PREACHER HURT.

Rev. Bell, of Baker City, Fell From Bridge at Meacham.

Lee Bell has received advices from Portland conveying the sad news of an accident which befel his father, Rev. J. R. N. Bell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, while the latter was at Meacham. It appears Rev. Mr. Bell had partially crossed a foot-bridge and had stopped when near the opposite side. He leaned against a railing, which proved weak, and broke with his weight.
He was precipitated to the ground, a distance of about six feet, but his right leg was caught between the railing and the bridge, tearing the flesh in a painful manner below the knee. A gash several inches in length and an inch and a half in width, extending to the bone, was sustained. The limb was also bruised considerably. He was taken to the family home at Portland and is attended by Dr. Locke. Rev. Mr. Bell will probably not occupy his pulpit for several weeks, though the information conveyed the impression he was recovering rapidly and would be able to leave his bed shortly.—Baker City Herald.

JOURNAL LOVING CUP.

It Now Looks as if it Would Come to Pendleton.

It now looks as if the Oregon Daily Journal's loving cup will come to Pendleton.

Several weeks ago the Journal announced that it would give a $125 loving cup to the most popular Elk in the state of Oregon or Washington. The proposition took well from the start in Portland, and the B. P. O. E.'s of that city began to hustle for their friends. To date the Journal announces that George H. Streeter, of Portland, is ahead in the contest.

Frank Frazier, of this city, was given second place with only a few votes difference. When the announcement was made that Streeter was in the lead, the Journal had not received the last votes from this city. To date, counting the votes for Mr. Frazier, cast here, gives him just 7200 votes, against 3721, giving Mr. Frazier just 3479 votes in the lead of any other man in the race for the cup.

Mr. Frazier is very popular in Eastern Oregon, and if he does not win the cup he will make a good race. He was chosen from among the 80 members of the local lodge.

Tomorrow's Excursion to Walla Walla.

The ball games at Walla Walla tomorrow between the "Sharpshooters" and the Pendleton "Indians" will surpass in point of interest any previous contest. Pendleton is still ahead, but with a lead so slight that to lose a game or two would be bad just at this time. Pendleton should turn out liberally tomorrow and help win the game. Train leaves the O. R. & N. depot at 8:15 a. m., returning, leaves Walla Walla at 7:30 p. m. Round trip $1.

A Kick.

Several citizens have made complaint to the East Oregonian recently that the city garbage wagons are dumping refuse along the side of the road west of town just outside the city limits. They say that recently several loads consisting of tin cans, bottles and other stuff, have been hauled and thrown close to the road where it is almost impossible to get a nervous horse by.

Decolorized cigars have been rejected as insipid. By the process of Gerold, of Halle, the nicotine and other poisons are made non-volatile by a solution of tannic acid, and a decoction of wild marjoram restores the perfume. Physiological tests of this treated tobacco, which retains its nicotine with scarcely changed flavor, has given M. Bardet no symptom of poisoning.

A Summer Story.

Swaying hammock, shady nook;
Pretty maiden, story book.
Here making plea to win
Hand of lovely heroine.
Maiden reading eagerly,
Caterpillar up the tree.
Cruel villain on the scene;
Pretty maiden sighs: "How mean!"
Caterpillar loses grip,
Takes a sudden downward trip.
Maiden's collar, cool and wide,
Caterpillar falls inside.
Shrieks of "murder" fill the air;
Maiden dancing wildly there.
Heroine—oh, fate is rude—
By the villain still pursued.
Book all crumpled 'neath the tree;
Romance busted up, ah, me!
