TO SCATTER STRAW

credit in the work being remembered with tokens of considerable value, offered by merchants. The gathering will be held in an ideal spot, where there will be plenty of room, shade and water.

The barbecue planned for "Straw Day" will be the second held in this city, in a history reaching back over half a century. In 1858 a barbecue was held after the fall election, when a prominent citizen by the name of Kennedy was elected to the legislature. A pit was dug in the center of Main street, in front of the lot where now stands the Stencil brick block, and here was slaughtered and cooked a splendid bullock, while hundreds of people gathered and made merry over the victory of a fellow townsman. Everybody in the whole country was on hand, otherwise the crowd would have been very limited. Walla Walla then was a mere hamlet. At the feast to be given Monday thousands are expected to be present and it will require at least six oxen to supply them with morsels of meat roasted upon strap iron.

A number of college men are leading the movement for good roads, and in working up the festival they have felt the need of a noise similar to that too frequently recalled when college days are brought back again. Thus it has been necessary to establish a straw yell, and a dogerell like this has been invented and copyrighted by the committee in charge:

"Rah, Rah, Rah!
Beef, Pork, Lamb;
Straw, Straw, Straw,
All you can."

PACK HORSES DROWNED.

Four Horses Tied Together, Fall From Trail Into Lake and Are Lost.

Russell Stickney, who has been tending sheep camp for George Borer, met with a serious experience last Saturday morning, as he was coming through the high mountains southwest of Enterprise near the heads of the streams that flow both north and south. He had four horses tailed to each other and was leading them over the steep trails. As he was passing a short distance above a lake in that region the horses became tangled up and rolled off the trail into the lake. Stickney went in to try to rescue them and came near losing his life. Being tied together, the horses were unable to save themselves and Stickney came out of the mountains very much discouraged with the idea of packing and it is reported swore off ever attempting such a job again.—Wallowa Chief-tain.

PROSPEROUS SEASON.

Neagle Bros. Are Making Some Big Sales in Many Lines.

Neagle Bros. are enjoying a very prosperous season and their place of business, corner Water and Cottonwood streets, presents an active scene. The proprietors report business in all departments very brisk. In their repair department there has been quite a rush mending boilers, engines, threshers and farm machinery of all kinds.

In speaking to an East Oregonian representative this morning, a member of the firm said that his firm had never sold as many wagons as it has this year. It handles the Winona wagons, buggies and hacks and is expecting a car shipment in a few days. The gentleman also stated that the firm had disposed of more Russell engines than heretofore. At present Neagle Bros. are making a large supply of rigs for sheepmen.

A SADDLE FOUND.

Had Been Stolen and Hid in the O. R. and N. Waiting Room.

A saddle is now in the hands of the police awaiting an owner. A few days ago Policeman Fee found the saddle, where it had been placed, under the seat in the O. R. & N. depot waiting room and took it into his ticket office expecting the owner would call and get it. It remained in the ticket office several days and no one called for the saddle. It was then taken away and will be returned to the owner when he appears and makes claim.

The saddle is apparently an Indian's rig. It was in a wheat sack with the name "Rigby" and "G. Miller" thereon and cost about $25 or $30 when new. It is not very badly used.

Hoffman-McAfee.

Friday afternoon Frank S. Hoffman and Miss Jessie B. McAfee were united in marriage by Rev. John Uren. Both of these young people are well known here, where they have made their homes for years. The groom is the popular transfer clerk for the O. R. & N. Company in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman left last night for the coast, where they will spend a month before returning to Pendleton to make their future home.

The Fraternal Congress has raised half the funds for a building at the World's Fair.

AMONG LITIGANTS.

Indiana Lead the Whites in Filing Suits Today.

At the court house today two suits were filed by Indians. The first was by Letikamis against Pa-la-mat-hi-hi for divorce. In addition to the divorce the plaintiff asks the court to restrain her husband from selling their land and property on the Umatilla reservation and to give her one-half of the proceeds from the farm and grant her $20 a month alimony.

Pond vs McElroy et. al.

Annie Pond, otherwise known by her Indian name as Wa-lits-pum, has brought suit against B. F. McElroy, Annie McKie, Ta-ta-ha-ma, otherwise known as Goodman, to recover the right to an allotted piece of land formerly owned by Un-yot, or Annie Sully, deceased. Plaintiff is a niece of deceased and claims to be the only heir-at-law to her estate. Therefore she prays for a decree of the district court giving her the title to the property of the deceased.

Reimann vs. Reimann.

Pattie White Reimann vs. L. A. Reimann is the title of a suit filed to recover $1500 alleged to be due plaintiff from defendant. Plaintiff alleges that she owned property in Everett, which was sold at her request and the money turned over to defendant with the request that he buy other property with it. Instead of doing this, it is alleged that he used the money to his own benefit. Since the suit was filed the bakery belonging to L. A. Reimann has been transferred from Carrie Reimann, through A. L. Reimann, to Jennie Pittis Helm for $1400.

September 3 is the Date.

Through an error the East Oregonian yesterday stated that the O. R. & N. special excursion rate of $7.45 to Portland and return would be effective September 2. The date of this excursion is September 3, and tickets will be sold at this low rate on that date only—Wednesday, September 3.

No One Cent Letter Postage.

The bill providing for the adoption of one cent postage, instead of two, on all first-class matter will not become a law, because the loss of revenue to the government would be too great. It is good policy to guard against losses of any kind, but especially against the loss of your health. For this purpose, Hostetters' Stomach Bitters should be taken, because it will strengthen the stomach, perfect the digestion and keep the bowels open, thus protecting you from all sickness. If, however, you have lost your health and suffer from headache, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation or biliousness, you need the Bitters at once, because it is a specific remedy for these ailments, and will cure you. Try a bottle and see for yourself.

FRANK P. FOWLER WANTED.

Charged With Embezzling Funds of Trades' Union—Reward Offered.

Frank P. Fowler is wanted in Pendleton for embezzlement. He is charged with taking $35,000 of the Paper Hangers' and Painters' Union. He left Pendleton August 9, ostensibly for Athens, where he was going to do some work. He borrowed Fred Langever's paper hanging and painting tools and took them along with him. This was the last time Fowler tools or money were seen here. He did not go to Athens, or if he did he kept going and has not since been heard from. The tools were valued at about $40.

A warrant has been sworn out for Fowler's arrest and Sheriff Taylor has sent out the following card announcing a reward and giving a description of Fowler:

$15 Reward.

"I hold a warrant for Frank P. Fowler for embezzlement. Age about 30; height, 6 feet; weight, 165; smooth shaven, light complexion, light brown hair, stutters, light suit of clothes, patent leather shoes, painter and paper hanger by trade. Belongs to Trades Council and Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers of America, at Pendleton, Oregon. If found, arrest and wire me at my expense."
T. D. TAYLOR, Sheriff Umatilla County, Oregon."

Hoffard-Anderson.

A marriage license was granted this afternoon by County Clerk W. D. Chamberlain to R. G. Hoffard and Miss Carrie F. Anderson. They will be married this evening by Rev. Robert Diven. Mr. Hoffard is a traveling man, representing the Toledo Fence Company, and his home is in California, while the bride-to-be is recently from Malheur City.

It is announced from California that ex-Governor Judd will be the democratic candidate against Pardee.

Sir Thomas Lipton will send another challenge for America's cup.
