announcing that Charles Lovely, recently sent from Pendleton, has been discharged as cured.

Some of the Indian farmers of the reservation have taken counsel of the pale face and are harvesting very nice crops of wheat on their farms.
Some of the yields are extremely good.

Mrs. Alice Smith has leased the Keys property, at 719 College street, where she will conduct a lodging furnished rooms for light housekeeping and also lodging rooms. A classified advertisement in the East Oregonian gives particulars.

CAPTURED TOUCHET ROBBERS

(Concluded.)

He has been run out of Walla Walla several times by the police who give him a "Mulligan stew" every time he shows up near there.

He is credited with breaking jail in Eastern Oregon towns a number of times. About five years ago he was arrested for stealing cattle in the Camas prairie country and placed in the Heppner jail to await trial. He was in there about a week when he managed to pick the outside lock and escaped. He was captured a week later near a sheep camp and returned to the jail. He managed in some manner to again make his escape. He had not gone far when he was overhauled by the authorities and again placed in jail. This time it was two weeks before he again had an opportunity to make his escape.
He waited until after dark to get away and this came very near being the death of him. After he left the jail he was running across country when he dropped into an old abandoned well on a sheep ranch which was seldom visited. The well was about 30 feet deep, and as Coffey was somewhat bruised by the fall he was unable to get out of his prison.

Rescued From Well.

He remained in the well for three days and nearly died from thirst and hunger. He had about given up hope when a shepherd out looking for "strays," happened to hear him cry out. The shepherd thought that there were ghosts near and made off.
He got up enough courage some time later to investigate the noises and found Coffey. The herder happened to have a lariot on his saddle and he fished Coffey out of his predicament.
He was captured a few days afterward by the authorities and to prevent his escape a fourth time, he was given a trial and sent to the penitentiary, from which he was released not long since.

McDonald's Pal Caught.

Late this afternoon a telephone message was received stating that McDonald's partner in the Touchet hold-up had just been captured near Athena. The information was very meagre and particulars were not available up to the time the East Oregonian went to press.

Studying Indian Language.

Dr. Livingston Farrand, of the Columbia University, New York, is in town. Mr. Farrand, while he is from the university, represents the American Missionary National Historical Society, and is in the West studying the language of the Western Indians.
He is spending the present summer on the Nez Perce reservation studying the Nez Perce Indians and is only here for a few days. He is greatly interested in the original Cayuse Indian language, now almost extinct, and says he will return to Pendleton next year and make a thorough scientific study of the Cayuse language.
Dr. Farrand says the Western Indian is known little about scientifically, and to enlighten science as to them he is spending his time in the West.

Five-Legged Animal.

William Endersby, who lives at Cheyenneville, in Clackamas county, has a five-legged mare, which he raised from a colt. It is a freak of nature which attracts much attention. The fifth leg and hoof is attached to the right front fore foot. About midway between the knee and ankle there is a limb, and from here the leg starts out from the main leg. The false leg is only about six inches in length and terminates in a well formed hoof about three inches across. The hoof is on the inside of the leg.—Oregonian.

No. 5 Late.

O. R. & N. No. 5 passenger train, due here at 11:40 tonight, will not reach Pendleton until about 6 o'clock in the morning. In view of this fact a special train will be made up here and run to Umatilla to connect with the regular overland train to Spokane.

Now is the Time to Go.

The seaside is now at its best. The weather is just right. Surf bathing delightful and fishing and clamming better than at any other time. The O.
R. & N. Co. is still selling round trip tickets, good until September 30, at $10.

MISS MURPHY DEAD.

Passed Away in This City This Morning at the Home of an Aunt.

Miss Gertrude Murphy, a resident of Walla Walla, died in this city at an early hour this morning, from the effects of consumption. Miss Murphy has been ill for several months. A month ago she came to Pendleton and has been staying with her aunt, Mrs.
Murphy. She was 22 years of age and her mother has been dead since she was a small child. Her father, who lives at Washburn, has been notified and no disposition will be made of the body until he is heard from.
Consequently, it is not known whether she will be buried here or taken to Walla Walla for burial, but it is likely that she will be taken to the latter place.

Found Dead in Field.

Lewis Neal, an old-time citizen of the Fruita neighborhood, was found dead in his field about 1 o'clock p. m. on August 8, where he had been irrigating alfalfa. He had been the victim of sinking or fainting spells, closely allied to apoplexy, for several years. He was buried the same afternoon.—Walla Walla Chieftain.
