday, amended the law of the Typographical Union so as to prevent the use of any matter set by union printers either in the way of exchange or "borrowing."

It is reported that T. B. Walker, millionaire lumberman of Minneapolis, has just closed a deal in which he secured 65,000 acres of timber land in California. It is intimated that Railroad Magnate Jim Hill has an indirect interest in the transaction.

E. L. Furlong, a student of the geological department of the University of California, has discovered imbedded in the famous lime rocks of Shasta county, in that state, the entire remains of an arctotherium simum, the gigantic species of the primeval bear, that was of the first of the kind to roam the two American continents, but which has long been extinct.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS.

The Oregon Press Association will meet at Newport tonight. A number of addresses on current newspaper topics is on the program for the present session.

Mrs. Dunniway delivered the annual address before the G. A. R. encampment at Pleasant Home, Or., yesterday, choosing for her subject the Declaration of Independence.

Congressman-elect J. N. Williamson is urging harmony in the election of a United States senator from this state. Mr. Fulton has also stated that his chances of election are good.

Northwestern hopgrowers are preparing to form a pool by which means they expect to raise the prices of hops at once. It is claimed that such a pool was very valuable to growers last year.

Frank Foster, a railroad man, was run over and killed by a train of cars near Goble yesterday. Both legs were entirely severed from his body. His brother, R. W. Foster, is a ticket agent for the Burlington line.

The body of T. W. Rathbun, a prospector who was lost in the fastnesses of Mt. Adams, was found a few days ago. From the evidences about the place where the body was found it is believed that he lost his life in a fierce combat with a large mountain bear.

The Indian Institute, consisting of Pacific Coast educators, will be held at Newport next week. Prominent educators will be in attendance from throughout the West, and an interesting program is promised along the lines of the best method for educating the nation's wards.

THE GREAT CIRCUS.

Excursion to Walla Walla to Witness Ringling Bros.' World's Greatest Show.

Ringling Bros.' great circus, the best show of the kind that has yet visited the Pacific Coast, requiring this season four full trains for its transportation, will exhibit in Walla Walla Friday afternoon and evening, August 15. To give the people of Pendleton and vicinity an opportunity to witness this wonderful exhibition, the O. R. & N. Co. has made a rate of $1.90 from Pendleton to Walla Walla and return. Tickets to be sold for the morning train of August 15, good returning August 18.

All Were Saved.

"For years I suffered such untold misery from bronchitis," writes J. H. Johnston, of Broughton, Ga., "that often I was unable to work. Then, when everything else failed, I was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. My wife suffered intensely from asthma, till it cured her, and all our experience goes to show it is the best croup medicine in the world. A trial will convince you it's unrivaled for throat and lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Tallman & Co.'s."

Sunday Excursion to Walla Walla.

The Pendleton baseball team plays two games at Walla Walla on Sunday, August 17th, and in order to give the Pendleton people an opportunity to see both games, the O. R. & N. Co. will run an excursion to Walla Walla and return. Train leaves Pendleton 8:15 a. m., arriving at Walla Walla 10 a. m. Returning, leaves Walla Walla at 7 p. m. Fare for round trip one dollar.

Shatters All Records.

Twice in hospital, F. A. Gullidge, Verbena, Ala., paid a vast sum to doctors to cure a severe case of piles, causing 24 tumors. When all failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve soon cured him. Subdues inflammation, conquers aches, kills pains. Best salve in the world, 25c at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

Removal Notice.

I have removed my office to the building on Court street, one door east of First National Bank building, where I will continue in same lines of business as heretofore.

THE GREAT WEST

PROMINENT CITIZEN WRITES ABOUT OPPORTUNITIES HERE.

Some Peculiar Ideas in the East About This Country—Funny Letters—The Good and the Bad Side.

To the Editor:—Letter after letter is received from men east of the Rocky Mountains, asking about our Western country. Some of the letters are very funny, even ridiculous. The writers do not mean to make them ludicrous, but for that reason they seem all the more so. One man from Missouri wrote recently asking: "What are the chances for a lawyer?" Another letter ran this way: "Can a man of average intelligence get anything to do in the West?" Now could any quest for information be more ambiguous than these two? One man wrote to a friend in Pendleton asking what kind of people inhabited the West.

Ever since this wilderness was first peopled, Easterners have nourished a feeling of mingled awe and dread toward us. Why this prejudice toward our West and its people is so deep-rooted still remains an unexplainable mystery. A vast amount of literature in circular advertising form has been scattered broadcast over the East, calmly telling the incredulous Easterner that the wild Indians have long since ceased to roam the woods, and that cowboy riding is not still the chief industry of Oregon. If the average Easterner could only be made to understand that we are not constantly in imminent peril of losing our lives at the hands of law-breakers, things would rest easier with us, but there are still some of average intelligence who think that no one dares venture out into the streets of our cities after night without carrying a revolver with us. Now this is a very erroneous impression. We are a law-abiding people. We are a courteous people. We feel it our duty to protect the immigrants as far as in us lies the power. We have invited them to come and settle among us and we feel that it is our duty to aid them in every way possible.

There is not a question more complex than this one of immigration. Advertising literature is disseminated so widely and in so many different ways that when a wrong impression is created on the mind of the reader it is very difficult to find wherein the responsibility lies. Many intelligent people, with a good knowledge of human nature do not seem to know how to read an immigration circular. It is not the custom of the people in this grasping world of ours to advertise their failings, but their good qualities. So it is in the advertising of any section of country. Its defects are lightly passed over and much stress laid upon the favorable features. But readers should be fully aware of this. It is not actual misstatement of facts, but the inability to comprehend the reading matter published that leads so many astray. But the immigrant starting out with a proper idea of what he has read, need not look for disappointment when he reaches this land of modern Canaan. For truly it is deserving the name. The resources within its boundaries are vast. A tourist making a rapid trip through the country looking out of the car window may not realize the extent of its riches. Some parts of the country at first sight, like the rough diamond, do not create an impression of its value. But on minute examination, beneath the crust can be found the richest material for production that can be found anywhere. We do not have the least desire to subdue the ardent enthusiasm and feverish anxiety of the Easterner to come to this land of the setting sun. But to the man who drifts here in an uncertain way, looking for a job. He may find work. He may find disappointment. But to the man who comes here with a purpose, the determination not to fail, but to stick to it a few years, success is certain. A good many vocations here are overdone. A good many more pursuits are underdone, and there is always a place for the wide-awake man who has the gift of application and a desire to excel without the nearly always attendant desire to get immensely rich.

When competition is so strong as it is here, there can be found no other field where people are so willing to pay good values for ability.
