CHINESE REFORMER

SAYS SOME GOOD THINGS ABOUT THIS COUNTRY.

He Has Great Hope for China—Thinks That She Will One Day Spring Forward and Surprise the World.

Choy Kan, the Chinese reformer, is in town again, the guest of the local Chinamen and is being entertained royally and banqueted.

Choy Kan is a logical speaker. He was here and gave two lectures the first of the week to his countrymen, in which he counseled them to join together and work for every move toward the uplifting of their countrymen.

He speaks fair English and is well educated. To an East Oregonian representative Choy gave the following interview:

Feel Good Towards Americans.

"My people feel kind toward you Americans. Had it not been for American intervention China would now be entirely in the hands of foreigners. Yes, the American and Englishmen are friends of the Chinamen.

China at a Standstill.

"The land of the dragon is now ruled entirely by the monarch. The American has progressed by his alertness and education. The question arises, is he more alert and is he more capable of learning than his Chinese cousin? I do not think so. China has almost been at a standstill for the past 300 years. Look at America! What makes the difference? The Chinaman has the natural ability, just the same as the Yankee, and with the same chance would have advanced, and the nation would have been just as learned and as high in the estimation of the world as America. It is not our fault, but the fault of those we have to bow to, and it is this idea that is getting a hold on my countrymen today and which will bring it to the front in the future at an astonishing gait.

Should Work for Each Other.

"Look at the growth of the United States within the last century and then take a glance at the snail-like pace of the Chinese nation and tell me the cause. Free schools have had a great deal to do with this condition of affairs in America. A broad-minded government has done the rest. The American people have a right to demand their rights and we have not. This is the whole secret.

"Our land can be made the same if we but have a chance and try. What I am trying to get my countrymen to see is the fact that we must not work for ourselves alone, but for each other, if we are ever to be any better off than we are today.

Cause of Stagnation.

"For instance, in China, you and I each have a son. I am poor, you are wealthy. Lack of riches makes it impossible for me to give my boy an education. Your child has the opportunity to learn. Your child may be a sluggard, mine intellectual. This makes no difference. Because of my property my child cannot progress because I cannot afford to send him to school. Your son has all the chance in the world, but it does him no good. That is one of the things that is keeping back our fatherland. The man with the brains and intellect to learn does not have the chance nine times out of 10, while the other one has but will not learn or advance.

A Change Coming.

"There is coming a vast change. That day is not far distant. We will have a form of government fashioned after the American way. Then, and not until then, will sleeping China awaken from her long dream, and when this is done, it as a nation, will spring forward with an alertness that will surprise the world.

They Are Deaf.

"In plain everyday English, one who does not progress and tries to throw obstacles in the way of the man who would but cannot is called a 'mossback.' In Chinese he is 'deaf and dumb.' A local Chinaman once said:

"We have lots of 'deaf and dumb' men. They cannot understand, and furthermore they do not care to. This is the drawback. You tell them of recent inventions, smokeless powder, long-distance firearms, telephone and telegraph, things they can see with their own eyes, and they will meet you with a blank stare of 'I don't believe it.'"

What China Produces.

"I recently had an argument with one of these fellows. I said: 'Do you know that the clothes you wear were made in the United States? What does China produce? Tea, rice and silk. That is all. Notice the sleeves on your jacket. Now take a look at the sleeves of the coat you wore from China. The sleeves of the one you are wearing now are one-half as small as those you wore over here, and the ones worn on that great bungle, long-tailed shirt you then had. Had you remained in China you would have been content to have lived on in your ignorance, wearing the same ill-shaped, ill-fitting, troublesome clothing that your great, great grandfathers wore. The braid in your queue is of American manufacture. Of course, they learned how to make it from the Chinaman. With the Americans nothing is impossible.

Choy's Business.

"My business? Oh, my business in this country is to try and get my people in America to see where they are, and realize where their fellow countrymen are, and make an organized effort to arouse them to their true state of affairs and see if in time to come we cannot show you Americans that we are a progressive people."

GRANDE RONDE VALLEY.

Some of Its Resources and a Bit of History.

E. S. McComas, of Union county, in an interview with an Oregon Daily Journal correspondent, has the following to say about Grande Ronde valley and the early history of that country:

"I passed through Union in 1862, and have been here or in the vicinity most of the time since," he said. "The town was started in that year—1862. Fred Nodine, Uncle George Wright and M. S. Israel were among the first settlers. It was during the Civil War and it was that which gave the town its name—Union.

Resources.

"Yes, this is not only a beautiful valley, but it is a very rich little valley," said Mr. McComas. "It is about 26 miles long and 16 across in the central portion, narrowing toward each end. We raise wheat, oats, barley, sugar beets, hay, fruit and livestock. The Grande Ronde Lumber Company have a capacity of 100,000 feet daily. They saw yellow pine. Timber here is of good quality, but the Blue Mountain timber will not yield as much per section as the coast timber in Tillamook or Lincoln counties. It does not run in the Blue Mountains over a million and a quarter to a million and a half feet to the quarter section. We have some good mines not far from here. At North Powder they are arranging to put in a stamp mill. The ore runs from $16 to $20 to the ton in gold. At Eagle Creek, in the Sanger district, they have a 10-stamp mill.

Old Times.

"Well, Ben Brown, the assessor, is one of the old-timers, and Connelly and Carroll, and Durham Wright and Jim Hutchison and H. J. Geer and many others living in the valley. In 1862 I hauled freight from The Dalles to Auburn, 12 miles above Baker City. Auburn was the first mining town in Eastern Oregon and had a population of about 5000 in 1862. It is a 'has been' now, only a few old timers living there and some Chinamen who are working the tailings of the old placer mines.

"In the early days—the sixties—everything came in by bull team or pack trains. A good many of our well-to-do men got their start at bull whacking.

A Profitable Business.

"I was associated in business in early days with R. W. Deale, who used to run a freight outfit in 1863 '64 and '65. I have seen him bring in $40,000 in gold dust as payment for a single freight shipment. He charged from 8 to 10 cents per pound and ran 18 teams, consisting of 10 or 12 yoke of oxen to each outfit, a large wagon and trailer. The shipment I spoke of was from Umatilla landing to Silver City. George W. Hunt, who afterwards built a railroad from Pendleton to Wallula Junction, was the freight king of those days. He ran more outfits from Umatilla landing to the upper country than any one else in the business. Steamboats brought the freight from Portland to the Cascades, then it went over the portage road to Upper Cascades, then it was again put on the steamboats to Umatilla landing, or if for Northern Idaho, by steamboat to Lewiston on Snake River.

"Florence and the Salmon River country ran pack trains from Lewiston to the mines, as it was too rough for 'bullwhacking' outfits. Placerville, Boise City, Hannon and Silver City were good camps in those early days. Through the sixties, Eaton used to run a freight outfit. Mining or freighting were the two principal industries then."

To See Underground Railroad.

A delegation of British engineers recently sailed for America to make a thorough examination of the wonderful underground railroad that is being built under New York. It is said to be the greatest engineering feat in the world. The best all-round family medicine in the world is the famous Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. At no time during the past 50 years has any other remedy been able to take its place as a cure for headache, belching, flatulency, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation or biliousness. It therefore commends itself to all sufferers who want to get well again. One bottle will convince you of its value. Be sure to try it. The genuine, with our Private Stamp over the neck, is for sale at all druggists.
