HOME COUNTY NEWS

ABOUT ATHENA.

News of That Lively Town as Recorded by the Press.

Miss Velma Wilkinson has returned from Bingham Springs.

Miss Myrtle Hill, of Helix, was the guest this week of Miss Alcy Foss.

The 160-acre field on the Barrett place near town, averaged 40 bushels per acre.

A. B. McEwen's wheat crop will average between 30 and 35 bushels per acre.

Miss Bessie Lockwood, of Helix, is visiting relatives in Athena. She has been rusticated at Bingham Springs.

George Goss and family will leave for Bingham Springs Monday on an outing trip of 10 days' duration.

Tom Kirk expects a 40-bushel per acre yield from a reservation field which Charlie Brown is threshing for him. He will just about get it, for Tom is a close guesser on a crop yield.

Joe Rainville moved his power and separator to Wildhorse Mountain, yesterday. He calls it his old "coffee mill" and will use it to thresh bundle grain on the mountain ranches.

Frank Simpson, Fay LeGrow, Ira Kemp, Hugh Robie, Earl Saunders, H. H. Hill, Henry Dell and other Athena boys constituted a posse from Athena who spent Monday night in assisting Sheriffs Taylor and Keys.

E. M. Purlington, well known in Athena, has returned to Umatilla county. He will manage the A. B. McEwen farm north of town. His two daughters arrived in the city Tuesday. Miss Maude Purlington will shortly return to Washington, D. C., where she holds a prominent position in the treasury department.

Grandpa and Grandma King and Mrs. W. J. King have returned from Bingham Springs. Mr. King was afflicted with a badly swollen hand as the result of running a fish hook into the flesh. For a while blood poison was feared, but medical attendance soon had the effect of reducing the swelling and inflammation.

In the Harvest Fields.

The Weston Leader gives the following items regarding the progress of harvesting in that vicinity:

A. L. Douglas cropped 14 bushels per acre from 70 acres of spring grain east of town.

J. P. Leuallen's 100 acres of fall wheat near town averaged 26 bushels with a loss of about five bushels per acre.

Eighty acres of wheat at T. J. Price's place, a mile north of town, yielded 1120 bushels. His barley, 20 acres, averaged 42½ bushels.

Bass Brothers' threshing machine exploded while at work on Eureka flat Tuesday. The cause of the explosion is not known, but it is thought that smut was to blame.

A wrench that had been lost in a field in pioneer days, went through Sam Purdy's big separator, ripping teeth from the cylinder and breaking tile concaves, says the Athena Press.

J. M. O'Hara's outfit is now at work in the best wheat it has threshed this season, at Barney Keenan's place, near town. His average will be about 34 bushels per acre, despite considerable loss from the wind.

George W. Staggs obtained a 35-bushel average from his wheat field near Downing Station, and the remainder of his crop averaged 30 bushels. He had 200 acres in wheat and believes it would easily have yielded 40 bushels per acre had it been possible to save it all. His barley, 20 acres, averaged 30 bushels.

J. N. York is reasonably cheerful over the results of his harvest. Jess suffered a loss of over 10 bushels to the acre from the wind, and thought for a time that half his crop had been scattered on the ground. However, he obtained 3895 sacks of wheat and 305 of barley from 310 acres, or about 31 bushels per acre, and has assumed a more optimistic view of the vicissitudes of farming.

NOTES FROM INTERIOR.

What is Going On South of Pendleton.

Crook County Journal: W. D. Barnett was in from Haystack Tuesday, and informed the Journal man that threshing would begin in his neighborhood this week. The grain is not as heavy as usual in that section of the county.

The rain last week was a much needed visitant and came at an opportune time, for there had been very little grain cut so far in the district covered by it, and the hay crop was so nearly up that only a small amount was damaged to amount to anything.

Ed Parker was down from the ranch on Crooked River Monday to get some repairs for his mowing machine. He reports having just begun cutting the second crop of alfalfa, which was slightly demoralized by the recent rain, but not enough to damage the crop.

Dick Breese was down from his farm at the head of Gravy Gulch on Poverty flat last week, and reports that he has his hay and grain all in. One would naturally infer from the name of the locality where he lives that it was not a very desirable place; but Dick has some of the finest hogs and cattle in the country, not to say anything of his fine farm.

The tract of land known as Agency Plains, to which land there was a rush of settlers last winter and this spring, is now completely covered with little cabins of the homesteaders and fencing and improving are going on at a great rate. This land is pronounced excellent wheat soil and will produce as much as the land in Sherman county.

Rev. B. F. Harper returned last week from an extended trip in the Sisters country. He reports crops as being good in that section, and at Cline Falls he saw as fine wheat as ever grew in the Walla Walla valley, thus showing that the desert, under irrigation, will be a wheat producer second to nothing in the Northwest. While at Sisters he established a Sunday school that bids fair to be permanent and prosperous.

Grant County News: The fire boys are putting up a new house for their old apparatus.

People coming in from the hills report that huckleberries are getting ripe and that there will be an abundance of them.

The storm of last week retarded haying throughout the country for several days, but did no particular damage.

R. C. Boggs, who lives three miles east of Monument, last week killed one of the largest rattlesnakes on his ranch ever killed in the county. The reptile measured four feet one and one-half inches long and was nine inches in circumference. There are 13 rattles and a button.

The wheat crop is not turning out near as well as was expected. The grain looked well, with plenty of straw, but the average yield in this section is only about 12 bushels per acre. It is a good thing that the farmers of the valley have gone into diversified farming and are not now depending altogether upon wheat.—Lebanon Express-Advocate.

MAY NOT CELEBRATE.

Looks as Though Labor Day Would Not Be Observed in Pendleton.

The Central Labor Union, composed of delegates from all the unions of the city, has not yet decided what shall be done regarding the celebration of Labor day this year. The matter was taken up at a meeting of the Central Union two or three weeks ago and discussed at some length, the proposition most favored being the holding of a picnic and having a grand street parade in the morning.

It was decided to refer the proposition to the various unions for an expression of opinion and the representatives of the different organizations were instructed to present the matter to their unions, but as yet no reports have been received by the central body as to what action has been taken.

Until the reports from the separate unions come in no further action will be taken by the Central Union, and it looks at present as though the day would be allowed to pass without public observation in Pendleton. There was no meeting of the Central Union last evening, owing to the failure of a quorum of members to put in an appearance and it is doubtful if arrangements can be made in time for a celebration.

BIG COMPANY.

Incorporated at Union, Known as the Union Log Driving Company.

A company was formed in Union this week that may become an important factor in the development of this section of the county and of this city.

The company is incorporated under the name of the Union Log Driving Company, with a capital stock of $20,000, with its principal office in this city. The incorporators are C. W. Merrill, L. J. Davis and M. R. Woodard.—Union Republican.

To Receive Roosevelt.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 22.—Elaborate plans have been perfected for the reception and entertainment of President Roosevelt, who is scheduled to arrive in Hartford late this afternoon. While here the president will be the personal guest of Hon. John T. Robinson, executive secretary of Governor McLean. He will spend the night at Mr. Robinson's home on Aylum avenue and proceed to Providence and Boston tomorrow morning by way of Willimantic. There will be no public reception in Hartford tonight as originally planned, but it is expected that the president will deliver a public address in the Coliseum, the largest hall in the city.

About 200 old-timers took part in the old folks' excursion from Baker City to Sumpter on Thursday.
